HOOVER HURRIES TO SAY HE WILL SIGN THE TARIFF

Anxious to End All Business Doubt.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special]—President Hoover announced today his intention to sign the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

Without waiting for the measure as approved yesterday by the house and on Friday by the senate to reach him, the President issued a lengthy statement making known his position.

"It is urgent that the uncertainties in the business world which have been added to by the long extended debate of the measure should be ended," said President Hoover in concluding his statement. "They can be ended only by completion of this bill. Meritorious demands for further protection to agriculture and labor which have developed since the tariff of 1922 should not end if this bill fails of enactment. Agitation for legislative tariff revision would necessarily continue before the country. Nothing would contribute to retard business recovery more than this continued agitation.

Thinks Enactment Urgent.

"I do not assume the rate structure in this or any other tariff bill is perfect, but I am convinced that the disposal of the whole question is urgent. I believe that the flexible provision can within reasonable time remedy inequalities; that this provision is a progressive advance and gives great hope of taking the tariff away from politics, lobbying and log rolling; that the bill gives protection to agriculture and the market of its products and to several industries in need of such protection for the wage of their labor, and with returning normal conditions our foreign trade will continue to expand."

That the new tariff law will be a leading issue of the congressional elections this fall is recognized. Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, in a statement asserted that it will be "the issue" and that "the people will render their verdict next November and the Democratic party feels no concern over the result."

"Result of Party Pledge."

"I shall approve the tariff bill," the president said. "This legislation has now been under almost continuous consideration by congress for nearly fifteen months. It was undertaken as the result of pledges given by the Republican party at Kansas City."

The President then quoted the declaration in the Republican platform pledging a revision of tariff duties to provide greater protection for labor and industry.

"Platform promises must not be empty gestures," continued the President. "In my message of April 16, 1929, to the special session of congress I accordingly recommended an increase in agricultural protection; a limited revision of other schedules to take care of the economic changes necessitating increases or decreases since the enactment of the 1922 law, and I further recommended a reorganization both of the tariff commission and of the method of executing the flexible provisions."

Compares Other Tariffs

President Hoover cited calculations by the tariff commission showing that the average duties collected under the 1913 law were about 13.8 per cent of the value of all imports, both free and dutiable, while if the new law had been applied to the same imports the percentage would be increased to about 16 per cent. Under the McKinley law, he said, the percentage was 52.4 per cent; under the Wilson law, 20.9 per cent; under the Dingley law, 25.8 per cent, and under the Payne-Aldrich law 19.3 per cent. Under the Underwood law of 1913, he said, the amounts were disturbed by war conditions, varying from 6 to 14.8 per cent.

"The proportion of imports which will be free of duty under the new law is estimated at from 61 to 63 per cent," continued the President. "This compares with averages under the McKinley law of 52.4 per cent; the Wilson law of 49.4 per cent; the Dingley law of 45.2 per cent; the Payne-Aldrich law of 52.5 per cent; the Fordney-McCumber law of 63.8 per cent. Under the Underwood law of 1913 disturbed conditions varied the duty list from 60 to 73 per cent, averaging 66.3 per cent."

"The increases in tariff are largely

AIRCRAFT FALLS INTO CROWD AT ROBY SPEEDWAY

Pilot and Aid Only Slightly Hurt.

Three persons were killed and one seriously injured late yesterday afternoon when an airplane attempting a takeoff at the Roby speedway, just across the Indiana line in Robertsdale, a Hammond suburb, crashed into the tops of four automobiles containing sightseers.

One car was demolished and the upper parts of the others ripped away by the impact. The plane lost its wings, undercarriage, and tail skid and broke its propeller. It was piloted by Lieut. Wilson V. Newhall of the 108th observation squadron of the 33d division air service, Illinois National Guard. Lieut. Newhall's home is at 2118 East 73d street. His mechanic was Sergt. James H. Van Meter, 6048 South Cicero avenue. Both are held by the Hammond police pending the coroner's inquest.

Killed As Auto Is Demolished.

Those killed and injured, all members of one family, were in the car that was demolished. The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brockman, 9252 Anthony avenue, and their granddaughter, Virginia Sterling, 2½ years old. Her mother, Mrs. Ernestine Sterling, 22 years old, who is a loop stenographer, is in a critical condition from her injuries at St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond. She and her daughter lived with the Brockmans. He was employed at the Bi-Products coke oven.

Lieut. Newhall had flown his ship, a Douglas pursuit plane, from the Municipal airport, to see the automobile races being held at Roby field, the chief event of which was the 100 mile midwestern dirt track championship. However, because of rain, the races were called off at the 58th mile.

Newhall decided to fly back to the airport. He tried to take off three times, but each time the ship mired in the soggy ground. At the fourth attempt he gained the air, flying low. About the track were some 5,000 persons, most of whom were in their automobiles.

Plane Dives Toward Cars.

Newhall headed the plane directly for Avenue A and 112th street, where the cars were parked most densely. It was seen he was not making altitude, but nobody thought much of it. Also the plane was traveling so fast that none would have been able to escape.

As he crossed the track the pilot tried to zoom upward but the machine swerved sharply downward and in an instant the crash came. An eyewitness said it seemed as if the tops of the cars had been sheared right off.

Mrs. Brockman was sitting in the front seat of her small sedan and was the first struck before the propeller was smashed. She was decapitated.

Airmen Slightly Hurt.

Newhall and his mechanic escaped with bruises and scratches. They were able to walk away from the scene of the accident. Newhall remained silent when questioned just after the tragedy, and refused to make a statement when arrested by the Hammond police.

Maj. Merrill D. Mann, commanding the 108th observation squadron, hurried to take charge of the machine. He said Newhall was an expert flyer and had seen service in France. Newhall is married and has two children.

Owners of two of the automobiles damaged by the wings of the plane were Theodore Naleszzy, 182 Torrence avenue, Hammond, and Mr. and Mrs. John Vrane, 9456 Commercial avenue, South Chicago. All escaped injury, although the windows and windshields of their cars were shattered.

Plane Crashes on Highway.

Horse Cave, Ky., June 15.—(AP)—Marvin Mayfield, 21, Horse Cave, and Lemuel Timons of Nashville, Tenn., were killed today in an airplane crash three miles from here. The pilot, J. Plummer of Piqua, O., was critically injured. He said he lost control of the plane after it took off from a temporary landing field. The ship crashed on the Dixie highway.

Killed in Farm Landing.

Pottstown, Pa., June 15.—(AP)—A passenger was killed and a pilot seriously injured in an airplane crash near here today. Hansyl Johnson, 24, of Clearfield, died soon after being taken to a hospital. Milton Fritshe, 24, Merion, was injured. The men, executives of a restaurant chain in Philadelphia, were attempting to land at a farm to visit Fritsche's parents when the plane fell.

Man Who Put Franc on Skids Dies in Paris

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

PARIS, June 15.—Louis Lucien Klotz, the man who almost put France into bankruptcy, died suddenly here today while sitting in a barber shop getting a shave.

M. Klotz was a baroque and colorful figure whose life read like a De Maupassant novel. After a brilliant career as a journalist and politician he became minister of finance in Clemenceau's "victory cabinet." In this capacity he performed feats of spending marvelled at by even historians.

"The Boches Will Pay."

He handled millions of francs like a drunken sailor handles nickels and with the same effect. When anyone questioned his extravagant spending of government money he silenced them with the magic formula "Les Boches Paieront"—the boches will pay.

This motto and his generosity with public cash made Klotz a national hero—as long as the money held out. Even the late Georges Clemenceau could not check his delirium of extravagance.

As a result the franc collapsed and only the heroic measures of former Premier Raymond Poincare saved France from financial ruin. M. Klotz's once popular catchword, "the boches will pay," became a howl of derision and Klotz was driven from the public eye in disgrace.

Wastes Own Fortune.

Last summer he again appeared on the front pages, this time for the way in which he managed his own fortune. Once one of the wealthiest men in France, he squandered millions on wine, women and song, and when his bank account had vanished he continued writing bad checks, which went to buy champagne, furs, and autos for his lady friends.

A scandal ensued and Klotz resigned from the senate and to escape prosecution there. Friends claimed he was insane but alienists declared him fit for trial. He was sentenced to prison for two years but was soon given his conditional freedom.

Later he was divorced by his wife and disbarred by the Paris bar association. He was 62 years old.

FEAR 7 TOLEDO MEN DROWN ON LAKE SPEEDBOAT

Toledo, O., June 15.—(AP)—Searching parties were organized here tonight to visit Lake Erie islands to hunt for seven Toledo men who may have drowned yesterday while racing in a speedboat to Pelee island to attend the annual Elks' picnic.

The speedboat was found this morning, drifting. In it were three life preservers and a hat. No trace of any bodies was found.

The men missing are: Charles H. Nauts, internal revenue collector for the Toledo district; Franklin B. Jones, former member of the Lucas county board of elections; Herbert Nauts, an attorney and brother of Charles H. Nauts; Arthur Kruse, president of the Kruse-Burman Mortuary company, Frank Miller, former city water commissioner; Henry Heinbush, assistant county engineer, and William Nixon, owner of the speed boat.

Young Pastor Collapses in Chicago Pulpit; Dies

While delivering a sermon yesterday at the Trinity Lutheran church, 3107 Seminary avenue, the Rev. Bertil Lundh, 27 years old, formerly assistant pastor at that church and more recently pastor of a church at Missouri Valley, Ia., collapsed of a cerebral hemorrhage. Members of the congregation took him to the Augustana hospital, where he died. The young clergyman was returning to his pastorate after visiting his parents in Sweden and had stopped to visit the Rev. Gottfred Nelson, who invited him to preach.

Girl's Mother Helps Capture Gem Robbers

A mother's fear that her 16 year old daughter was in bad company yesterday led to the capture of two bandits who on May 25 obtained $2,560 in jewelry and money in the holdup of Charles Fernald, a second vice president of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, and Mrs. Shea M. Smith, 5851 Kenmore avenue. Most of the loot was recovered in a search of the prisoners' rooms last night.

The prisoners are Harry Rhinstein, 24 years old, and Ralph Howard, 23, both living at 7 South Mansfield avenue. They were identified as the robbers by Mr. Fernald last night at the Albany Park police station. From a letter found in the possession of one of them Capt. Joseph Goldberg learned that both are paroled convicts from the Michigan state penitentiary.

The Mother's Appeal.

Several days ago Capt. Goldberg was visited by a northwest side mother who told him that her daughter had been out several times with Rhinstein and Howard. The woman said she was suspicious because, although the young men were well dressed, they seemed to have no employment. Her suspicion that they were engaged in robbery was confirmed, she said, when her daughter told her that the two men had tried to persuade the girl to loot the cash register of the laundry where she was employed.

Capt. Goldberg asked the mother to inform him of the next meeting arranged between her daughter and Rhinstein and Howard. This was done, and yesterday Detective Ben Buzarek of the Albany Park district confronted the pair at the rendezvous.

Both Confess Robbery.

Both confessed the robbery of Fernald and Mrs. Smith, which occurred at the rear of Mrs. Smith's home while she and the banker were putting away her automobile after returning from a theater. In the robbery Fernald lost a diamond ring valued at $2,400, a $60 wrist watch, and $100 in cash. He handed over his valuables without demur, stipulating that the bandits leave Mrs. Smith alone. Her jewels, valued at $10,000, were concealed by gloves, and the robbers complied.

Rogers Park police are searching for a trio of masked gunmen who early yesterday held up Attorney Martin L. Callahan and his wife, Edna, as they returned to their home, 1530 Fargo avenue, from a theater. The bandits took $266 cash and $5,000 in jewelry. It was the third time Mr. Callahan had been robbed in four years.

Bandits Kill Cafe Manager in Gun Battle

Christ Patras, 520 Diversey parkway, manager of the Villa Rica restaurant, 2572 North Clark street, a well known north side rendezvous, was shot to death early this morning in a gun battle with two holdup men in the restaurant. Twenty patrons of the café witnessed the shooting and saw Patras fall dead behind the cigar counter with four bullets in his body. The robbers escaped without loot.

Among the witnesses were Patras' wife, Cecelia, and a friend, Miss Edna Hulbrick, also of 520 Diversey parkway, who were seated at a table a few feet from the counter. Mrs. Patras collapsed as she saw her husband fall.

Witness Tells of Killing.

George Williams, 3260 Lincoln avenue, who was seated at another table, described the shooting to Lieut. John O'Brien of the Sheffield avenue police, who arrived at the restaurant a few minutes later. Williams said that he and Miss May Green, 520 Diversey parkway, were dining at a table near that of Mrs. Patras when he observed two men enter the door and lounge up to the counter where Patras stood.

One of them was of a stocky build and wore a brown hat, and the other was garbed in a light suit and gray fedora, according to Williams. Their backs were toward him, he said, as they conversed in low tones with Patras. Williams said he supposed the two were friends of the café manager and paid no further attention to them until he noticed Patras move his hand, quickly under the counter.

Manager Fires Two Shots.

The hand came out with a pistol and Patras fired two shots, according to Williams. At the same moment the two strangers whipped out pistols and fired four bullets into the body of the café man. Patras fell behind the counter.

Williams said the two strangers apparently had been trying to persuade Patras to hand over the contents of the restaurant's cash drawer without displaying their guns and that the manager had taken advantage of this fact in an effort to balk the robbery.

The restaurant is owned by Peter Trougas.

POLICEMAN SHOOTS ROBBER

Policeman Lee Davis, secretary to Capt. Max Danner of the North Damen avenue station, shot and seriously wounded a robber suspect in a pistol duel at Belmont and Western avenues last night. Davis had parked his automobile in front of an apartment building at 3134 North Western avenue while he visited a friend in the building. When he returned to the car he found two men in the front seat with the motor running.

He placed them under arrest and had started for the police box a few feet away to call a patrol when one of the men drew a pistol and opened fire. As the first bullet sang past his ear Davis pulled out his own gun and dropped his antagonist with bullets in the neck and abdomen. The wounded man's companion escaped.

At the Alexian Brothers hospital the injured man identified himself as Fred Doehms, 28 years old, 117 South Homan avenue. He said he knew his companion only as "Charley." His condition is critical.

SHANGHAI, June 16.—(AP)—One hundred persons were killed, 300 injured, and heavy property damage resulted from the explosion of a munitions dump at Chuchow, about 30 miles south of Changsha, Hunan province, June 10, delayed Chinese press advices revealed today.

Dispatches stated that Kwangsi province invading rebel soldiers captured the government dump and ignorantly attempted to move the explosives stored therein. A soldier was reported to have handled a hand grenade roughly, causing a disaster lasting six hours.

POLICE HEADS REACH CRISIS IN GANG CLEANUP

Citizens and Council to Take Action.

$55,825 in Rewards

Rewards for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer or slayers of Alfred J. Lingel stood at $55,825 yesterday. Police department affairs promised to reach a crisis today as a result of the public upheaval over gangs, with the withdrawing or resignation of Commissioner Russell apparently certain. Other developments were:

Criticism of the public by Dr. John Thompson in a Chicago temple sermon for demanding lurid gang news which forces the development of such experts as Lingle. Details on page 2.

Investigation begun of Lingle's financial affairs and his stock market and race track operations in search of possible clews to his murder. Details on page 2.

The public upheaval against gangdom following the murder of Alfred J. Lingle has caused a crisis in the police department, with a probability of the resignations of Police Commissioner Russell and Chief of Detectives Stege today. Chief Stege removed his effects from the detective bureau last night, but he refused to confirm reports of the forthcoming resignations.

Several meetings are scheduled today, sponsored by leaders who hope the actions taken may have a profound effect on the future of Chicago as a city of law and order. Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said the association's directors would make some recommendations at a noon meeting. Some of the directors said they would bring up the subject of asking Mayor Thompson to step out and let some one take his place who would be effective in directing a cleanup of the city. Other directors were inclined to support Commissioner Russell and recommend his retention.

Start Police Investigation.

While the business and professional leaders of the city are debating their course of action the city council committee on police and public institutions, in conjunction with the civil service commission, will begin an investigation of the police department. This inquiry, unless the anticipated voluntary resignations are forthcoming, is expected to conclude with either a vote of confidence in Russell and Stege or a recommendation for their dismissal.

The situation caused some speculation yesterday as to who could be chosen to lead Chicago in driving out crime and corruption. One of the names mentioned was that of Gen. Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to England. But Ambassador Dawes, who was visiting at the home of Dwight W. Morrow at Englewood, N. J., indicated last night that he had no intention of returning to Chicago for such a purpose.

"Time for Chicago to Act."

"The murder of Lingle was certainly a barbarous outrage and it is time for Chicago to shake off its gang fetters, but I have not been asked to serve the city towards that end," Gen. Dawes said. "I have other duties to attend to at this time and will return to London in a month."

The ambassador also discussed the Lingle murder in the afternoon while he was waiting to speak to a crowd on the Morrow lawn where he urged his hearers to vote for Morrow, a Republican candidate for United States senator, in the New Jersey primaries tomorrow. He said he did not know Lingle personally but that they had many mutual friends. He said he was interested because he had always heard Lingle praised by these friends.

London Asks About Dawes.

A telephone call from London to THE TRIBUNE yesterday brought inquiries from a Mr. Polder of the London Daily Herald as to whether it were true that Gen. Dawes was to take complete control of Chicago. He asked if it would be possible for Dawes to head the Chicago police as Gen. Byng does the London force.

When he was told that Gen. Dawes' name had been mentioned in such a connection, but that it was not likely the ambassador would serve, he asked if state intervention or federal intervention were likely to be asked for Chicago. Then he wanted to know if the American Legion had been called into action against the gangs of the city.

Commissioner Russell Silent.

But in Chicago there was no noticeable excitement regarding what should be done. Commissioner Russell proceeded without any indication of his future course of action and Chief Stege appeared at the detective bureau and said that while he is still in command there he will continue to devote all his efforts to tracing the murderers of Lingle.

Russell said he is ready to appear before the police committee of the council today and submit to the questioning of [Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d], who has been temporarily designated as attorney for the committee and who has led in the attacks on the police commanders. Russell and Stege are expected to tell the committee what plans they have in mind for the betterment of the force and the benefit of Chicago. Also, they are under request to reveal to the committee in confidence the progress of the department in the investigation of the Lingle murder.

Chief Stege said he was ready to give an accounting of his year and a half as head of the detective bureau with its 900 picked men. As to the Lingle case he said he believed Russell and he would be able to convince the alderman that the inquiry has progressed at top speed and with more than a hope of success.

Report Resignations Ready.

There were rumors that both Russell and Stege were preparing to offer their resignations today, effective at once or contingent upon the outcome of the council investigation. Neither would discuss the rumors other than to say that if called upon to surrender their commissions they would do so without hesitation.

Aldermen interviewed yesterday could not predict what may happen, but they said the general belief was that a thorough scrutiny of all the operations of municipal government would be beneficial. They said they did not want to prejudge either Stege or Russell, but wanted to hear all the evidence.

Several aldermen expressed interest in the reports that members of the Association of Commerce would consider asking Thompson to resign. Those interviewed pointed out that Thompson could refuse to pay any attention to such a request, but they thought that in such an event the business men might bring pressure to bear.

Alderman Would Be Mayor.

In the event of Thompson's resignation the law is that the council must fill the vacancy from its own membership when the unfinished term is less than one year. Thompson's term expires next April and as the uncompleted portion is less that one year an alderman would succeed to the mayor's chair.

Ald. John S. Clark [30th], a potential candidate in the next Democratic mayoral primary, was regarded by many of the aldermen as one possible choice of the council. Clark is now chairman of the finance committee and chairman of the committee on committees.

Col. Randolph would not discuss the possibility that his committee would recommend a clean sweep of executive officers of the city. Nor would he say that a civilian might be recommended if Russell resigns or is forced out, as had been reported.

Several groups of ministers, as well as some civic organizations, are to meet today, and the problem of crushing crime is to be the general topic. A later merging of all groups into one large meeting might result, it was said, if today's activities are not productive of immediate results.

HUNT FOR MURDER CLEW IN LINGLE'S MONEY AFFAIRS

His Race Bets and Stock Deals Under Inquiry.

Efforts to establish a motive which might have caused the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, police reporter for THE TRIBUNE, have led to an investigation of his private financial affairs.

It has been discovered that he was in the habit of carrying large sums of cash about his person; that he plunged on horse races; that he speculated in stock, winning and losing with the ups and downs of the recent turbulent stock market days.

These facts, along with many rumors, are the subject of a minute investigation which is being conducted to determine whether Lingle's money affairs had any connection with his death. At present the information is intangible, but the inquiry is to be completed so that full and definite information may be in the hands of the authorities.

A Track Enthusiast.

For many years Lingle has been a devoted follower of the racing sport. His penchant for becoming acquainted with many people of all walks of life who might aid him as a reporter caused him to know intimately many horse owners, trainers, jockeys and others in that sport. Indeed, his work as a reporter took him often among such people.

Frequently he would seek and gain "inside" information as to the probable outcome of a race, but whether he had such dope or not, he would wager on the race anyway, depending on his own knowledge of the horses to guide his bets.

Direct information as to whether he lost or won in the long run of his wagers cannot be obtained, but friends of Lingle assert that he frequently won large sums. These friends say that in recent months Lingle had altered his habit of years to stake small sums on the races, and that he was often known to bet $100, $200 or even more on the outcome of a single race.

Enters Stock Market.

During the course of the long "bull" market of 1929, which came to a crashing end in October, Lingle saw many of his business friends make fortunes almost overnight. Lingle entered the market. Buying on margin stocks which took spectacular rises, his fortunes rose, on paper, and before the crash, according to Lingle's accounts to his friends, he had a book profit in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Although his accounts with various brokerage houses have not yet been obtained, it is stated on good authority that Lingle's winnings in the market were practically wiped out in the slump which followed. Still it was known that he continued in a small way to speculate on the turns of the market in the hope that he might again reach the height of affluence.

At the time of his death Lingle had at least one brokerage account in which he was continuing to trade, and from information received up to now that account showed a loss of several thousand dollars. Inquiry is being made to ascertain whether these stock market ventures furnished him with funds or caused him net losses.

Investigation has shown that Lingle borrowed money from a large number of persons. Pending the discovery of all his debts, and of all his assets, it was impossible to estimate the condition of his estate, but it is now believed that the debts will far exceed the assets.

It was disclosed yesterday, however, that Lingle kept up his bank balance. William N. Kline, president of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank, said that Lingle's account there showed a balance of either $2,400 or $2,700 at the time of his death. He said Lingle usually make six or eight deposits a month of sums ranging from $500 to $800 in currency, exclusive of checks deposited. He recalled that on one occasion Lingle cashed checks totaling about $7,000. Lingle's average balance was $1,000, Mr. Kline estimated, and he said he believed that the run of his deposits had been about the same since the stock market crash of last October as they were before. These figures, the president said, were given from memory, as he had not the books available, but he said he had scanned Lingle's accounts after the murder.

Whether these deposits and withdrawals represent a continuation of race track winnings and losings and market turns, as well as his apparent borrowings from many friends, remains to be shown.

Inheritance Found Small.

It had been supposed from hints dropped by Lingle that he had inherited considerable sums from his father, and from two uncles. An investigation in the Probate court of the estate left by the father indicates that Lingle's share amounted to less than $500, but it is not known whether any possessions of the elder Lingle had been transferred to Lingle during the elder's lifetime.

A similar situation is shown in the estate of one of Lingle's uncles, Thomas Jenkins Lingle. The inventory of this estate in the Probate court, shows it was worth $7,000, and that Alfred Lingle's share of the estate was $1,150.

Information is still being sought concerning the second uncle's estate.

Lingle's bank accounts, his recent purchase of a home at Long Beach, Ind., his mode of living and all other angles of his financial status which might cast any light on a possible motive are also under inquiry.

WHO'LL GET 49 YEAR RUM IN CORNER STONE OF A DETROIT SCHOOL?

Detroit, Mich., June 15.—[U. P.]—Disposition of a quart of aged bourbon whisky—a full quart—is causing Herman J. Browe, principal of the Higgins school, considerable worry.

The quart, aged ten summers when it was placed in the corner stone of the Higgins school back in 1891, will be brought to light again when the building is torn down to make way for a new structure. Meanwhile, old timers who remember when the quart was sealed in the corner stone, have beseiged Browe with requests for it.

Today Browe decided to put the matter up to Frank Cody, superintendent of schools. After apprising Cody of the facts in a letter, Browe had an afterthought. The postscript read:

"I have had a very bad cold for a week."

LINGLE MURDER LAID TO AVIDITY FOR CRIME NEWS

Pastor Deplores Public's Interest in Gangdom.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Demands by the public for the lurid details of gangdom's operations carry the ultimate blame for the assassination of Alfred Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter. This opinion was expressed last night in a sermon by the Rev. John Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Chicago temple.

Dr. Thompson said that newspapers found it necessary to have gangland experts on their staffs in order that the curiosity of their readers may be satisfied. He declared that the present day reading public requires "good murders" and "high class robberies" upon which they may glut their imaginations. Then Dr. Thompson asked if the satisfaction of such public curiosity justifies newspapers in developing reporters who are experts on this type of news.

A Question for Newspapers.

He asserted that such reporters soon become powerful influences in gangdom and among police officials. He declared that Lingle, as well as crime reporters of all metropolitan newspapers, have had friendships with gang leaders and at the same time have been led into close relationships with police officials. Dr. Thompson then asked why the newspapers, thus possessing knowledge of the movements of the higher ups, both in the police force and in gangland, did not bring about some action to alleviate the situation.

"To one like myself, a layman in such matters, it certainly seems that such intimate acquaintance with both the gangsters and the police authorities should have led to some arrests among the higher ups and to a checking of these atrocious crime outbreaks," Dr. Thompson said.

The capture of Lingle's assassin, Dr. Thompson asserted, will be of little value. "Of course the murderer should be found," he said, "but the mere capture of a 'trigger puller' and 'tool' of gang leaders will not put a stop to the crime wave.

Says Killers Are Subnormal.

"Gangland brains employ subnormal men to commit the crimes. One of our problems is the control of dementia praecox, or subnormal cental conditions that offer higher ups among the gangsters opportunity to employ such hoodlums and trigger pullers as shot Lingle and perform the bloody acts for the hidden leaders.

"If victims of dementia praecox could be cared for by the public the higher ups of gangdom would have nobody to do the killing and terrorizing for them. Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court, who has made an exhaustive study of dementia praecox, told me that if dementia victims—subnormal persons—could be controlled the police and the courts would have surprisingly little to do.

"Public indifference and the realization in gangland that the public excitement over the Lingle death will soon blow over, together with public demand for bigger and better murders, which have become something of a current fad, are the prime causes of crime waves. Publicity given to the latest atrocity, demanded by the public, has a bad reaction on young life, and tends to create an indifference and hardness to the real causes of crime."

Praises Police Rank and File.

Dr. Thompson paid high tribute to "the policemen on the beat," but blamed the police authorities for the "breakdown of the police before gangland's assaults on law and order."

Yesterday, the first Sunday following the killing of Lingle, was marked by sermons on crime conditions in scores of the city churches. Religious leaders are demanding action on the part of the authorities that will stamp out the crime wave.

VAST INTERESTS TAKE SIDES ON WATERWAY FIGHT

Lakes to Gulf Project in Jeopardy.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENRY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]
Washington, D. C., June 15 [special].—Vast interests will be arrayed against each other in the battle which will begin in the senate tomorrow on the restriction of diversion of water from Lake Michigan for the benefit of lakes to the gulf deep waterway.

On the one side are the interests of commercial and agricultural development of the Mississippi valley states, including communities stretching from Chicago to New Orleans, which are fighting for cheap transportation to the sea and the Panama canal, the opening of which placed them at a disadvantage in competition on the sea board.

Want Sufficient Flow Assured.

The Mississippi valley interests are seeking a provision in the rivers and harbors bill to be taken up in the senate tomorrow which will assure a sufficient flow of water in the proposed waterway to float the estimated volume of traffic that will be developed to an adequate channel. The bill limits the amount of water to be diverted from Lake Michigan to be determined by the war department engineers under whose supervision the waterway is to be completed and operated.

On the other side are the interests of the lake states, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, the lake carriers' association, which is dominated by the United States Steel corporation, and the Niagara Water Power interests controlled by J. P. Morgan who is the predominant influence in the steel trust. These private interests fear that more than five billion dollars worth of property will be affected.

Try to Restrict Diversion.

This coalition of lake states and eastern industrial interests is trying to deprive the waterway of any of the expressly authorized diversion and to restrict it to the temporary use of 1938 of the 1,500 cubic feet of water per second which the Supreme court in its recent decree allowed for the protection of navigation in the Chicago river from the effluent of Chicago's sewerage.

The Mississippi Valley association, which is making the fight for the adequate waterway, contends that a diversion of only 1,500 second feet would be wholly inadequate. With such a diversion the waterway would be only a slackwater canal with a multiplicity of locks, and navigation of barges would be so slow as to defeat the whole purpose of the project. It is contended by the Mississippi valley interests that with such a limitation upon the power of the sanitary district to undertake transportation concerns, they would hesitate to risk investment in the construction of large barges which there would not be an insufficient amount of water to float them from Chicago to the gulf. It is asserted that about 5,000 second feet of flow at Lockport would be necessary to provide an adequate waterway without an undue number of locks.

Base Fight on Levels.

The steel trust and its subsidiary, the Lake Carriers' association, are opposing diversion of lake water from Chicago ostensibly in the interest of protecting lake navigation from lowering of lake levels and consequent obstruction of channel depths, which would necessitate decreasing the loads of the big freighters carrying iron ore from the Mesaba range in Minnesota to the Cleveland-Pittsburgh steel manufacturing district. The rivers and harbors bill, however, authorizes the construction of compensating works to connecting channels of the lakes to conserve their levels and offset any diversion at Chicago. The consent of Canada to these works is necessary.

The Niagara Falls water power companies and the state of New York are fighting the diversion of water at Chicago, which otherwise would go to turbine wheels at Niagara and increase the amount of electrical power possible of generation there.

Charge Jealousy as Motive.

The waterway partisans accuse the lake states and their allies, the steel trust, and water power companies, of a purpose to strangle the Illinois waterway project. They assert that New York is seeking only of the outlet from the lakes

SHOWERS TEMPER JUNE HEAT AND HELP FISHERMEN

A series of gentle showers, which ruined counties' picnics and outings yesterday, proved a boon for fishermen and those indolent ones who find enjoyment in a comparatively cool Sunday in relaxation at home.

The temperature, which had been running in the sultry 80's since midweek, was held to a maximum of 78 degrees at noon yesterday and declined to 68 last evening as a breeze blew the clouds away. The weather man, W. P. Day, predicted fair and temperate weather for today and tomorrow.

With the overcast skies and moist air auguring a day of good fishing, anglers were out in droves along the lake front, at Navy pier, and up and down the streams and ponds of rural Chicagoland. The opening of the bass season attracted an estimated 4,000 fishermen to the banks of the Fox river.

An accident marred the fishing along the Fox when Frank Urbanski Jr., 16 years old, 4847 South Hoyne avenue, seeking a spot for casting, stepped on loose ground on the brim of a quarry pool near south Elgin, plunged into a springfed pool of forty foot depth and was shocked to death by the icy water. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from shock.

FISTICUFFS END TRANSIT ROW AT LABOR MEETING

Arvey Statement Replies to Richberg Charges.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Chicago Federation of Labor spent a few turbulent minutes yesterday during a discussion of the transportation ordinance. A delegate inquired whether the federation has gone on record for or against the ordinance. President Fitzpatrick replied that no action had been taken, but that he and other labor leaders had urged the city council transportation committee to reach an agreement and prepare a franchise so as to reduce unemployment.

Then John J. Walt, a delegate of the iron workers, delivered a speech making charges of corruption similar to those contained in a statement made by Donald R. Richberg, which are printetd elsewhere on this page.

Dispute Leads to Fisticuffs.

"The Building Trades council with which your iron workers' union is affiliated has indorsed the ordinance," said Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, who is vice president of the federation of labor. "It is a matter for the affiliated unions to pass upon and I make that motion."

Walt again made charges of corruption and Ald Nelson asked. "Do you include me in those charges?"

"Any one who votes for the ordinance is crooked," retorted Walt. Nelson shot his fist to Walt's jaw and the iron worker went sprawling over the chair. The disturbance was stopped and the federation adopted the Nelson motion to refer the ordinance to the affiliated unions. Only Walt voted against its adoption.

Arvey Replies to Richberg.

The charges of Richberg, which arrived at THE TRIBUNE office Friday evening, were submitted yesterday to the nonpartisan committee favoring the ordinance.

A reply was written by Ald. Jacob M. Arvey, chairman of the council committee on gas, oil and electric light, a member of the transit subcommittee which drafted the transportation franchise. In his reply Ald. Arvey said:

"Unable to convince street car riders that they should not have extensions and that they ought to continue swinging from straps, the obstructionists have decided to resort to libelous villification in an effort to confuse the public.

Attacks His Statement.

"Mr. Richberg is about the weakest person who could be used to villify or attack anybody.

"In a preface to his vicious statement, in which he says that public officials and certain individuals are not worthy of public trust, Mr. Richberg cites that he was special counsel for the city in the gas company case from 1915 to 1927, obtained taxpayers' money as fees in elevated railroad litigation from 1913 to 1915, received more fees as counsel in the traction fund and subway case in 1910, and had other jobs.

"The gas company case in which he was appointed the city's counsel by ordinance was presented by him to the courts. After it had dragged along for years, there was submitted an agreed statement of it signed by Richberg as well as attorneys for the gas company.

"It was decided by the lower court in Richberg's favor, and he proclaimed this as a great victory for the people. Knowing that a final decision by the highest tribunal of the state was imminent, and that very little more in legal fees was to be expected, he repeatedly tried to withdraw from the case.

"The committee on gas, oil and electric light insisted that he carry it through to a final decision.

"The reason for his effort to withdraw became apparent when the seven judges of the Supreme court ruled unanimously against him.

"The court held that the recommendations and statements of law and facts made by Richberg to the city council, which induced it to spend an enormous sum in legal and expert fees and expenses, was not the law of the state and was not good advice.

Cites Cost of Litigation.

"The gas company case cost the public of Chicago $680,018 in fees and expenses. Of this, more than $200,000 went into the pockets of Mr. Richberg.

"Mr. Richberg held out the hope of securing a refund of $29,000,000 for the public, but the people did not receive one cent.

"As an example of Richberg's veracity, he makes the statement that the transit ordinance will increase taxes. He is a lawyer and he knows that is not true.

"Richberg has not fulfilled any of the promises he made to the public. Is Richberg worthy of public belief? He fooled the people in the gas case. Will they allow him to fool them again?"

RICHBERG RAPS MAYOR, INSULL AND CAR PLAN

Says Ordinance Cannot Be Fair to City.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The committee against the transit ordinance yesterday gave out a statement by Donald R. Richberg. He was a special attorney for the city in gas rate litigation between 1915 and 1927, which has been decided by the courts. The gist of his statement is in the following sentence:

"Chicago cannot expect to get a transit ordinance fit for public approval out of the Insull-Thompson city government, any more than it could expect to get pure drinking water from a stream of sewage."

Urges Defeat of Ordinance.

Mr. Richberg says the ordinance should be defeated for these reasons:

"1—It grants complete, permanent control of street railway transportation in Chicago to men who have proved themselves utterly unworthy of this public trust.

"2—It is a bad bargain even if debasers of government could be expected to keep their promises or debased public officials could be expected to enforce them.

"3—It is essentially a harsh bargain because harsh terms have been forced upon a city government which by years of political corruption has been made so spineless and dishonest as to be incapable of protecting the public."

Charges Sham Promises.

Mr. Richberg says the franchise is "interminable" and "perpetual in all important respects" and is "full of sham promises." He refers to the provision on compensation to the city by the company for use of the streets as "a very poor joke," and the home rule provision as a "sweet scented sham," which will be "absolutely no protection" and "may die in its infancy."

He refers to the $260,000,000 valuation of the surface and elevated lines as "grossly excessive by at least $50,000,000, and then makes a charge which no other opponent of the ordinance has made thus far. After asserting that the city agrees to build subways with its $61,000,000 transit fund and special assessments, Mr. Richberg says:

"So better transportation will be paid for by higher taxes."

Assails Mayor and Insull.

But the chief foundation of Mr. Richberg's statement is an attack on Samuel Insull, Mayor Thompson, and Corporation Counsel Ettelson.

"There are two parties to the bargain written in the proposed franchise," says the statement. "The traction promoters—Mr. Insull and his associates—and the city government, which consists of Mr. Insull's political agents. When one party is represented on both sides of the table, the resulting contract, as a matter of law, is generally regarded as fraudulent. This contract is fraudulent for the same reason.

"The city administration controls all appointed officials, and has been notoriously in control of the city council. The power of the city administration resides primarily in Mr. Thompson—who has been elected mayor three times with the aid and financial support of Mr. Insull—and in the corporation counsel, Mr. Ettelson, Mr. Insull's political lawyer, who has been appointed by Mr. Thompson as chief law officer of the city in each of his three terms as mayor."

Points to Gas Ordinance.

In one part of his statement Mr. Richberg writes: "Regardless of what promises are contained in the traction ordinance, they are worthless if the men who are expected to carry them out are unworthy of public trust." He then says that he negotiated a gas ordinance contract with Mr. Insull's representatives in 1917 which was accepted in writing and then broken within six months.

"Is it not perfectly clear," Mr. Richberg continues, "that the political machine in control of the city government, in the maintenance of which Mr. Insull and his lawyers have played such a large part, is utterly incapable of negotiating a fair bargain with Mr. Insull and his associates in an ordinance giving these men complete control of local transportation in Chicago with profits of untold millions at stake?"

"We cannot expect to stop the spread of lawlessness when the entire city government is undermined by control for private profit."

Bridegroom Is Stabbed to Death by His Father

Frank Blasienski, 22 years old, a bridegroom of four days, was stabbed to death last night by his father, Andrew Blasienski, 43 years old, in their home at 4854 South May street. Intoxicated since his son's wedding, according to the police, Blasienski had begun pummeling his wife, Victoria, 40 years old, after the evening meal. When the son interposed, Blasienski seized a butcher knife from the kitchen table, stabbed him in the heart, and escaped. The bride, Ruth Blasienski, witnessed the tragedy.

PREMIER CLAIMS CREDIT FOR KING CAROL'S AIR COUP

Says Government Aided Prodigal Prince.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 15.—The official story of how a crafty peasant leader and his government engineered the return of King Carol was told frankly in parliament yesterday afternoon by Premier Juliu Maniu himself.

Presenting his new cabinet to parliament, Maniu frankly confessed being "in the know" from the beginning, and described how the government, proceeding with each step within purely legal and constitutional limits, organized the plan which brought Carol back.

He declared that even the regency was informed the day before and gave its consent to his return, thus making the action strictly constitutional.

Wanted to Be King.

"The day before Prince Carol entered the country I took proper measures to facilitate his return," Premier Maniu admitted to the deputies. "I arranged for him to spend the first night at Cotroceni palace. After he arrived I discussed with him the form under which he would resume his former rights, whether he would become a member of the regency or be proclaimed king immediately.

"Carol preferred being named king, but stated he would bow to the will of parliament. As you, this parliament, decided in favor of making him king, thus everything was done regularly and constitutionally."

Premier Maniu emphasized that Carol's return was made in perfect order because it was organized by the government.

"Carol now considers he has ascended to the throne immediately after Ferdinand's death," he explained.

O. K. American Phone Concession.

The premier announced that the government's program had not changed and THE TRIBUNE was assured by a member of the government that the telephone concession to the International Telegraph and Telephone company, backed by J. P. Morgan, would be the first measure rushed through parliament, the American offer having been approved by the cabinet this morning.

Prof. Jorga, once Carol's tutor, furnished the comedy at the parliament meeting yesterday.

"If you planned Carol's return you did a rotten job," Prof. Jorga complained, addressing Premier Maniu. "The king ought to have been brought back in state. He should have had a Pullman. You gave him an airplane. His return should not have risked his personal safety.

"You made him fly over a dangerous mountain at night. It was no way to treat a king."

King to Take Rest.

VIENNA, June 15.—(AP)—A dispatch to the newspaper Neue Freie Presse from Bucharest today says King Carol II. is suffering from overwork and has decided to go tomorrow to Castle Pelesch, in the town of Sinaia, more than 50 miles from the capital, to rest until Thursday.

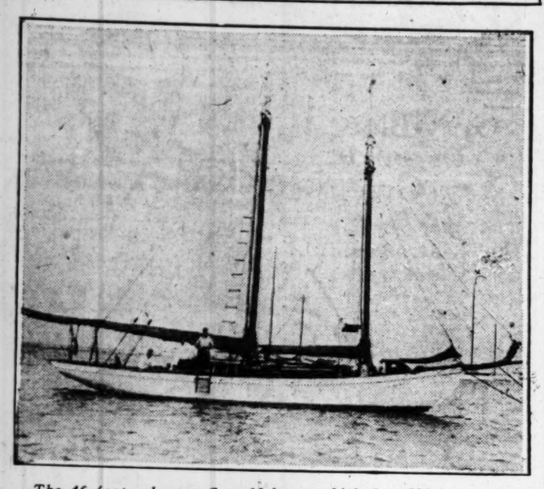
Claims Magda Won't Return.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 15.—(AP)—Denial that Mme. Magda Lupescu, companion of King Carol II. when he was only a prince in exile, has any intention of returning here at present, was issued by a high official today.

The statement said the report that Mme. Lupescu was hurrying here to prevent a reconciliation between Carol and his divorced wife, Queen Helene, had originated with newspaper correspondents here and at Budapest, Hungary.

"Please set the mind of the world at ease regarding Mme. Lupescu," said the statement. "She is too astute a person to return to Bucharest for a long time, if ever. She has her income, and knows she cannot induce Carol, now that he has taken the decisive plunge, to draw his mind away from the serious work awaiting him."

ON ITS WAY AROUND WORLD



The 46 foot schooner Swordfish, on which five Chicagoans are on a three year world cruise, reached Milwaukee yesterday.

Three Year Cruise

The schooner Swordfish with four men and a woman aboard was at Milwaukee yesterday on the first leg of a trip around the world. The boat left Belmont harbor on Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook, Earl and Paul Evans, and Donald Dickson were aboard. They intend to reach the Atlantic via the great lakes, Erie canal and Hudson river and then sail south. They expect to be gone three years.

Austria's Exiled Fascist Chief Leaves for Italy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, June 15.—Maj. Waldemar Pabst, Fascist leader, who was arrested yesterday and ordered to leave Austria because of his political activities, left for Italy this afternoon. Because there is no regular air service on Sunday the government hired an airplane to rush Pabst, who fled from Germany after the Kapp revolt, out of the country.

2 KILLED, MANY HURT AS BLAST ROCKS N. J. TOWN

Perth Amboy, N. J., June 15.—[Special.]—An explosion, accompanied by bursts of flame, demolished three two-story frame buildings in the heart of Perth Amboy's business district tonight, shattered windows for blocks, leveled trolley and electric light wires, and started a fire in neighboring stores that caused all apparatus in the city to be called to the scene.

Two women were killed and many injured. Some estimates of the number injured were as high as sixty. The report was heard for miles. An investigation to determine the origin of the blast was begun by the police.

The two dead were Mrs. Margaret Farroat, 50, and Miss Agnes Kant.

The three buildings destroyed were located in Smith street, the city's main business thoroughfare, between High and King streets.

PRISONER RECAPTURED.

Ionia, Mich., June 15.—[Special.]—Julius Sheltenberger, 16 year old Michigan reformatory trusty, who walked away from the institution Saturday afternoon, was retaken last night by Deputy Sheriff Edward Good.

BUILDING PLANS TOTAL 15 MILLION FOR TWO WEEKS

Contracts Awarded for $9,620,000.

Chicago's construction program for the first two weeks of June has continued at more than a million dollars a day in contemplated building, while projects awarded to contract amounted to $9,620,000, according to E. M. Craig, executive secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association of Chicago. Contemplated construction of projects costing $100,000 or more announced during the period totaled $15,850,000.

Mr. Craig stated that since Jan. 1, approximately $190,000,000 has been listed in contemplated construction of which a little less than $70,000,000 has been awarded to contract. He said, however, that there was still room for improvement in building activities.

Contracts in contemplated and awarded construction for the first two weeks of June as compiled by statisticians of the association follow:

Mr. Craig said that favorable action on the traction ordinance on July 1 would develop a fair sized program of building activities and would inject new blood into the construction industry as well as stimulate home building. He pointed out that industrial leaders recognize the building industry as the barometer of national prosperity.

HOOVER INSISTS HE'S NEUTRAL IN N. J. SENATE RACE

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—President Hoover's neutrality in the New Jersey Republican primary contest in which Dwight W. Morrow, Franklin W. Fort and Joseph Frelinghuysen are seeking nomination for the senate, was reiterated in a statement issued by the White House today following the reported assertion by Senator David Baird [Rep., N. J.] yesterday that the President was "intensely interested" in seeing Morrow in the senat.

"Protests have been received from supporters of Congressman Fort and ex-Senator Frelinghuysen in respect to Senator Baird's reported statement," the White House statement said. "Several weeks ago a statement was made from the White House that the President has taken no part as between Republican candidates in New Jersey or in the primaries of any other state. That still holds good. This is also in accord with the expressed wish of each of the candidates."

The Governor Gordon tea-table

THIS MONTH $25

The hospitality and good living enjoyed in Philadelphia during the reign of Queen Anne are suggested in the will of Governor Gordon, the Queen's official in Pennsylvania from 1716 to 1726.

Here we find listed, books only to the amount of $50, but wearing apparel $910, silver plate $2500, a well-stocked cellar, many beds, 9 "gouff clubs" 12 dozen balls, riding horses, card tables, magic lantern, five sets of foils and numerous violins. Among the 18 small tables listed were two of mahogany, one round and one tea table.

Frances Clay Morse in his delightful book "Furniture of the Olden Times," describing Colonial pieces tells us that the tops of the handsomest tables were cut out of a thick piece of mahogany so as to leave a rim. This detail is but one of many features of this table. It is built of solid Cuban mahogany, and is heavy enough to carry a substantial reading lamp. The shelves are fitted for books and papers and a drawer for smokers' articles is under the top. It makes an unusual, easily moved tea table with useful shelves below. Few antique reproductions fit so well into the home of today as this piece, which has all the appearance and all the sterling qualities of the priceless original except age.

If you wish to use this with antique pieces, you will be interested in knowing that we have finished a number in an oil finish with worn edges in "faked antique" at $32.50. We present Queen Anne drop-leaf card tables which match at $37.50 and $42.50.

There are many other small pieces here which make unusual and valued wedding presents, including early American, Georgian and fine imported French pieces.

TELLS GERMANY TO DRAW STRINGS OF PUBLIC PURSE

Last Dawes Plan Report Ushers In Young Plan.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Germany, June 15.—The last chapter in the history of the Dawes plan was closed today when Seymour Parker Gilbert, American agent general for reparations, published his final report, combining a resume of the five years of operations of the plan and beginning the history of the working of the Young plan.

"A total of nearly $11,904,000,000 for the five annuity years of the Dawes plans was paid fully and promptly by the Germans," writes Mr. Gilbert.

66 More Years to Pay.

He adds that payments made under the provisions of the Young plan up to May 17, 1930 will swell the total reparations paid by Germany since 1924 to more than $22,261,000,000. Add to these conservative estimates of what Germany paid as reparations before the Dawes plan went into operation and you get a total reparations payments of more than $8,000,000,000 to date with 66 more years of reparation payments ahead for Germany.

In the close of his 400 page report, Mr. Gilbert says that there is only one really serious problem confronting Germany now: that is to put her public finances in order.

There is no doubt, says Mr. Gilbert, that this problem can be solved on a sound basis if anything like the same efforts are now applied to a reform of public finances as have been devoted during the period of the Dawes plan to the general rebuilding of German economy.

Mr. Gilbert gives a severe lashing to the government for its failure to settle these problems in recent years, in the course of which he time and again warned the chiefs of the German cabinet that they were gayly rolling into huge deficits.

"Allies Trust Germany."

"The new Young plan is an act of confidence by the allies in the good faith and financial integrity of Germany, and Germany now has a definite task to perform on its own responsibility without foreign supervision and without transfer of the protection provided by the Young plan," he says.

Mr. Gilbert sees a favorable sign in the fact that for the latter part of 1929 and the beginning of this year German exports increased until "the value of goods exported finally overtook and slightly exceeded the value of imports."

According to figures of the "Institute Fuer Konjunkturforschung," the German national income has risen 15 per cent in the last five years to $16,660,000,000, or from $212 per capita in 1925, to $260 per capita in 1929.

Nevertheless, Mr. Gilbert says, the number of business failures have increased tremendously in 1929 and early in 1930. This year's average monthly failures run close to 1,100, while last year the figure was 820.

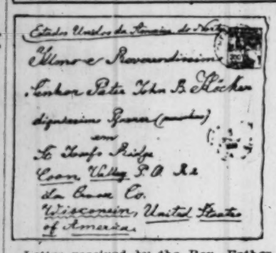
Berry and Mayers will be arraigned Monday on possession charges.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place, send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter. If you have a picture of the original sender or the place, inclose it also.

FROM THERESOPOLIS, BRAZIL



Letter received by the Rev. Father John B. Blocker, Coon Valley, Wis.

This letter tells of the work of a German priest in a little known section of Brazil. The town from which it is sent is situated 34 miles southwest of Disterro in the state of Santa Catharina, and is not to be confused with another Brazilian town bearing the same name. The latter is farther south and was formerly the capital of the state of Rio de Janeiro.

Concerning the sender of this letter and the town from which it comes, Father Blocker writes:

"This letter comes from a little place called Theresopolis in the state of Santa Catharina in southern Brazil. The town is named after the daughter of Dom Pedro, the first emperor of Brazil, who reigned more than a hundred years ago. It was the first settlement of German immigrants in the state of Santa Catharina, more than a century ago. It is still a poor place, far up in the original woods, with practically no communication with the outside world except by horseback.

"The government built a road within the last few years, but it is almost impassable on account of the frequent and heavy rains.

"The sender of the letter is an old German priest more than 90 years of age, who has lived more than 60 years among these German settlers and native Portuguese people. To his flock belong the most savage and uncivilized Indians in Brazil. They are known as the Cugres. Thirty years ago this priest had a parish larger than the state of Indiana. Now he is old and can no longer do any great amount of work. He has never returned to his home country during all these years because he could not leave his parish of 30,000 alone. Now he has no relatives living. I visited him two years ago."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, June 15.—Romanito Emiliani, a native of Panama, has filed a claim against the United States for $4,000,000, claiming the property where the United States constructed the France Field army air station and the Cocosolo naval base, near Colon, belonged to his late father, who was an Italian.

VETERANS URGE SENATE TO PASS RELIEF MEASURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Pressure upon congress to pass the world war veteran's relief bill before adjournment, over a veto by President Hoover if that is necessary, grew stronger today as the American Legion intensified its campaign to prevent sidetracking of the bill in the last days of the session.

For weeks members of both houses have been deluged with demands from veterans' groups in behalf of the relief legislation and today John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the Legion's national legislative committee, wrote a letter to each senator calling attention to reports that the bill is to be shelved and urging immediate action.

Seven weeks ago, by an overwhelming majority, the house passed the Johnson or Rankin bill with liberal amendments and a week ago, in somewhat changed form, the bill was reported by the senate finance committee. With the adjournment of congress expected now before the end of June, the senate must act on the bill this week in order to allow it ten days to travel to the White House and back and give congress a chance to override a veto if one is forthcoming. Should congress adjourn within the ten day period, a pocket veto would be effective.

LIVABLE OFFICES WE HAVE PLANNED

They made customers

still warmer friends... and found business more easily transacted. The interesting result a public utility company is achieving in one branch office after another

THAT customers feel more at home, and business is transacted more easily in an attractive, well planned office—was the conclusion reached by the executives of a prominent public utility company.

They asked us to help plan one of their offices, using appropriate Danersk Furniture. Results have proved so satisfactory that one after another of the company's branch offices are being similarly replanned and furnished.

Among the pieces used:

Chairs—modeled after those that in Cromwell's day seated the spurred and booted cavalier—chairs sturdily built and covered with colored leather.

Does your office echo the high ideals and friendly spirit of your business? Replanning it with Danersk Furniture need not be costly. You will find in our showrooms many fine, significant and expressive pieces built by hand by our Scotch and English craftsmen. We invite you to inspect this display. If you cannot conveniently call, write for our interesting brochure, "The Livable Office".

RELIEF BILLS MAY PRECEDE TAX STRUGGLE

Governor Favors Chicago Action First.

BY PARKE BROWN.

If Gov. Emmerson is consulted, it was predicted yesterday, the financial relief bills for Chicago and Cook county will be given the right of way over the proposed amendment to the tax article of the state constitution when the general assembly reconvenes tomorrow morning.

Fear that a deadlock fatal to both the relief legislation and to the proposed change in the organic law has been expressed ever since the special session came into being on May 12. And that fear has been acute during the twenty day recess now drawing to a close, because the last act of the downstate bloc before the recess was to agree in caucus that they would force consideration of the constitutional amendment proposal as the first order of business tomorrow.

Expect Change in Attitude.

But now the understanding among those urging haste on the Chicago bills in order to beat the June 30 deadline is that the governor during his Derby visit said plainly that he had no desire to crowd the constitutional resolution ahead of the bills. This attitude is expected to have a decided effect among his downstate supporters.

The governor and Speaker Shanahan have made unusual efforts to bring a large attendance to Springfield for this week and next week. The speaker has sent to each member a letter urging to him attend for the coming fortnight as after June 30 the Chicago bills will require a two-thirds vote in each house if they are to take effect before July 1, 1931.

At the capital once more, Gov. Emmerson issued a statement calling attention to this fact and to the necessity of a two-thirds vote for the constitutional proposal.

Urges Attendance.

"When the special session recessed," he said, "it was for the purpose of giving public officials in Cook county and other governing bodies within that county the opportunity to study and to approve officially the financial relief legislation presented by the so-called Strawn citizens' committee.

"Now that this approval has been given, it should be possible for the legislature to complete its deliberations before June 30 if each member faithfully attends the remaining sessions. As stated previously, I consider it not only a duty but a privilege for each elected representative of the people to participate in all the work of the general assembly whether in regular or special session.

"Members of the general assembly have stated that the attendance during the hot weather and the vacation season in July probably would not be sufficient to permit legislation or the resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to receive the necessary vote.

Says Need Is Known.

"The financial plight of the city of Chicago, the county of Cook and other governing bodies within that county is well known. The desirability of submitting to referendum at the November election this year an amendment to modernize the revenue article of the constitution is generally admitted.

"It is, therefore, with the greatest earnestness that I urge all members of the general assembly to attend regularly the remaining sessions of the legislature so that its full force may be exerted for completion of its work by June 30."

One of the factors said to have changed the situation at Springfield is the influence of the successive announcements of census figures for 100 of the 102 counties in the state. This is said to have been a strengthening of the demand for obedience to the constitutional mandate providing for reapportionment.

Cite Kane County Figures.

The most recent announcements were the figures for two big counties in the Chicago metropolitan area, Kane and Will. Kane county, which includes Aurora and Elgin, was shown to have a population of 125,000, which entitles it to become a district by itself. It is now hooked up with Kendall county in the Fourteenth district.

The census fixed the population of Will county as 110,842 and gave Du Page county 85,388. Together they constitute the Forty-first district, which therefore has a population of 196,230, the largest in the state outside of Cook county districts and far in excess of the minimum figure of approximately 120,000 estimated as the requirement for a district if the state were reapportioned.

Late census announcements also disclosed another baby district downstate. This is the Thirty-second, consisting of Hancock, McDonough, and Warren counties, which have a combined population of 75,327.

Those 75,327 persons have the same representation at Springfield as the 196,230 in the Will-Du Page district.

TRIAL STARTS TODAY OF DOCTOR CHARGED WITH 2 GIRLS' DEATHS

Urbana, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—The trial of Dr. Thomas M. Eade, Champaign physician charged with the murder of Miss Cleo Hinton, 24, Fisher, Ill., stenographer, and Miss Gladys Louise Anderson, 18, Chicago University of Illinois co-ed, as the result of alleged abortion operations, probably will get under way here in Circuit court tomorrow.

A special venire of seventy-five men has been summoned by Judge Franklin Boggs.

Miss Anderson died in a local hospital March 30 and while a coroner's jury was hearing evidence as to the cause of her death, the following night, word was brought to Coroner William Strode of the death of Miss Hinton. The coroner's verdict in both cases was that the girls died from the effects of peritonitis caused by abortion operations.

WOMAN ANGLER LANDS 11 FISH AT SAME TIME

Newton, N. J., June 15.—[U. P.]—Throwing her line in Case's pond here yesterday, Mrs. William Kinney of Washington, N. J., felt a slight tug. She wound in the line and found the pull suddenly become stronger. Finally landing her catch, she found it to be a sunfish, a pickerel, four perch and five catfish.

John Newton, her fishing companion expressed the opinion that the string of fish had been lost overboard by a fisherman earlier in the day.

Firemen Discover Still as They Extinguish Blaze

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—For the second time within three weeks fire today laid bare a large still. The liquor-making apparatus was discovered along with a 300-gallon tank and more than twenty cans of alcohol in a frame building in the downtown section of Brooklyn, after firemen extinguished a blaze they said was caused by overheating of the still. Police arrested Ennio Celli, 43 year old painter, on a charge of possessing the liquor.

2 ARE KILLED IN HOLIDAY AUTO CRASHES

Motor Car Runs Into Steel Elevated Support.

Sunday motor acidents took a toll of two lives in Chicago and Cook county yesterday. Joy riders, hit and run drivers and congested conditions of the highways were held responsible for many accidents.

One of the most spectacular accidents occurred at Roscoe street and Ashland avenue when an automobile containing two girls and four boys crashed into a steel pillar support of the elevated structure.

Passenger Dies of Injuries.

The driver of the car was Laverne Fischer, 19 years old, 2955 Clybourn avenue, a mesenger for the board of trade. The party had been out all night and was returning home from Des Plaines. Fischer lost control of the car when the brakes locked, he told police. It was wrecked.

Emmet Ryle, 19 years old, 1809 School street, sitting in the front seat with Fischer, received internal injuries that resulted in his death an hour later. The other occupants were cut and bruised, but it is believed they will recover. They are. Leroy Jasch, 18 years old, 3435 Norun Oakley avenue; Gustave Wegner, 18 years old, 2225 Oakdale avenue; Miss Amber Johnson, 17 years old, 3335 Berteau street, and Miss Asta Anderson, 15 years old, 3941 North Sawyer avenue. Fischer was held at the Robey street station.

Youth Seriously Hurt.

John Lewandowski, 17 years old, 3339 West 53d place, is at Holy Cross hospital with a fractured skull and internal injuries, as a result of being run down by a hit and run driver at West 50th street and South Cicero avenue. He was riding a bicycle, which was demolished.

The other death brought Cook county's motor toll for the year to 402. The victim:

Walter Jorgensen, 35 years old, a machinist, 1537 North Keystone avenue. Killed when his car collided with a taxicab at Cicero and West Grand avenues. Raymond Erickson, 30 years old, 3315 Ozark avenue, the taxi driver, was held by the Cragin police.

John Silakis, 45 years old, 6410 South Whipple street, was arrested last night by county highway police after his car had crashed head on into an automobile at 79th street and Harlem avenue.

CITY INSPECTOR IS DROWNED WHEN AUTO PLUNGES INTO DITCH

Louis Fink, 51 years old, a city inspector, 5150 North Leavitt street, was drowned yesterday when an automobile in which he was riding skidded and was overturned in a ditch in six feet of water along the Dunes highway five miles east of Gary, Ind.

His wife, Nellie, who was driving, and Miss Selma Thompson, 5145 North Leavitt street, who was riding with them, were rescued by Martin Jarbek of Gary, who passed just after the accident. Mrs. Fink and Miss Thompson were taken to the Mercy hospital in Gary, where it was said their condition was not serious.

Mrs. Fink lost control of the machine when it skidded on the gravel shoulder of the highway. Jarbek stopped and plunged into the water. He reached the women first and pulled them to safety, but Fink was drowned before Jarbek could drag him from the overturned car. In the rescue Jarbek lost his purse containing $85.

TRAFFIC JAMS START EARLIER ON RAINY DAY

BY HAL FOUST.

Yesterday afternoon's rain sent motorists homeward bound earlier than usual and the blockades at intersections of important highways started about 4 o'clock, lasting until long after dark.

At 5 o'clock on Waukegan road, just south of West Lake Forest, there was a string of cars eight-tenths of a mile long, each driver stopping and starting repeatedly as he crept south to converge with another string of machines detoured from the Milwaukee road over route 22. It took ten minutes by the watch, and at least an hour by the reckoning of irritated drivers, to cover this eight-tenths of a mile.

Two Lanes Overloaded.

South of the intersections, conditions were little better. The two lane pavement of Waukegan road in Lake county was overloaded. One and seven-tenths miles from the crossing cars were able to increase their speed for the first time to between twenty and twenty-five miles an hour.

A two and a half mile parade passing route 22 on Waukegan road took exactly thirty minutes, with an average speed of five miles an hour.

Similar experiences were encountered by approximately 750,000 Chicago motorists yesterday. An hour on the two lane pavement of Waukegan road demonstrated the hazard of any busy highway having less than four lanes. There was a flivver standing on its nose in a ditch. Two crashes of bumper on bumper, with resultant bent fenders, were witnessed in this short time.

Sedan Forced Off Road.

A small coupe, with Illinois license 921,729, tried to cut around the solid string of machines by driving on the left side of the road. The coupe, to avoid a headon collision, crowded back into line by forcing a small sedan, carrying a large family, off the pavement. The driver of the sedan retained control on the muddy shoulder of the road, and no one was hurt.

The good drivers stayed in line in the jam until the forty foot concrete was reached at the Cook county line. Then thirty-five, forty and forty-five was the average speed.

FIVE ARE DEAD AS A RESULT OF SHOOTING FRAY

Columbia, Tenn., June 15.—(AP)—Five persons were dead today in consequence of a shooting near here last night. Mrs. Josh Dycus, 70, died today in a hospital from a fracture of the skull, caused when she fainted and fell, on hearing the shots that ended the lives of her daughter, her small grandson and her son-in-law.

Parker Steward, 26, his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Steward, 23, and their son, Leo, 5, were shot and killed instantly at their Lewisburg pike home by Jack Williams, 45, a brother-in-law of Steward. Williams then returned to his home and committed suicide.

Steward had operated a store for Williams. The store was destroyed by fire a few nights ago. Officers said the shooting resulted from an argument over proceeds of the fire insurance.

MINNESOTA AND MAINE WILL HOLD PRIMARIES TODAY

New Jersey Voters to Go to Polls Tomorrow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Three hotly contested senatorial primary contests this week promise to contribute important evidence regarding political trends.

Primaries take place tomorrow in Maine and Minnesota and on Tuesday in New Jersey. Nominations for governor as well as for United States senator, representatives, and other officers will be made in Maine and Minnesota.

In Maine Representative Wallace H. White and former Gov. Ralph O. Brewster are contesting for the Republican nomination for the senate seat now held by Senator Arthur R. Gould, who is not a candidate. In Minnesota Senator Thomas D. Schall is opposed by Gov. Theodore Christianson for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Republicans Are Confident.

In New Jersey, where Senator David Baird was appointed to fill the Edge vacancy, is not a candidate for reëlection. Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, former Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, and Representative Franklin W. Fort are in a three-cornered fight for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Whatever happens in the primaries the Republicans figure that they will retain the senatorships in Maine and Minnesota. Election of a Democrat in New Jersey in November is more of a possibility than in either of the other two states.

Rum Is Issue in New Jersey.

Different issues are dominant in the three states. Prohibition is not regarded as an important factor in either Maine or Minnesota, but is the overshadowing issue in New Jersey.

Ambassador Morrow has declared for a modification of prohibition laws, as has former Senator Frelinghuysen. Representative Fort is upholding the 18th amendment and is actively supported by the Anti-Saloon league.

Woodpeckers Drill Hole in Radio Mast, and It Snaps

Washington, Pa., June 15. — [Special.] — Radio station WNBO of this city was off the air two days following the snapping of a 100 foot radio mast three feet thick because a family of woodpeckers had drilled a hole through the big cedar pole.

3 MINNESOTANS VIE FOR SENATE AT POLLS TODAY

2 Oppose Tariff; Third for Dry Repeal.

St. Paul, Minn., June 15.—(AP)—Minnesota Republicans tomorrow will choose a United States senatorial nominee from among three men—two outspoken opponents of the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill passed by congress, and the third espousing only repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

It will bring to a head an old political feud between Senator Thomas D. Schall and Governor Theodore Christianson, leaders of two powerful factions of the party in the state.

Selb Is Wet Candidate.

John F. Selb, a newcomer in state politics, is the third aspirant for the senatorial nomination, and made his appeal entirely to those favoring repeal or modification of national prohibition. His opponents support prohibition but have kept the issue in the background.

In addition Republicans will select nominees for state and congressional offices in preparation for the general election in November. Farmer-Laborites will choose between Knud Wefald and Ernest Lundeen in making their party senatorial nomination. Einar Hoidale, is an unopposed Democratic candidate for the senatorship.

Six Out for Governor.

For governor, Republicans will choose among J. A. A. Burnquist, former governor; Ray P. Chase, state auditor; N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture; Albert Lagerstedt, state legislator; Dr. Eivind Klaveness, a physician, and Paul F. Dehnel, a newspaper editor.

Farmer-Labor voters have a contest for governor between Floyd B. Olson, outstanding leader of the party in the state, and Carl E. Taylor, a farmer who has made no serious campaign. Democrats have only one minor state contest to settle and Edward Indrehus is unopposed for the nomination for governor.

Schall, Blind Senator, Passes Through City

Senator Thomas D. Schall of Minnesota passed through Chicago yesterday en route to his home, where he will cast his vote in the primary election. The blind senator is opposed by Gov. Theodore Christianson for the Republican nomination for senator. Senator Schall was accompanied by a friend, Howard Evans.

Severe Earthquake Rocks Persian Plain and City

TEHERAN, Persia, June 15.—(AP)—A severe earthquake shock was felt on the plain of Salmas yesterday. The tremors also were felt at Tabriz.

SCIENTIST HOPES TO HARNESS GULF STREAM'S POWER

MATANZAS, Cuba, June 15.—(AP)—The visionary plan of a French scientist of harnessing the gulf stream and converting its warmth into energy sufficient to turn the wheels of industry today was declared nearing the stage of a practical demonstration.

After years of costly experiments Prof. George Claude said he has completed a tube 1,700 yards long which he soon will lower into the sea to serve as a pipe line from the gulf stream to a power plant he has erected at his laboratory along the gulf shore here.

Hopes to Get Steam.

His theory is that the gulf stream waters, being subjected to vacuum, will rise to the boiling point and produce steam sufficient to turn great turbines for generating electrical power.

The tube will rest in a channel on the bottom of the sea. A year ago he submerged a tube of smaller proportions and lesser strength, but it was rendered unserviceable by strong undercurrents. Elaborate preparations for sinking the new tube have been made, including the building of a railway track a mile and a quarter long over the water.

The laboratory where Prof. Claude has been conducting his experiments covers nearly an acre. At the rear of the main building he has constructed enormous naves where the mechanical work is being done. He declared the project, when completed, will comprise the largest power plant in existence.

Call Plan Practical.

Recently he submitted a paper on his experiments to the Academy of Science at Paris and was assured his plan was practical. A survey of the project was made yesterday by two engineers of the Cuban department of public works who expressed themselves as elated over its possibilities.

It doesn't make a particle of difference. Even if you own a dozen pairs of slippers, your shoe wardrobe is not complete unless some of them are in this special Bromleigh linen. It not only is the season's most positive vogue, but it is one of the most practical of all summer materials. Cool, comfortable, quickly cleaned and easily dyed to match any frock.

You can't avoid the Spectator mode. You simply CAN'T be well-dressed this summer unless you have at least one pair of Spectator Sports Shoes. In which case, they certainly should be in white with brown Russia Calf.

FAMILY DOCTOR LEARNED THIS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

Dr. Caldwell loved people. His years of practice convinced him many were ruining their health by careless selection of laxatives. He determined to write a harmless prescription which would get at the cause of constipation, and correct it.

Today, the prescription he wrote in 1885 is the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness and lack of appetite or energy showed the bowels of men, women and children were sluggish. It proved successful in even the most obstinate cases; old folks liked it for it never gripes; children liked its pleasant taste. All drugstores today have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in bottles.

HOOVER HURRIES TO SAY HE WILL SIGN TARIFF BILL

Is Anxious to End Doubts for Business.

directed to the interest of the farmer," said the President. "Of the increases, it is stated by the tariff commission that 93.73 per cent are upon products of agricultural origin measured in value, as distinguished from 6.25 per cent upon commodities of strictly non-agricultural origin. The average rate upon agricultural raw materials shows an increase from 38.10 per cent to 48.92 per cent in contrast to dutiable articles of strictly other than agricultural origin which show an average increase of from 31.02 per cent to 34.31 per cent. Compensatory duties have necessarily been given on products manufactured from agricultural raw materials and protective rates added to these in some instances.

"The extent of rate revision as indicated by the tariff commission is that in value of the total imports the duties upon approximately 22.5 per cent have been increased, and 77.5 per cent were untouched or decreased. By number of the dutiable items mentioned in the bill, out of the total of about 3,300 there were about 890 increased, 235 decreased, and 2,170 untouched. The number of items increased was, therefore, 27 per cent of all dutiable items, and compared with 82 per cent of the number of items which were increased in the 1922 revision.

"This tariff law is like all other tariff legislation, whether framed primarily upon a protective or a revenue basis. It contains many compromises between sectional interests and between different industries. No tariff bill has ever been enacted or ever will be enacted under the present system that will be perfect. There are items upon which duties will prove too high and others upon which duties will prove to be too low.

"Certainly no President, with his other duties, can pretend to make that exhaustive determination of the complex facts which surround each of these 3,300 items. That responsibility must rest upon the congress in a legislative rate revision."

Reviews Flexible Provisions.

The President then reviewed the situation respecting the flexible tariff and promised rate adjustments to remove any inequities in the bill.

"On the administrative side I have insisted that there should be created a new basis for the flexible tariff, and it has been incorporated in this law," said the President. "Thereby the means are established for objective and judicial review of these rates upon principles laid down by the congress, free from pressures inherent in legislative action. Thus, the outstanding step of this tariff legislation has been the reorganization of the largely inoperative flexible provision of 1922 into a form which should render it possible to secure prompt and scientific adjustment of serious inequities and inequalities which may prove to have been incorporated in the bill.

"Under the old flexible provisions the task of adjustment was imposed directly upon the President, and the limitations in the law which circumscribed it were such that action was long delayed and it was largely inoperative, although important benefits were brought to the dairying, flax, glass, and other industries through it.

Responsibility on Commission.

"The new flexible provision established the responsibility for revisions upon a reorganized tariff commission, composed of members equally of both parties, as a definite rate making body acting through semi-judicial methods of open hearings and investigation, by which items can be taken up one by one upon direction or upon application of aggrieved parties. Recommendations are to be made to the President, he being authority to promulgate or veto the conclusions of the commission. Such revisions can be accomplished without disturbance to business, as they concern but one item at a time and as the principles laid down assure a protective basis."

NEW U. S. TARIFF WALL ATTACKED IN FRANCE; REPRISALS SUGGESTED

PARIS, June 15.—(AP)—Newspapers commented at length today on the new American tariff.

"At the most important crossroads of their march onward to progress, the United States have chosen the wrong road," says Le Quotidien, organ of the radical Herriot party.

Opening the new chamber of commerce at Cambai, Pierre Etienne Flandin, minister of commerce, made what was interpreted as an official reference to the tariff bill. He reviewed the world economic crisis, admitting that France was suffering in her balance of trade, and remarked: "The mere elevation of the tariff customs wall is too summary a remedy. We oppose it." Then he referred to the scheme for a "United States of Europe" as a possible relief.

"Wounds World," Spain Told.

MADRID, June 15.—(AP)—The newspaper El Debate today discusses the passage of the new American tariff by congress, declaring that "The entire world feels badly wounded by the excessive protectionism which north American legislators wish to establish." There has been considerable agitation in Spain for reprisals against American products if the tariff becomes law.

EX-AFGHAN KING SEIZES HIDDEN JEWELS BY COUP

Secret of How Amanullah Got Gems Revealed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KANDAHAR, Afghanistan, June 15.—In the steel vaults of an Italian bank in Rome are kept some of the most valuable jewels in the world—huge pearls, emeralds and diamonds, golden crowns, ruby studded bows and arrows, and emerald hilted daggers. Only a couple of years ago these gems were lying hidden in underground vaults in the amir's palaces at Kandahar and Kabul. These were secretly removed from Afghanistan when King Amanullah and the queen left the throne because of a revolt among mountain tribes.

One of the secrets of former King Amanullah's resumption of his rule in Kandahar after his abdication and the proclamation of his brother as king can now be revealed. The jewels in the underground vaults of the palace could not be touched by anybody except the amir himself. As Amanullah had abdicated he could not enter the vaults. The family, which had the hereditary honor of guarding the amir's treasures in the palace, would rather have died than reveal the concealed entrance to the vaults. To a former king, therefore, there was no entry to the treasure chamber.

Takes Throne to Get Gems.

The ruler consulted with his confidants and, as his brother had also abdicated after his two-day regime, Amanullah declared he had resumed his throne, and his flag was hoisted from the flagstaff of the amir's palace. The usual Durbar was then held, after which Khwaja Mohi-ud-din, the treasurer, revealed his secret to Amanullah, and the chamber was opened.

It is rumored that in accordance with traditional history that some lives were sacrificed at the entrance to the vaults in order to propitiate the "Guardian Djinns."

An Afghan officer, on duty in the palace at that time but who is now a refugee in Europe, has revealed how one moonlight night, a few trusted servants brought the treasures to the king's private room and, amid the flickering lights of candles, the 1,000 year old treasure was counted, recorded and put away in iron boxes.

Three Men Lift Crown.

"One golden crown, studded with 11 diamonds and having a huge emerald glistening on top, required three men to lift it," this refugee said. "There were Hindu inscriptions on it, stating the date on which it had been presented to the deity of Sorati Somnath. It was but a part of the 500 camel loads of loot removed from the Somnath temple by Mahund of Gazin in 1100 A. D. There was also the golden armor worn by Emperor Prittiwiraj, the last reigning emperor of Delhi, who was defeated in the battle of Panipat in the fifteenth century."

WOMEN OF INDIA END SECLUSION TO AID REVOLT

Tear Off Veils to Enter Freedom Fight.

CALCUTTA, India, June 15.—(AP)—Followers of Mahatma Gandhi in his civil disobedience campaign today proclaimed that "Purdah," the seclusion of women, is doomed, since women have left the privacy of their homes to aid in the struggle for independence.

They exulted today in the fact that Indian women, who for centuries preferred the seclusion of their homes, had been given what was considered a new world status by the Simon commission, which took particular cognizance of women's part in the disobedience struggle. Spokesmen said women had shaken off the "Purdah" chrysalis, enabling them to see and help in the Gandhi fight with unveiled eyes.

New Appeal to Women.

In furtherance of the movement Gandhi's subalterns today issued a new appeal, as follows:

"Away with ancient Purdah! Come out of the kitchens quick! Fling the pots and pans rattling into corners! Tear the cloth from your eyes and see the new world. Let your husbands and brothers cook for themselves. There is much work to be done to make India a nation!"

The activities of the women in Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, and other centers will soon be concentrated upon making a success of the Nationalist boycott against British materials. These include chiefly clothes, household articles and tobacco. Simultaneously they will encourage Indians to use homemade fabrics, the women taking a leading part in picketing shops selling foreign dress goods.

Advocate Dry India.

Various other movements are designified to deprive the government of revenue. One of the women's themes will be advocacy of a dry India. Following Gandhi's lead, they will appeal to men and women to cease drinking grog or toddy made from the juice of the palm. They will also urge the destruction of toddy palms throughout the country. The drawing of fermented toddy and its sale, controlled by the government, and license fees and excise duties form a prolific source of income for the government.

Women in the independence movement have been credited with stopping football games between Indians and Europeans on Calcutta's great open space in the city's center known as Maidan. Thousands formerly assembled there evenings to watch the games.

Because of efforts made by women pickets and women members of the civil disobedience committee, the Bengali clubs withdrew from the Monsoon league. All games they missed were canceled, the women contending that Indians should do picketing instead of playing football now.

Women Point to Past Records.

The Women's Indian Association of Madras considers the independence campaign the antithesis of the wars of the past. They proudly point to the resignation of a woman doctor, Muthulakshmi Ammal, from her seat in the Madras legislative council, and from her office as deputy president of the council, as a protest against Gandhi's imprisonment. The association also boasts that a woman, Sarojini Naidu, poetess, orator, "peacemaker of India, its ambassadress to three continents," led the biggest raid on the British salt monopoly.

ITALIAN INFLUX IN SUGAR FIELDS IRKS AUSTRALIANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, New South Wales, June 15.—Reports from Milan state that the Australians playing in the Davis cup zone matches against Italy were subjected to disconcerting demonstrations, particularly when it looked as if they were in a position to win. It is not believed here that this was due so much to Latin temperament as a registration of Italian annoyance over the supposed unfair treatment of Italians in the sugar fields of Queensland.

Australians regard with disfavor the growing Italian predominance in farm labor in the sugar cane fields, the British being displaced altogether in some instances.

The labor union is embarrassed, as it has many Italian laborers among its members and hesitates to interfere. Trouble is expected. There may be a mill strike and there may be bloodshed.

YANK STUDENTS BOYCOTT LAVISH PARIS CLUBHOUSE

Stay in Garrets, "Where One Can Have Fun."

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 15.—The sumptuous American students' home in Cite Universitaire, which was hopefully intended to replace the traditional dingy garrets on the left bank of the Seine as a haven for young intellectuals abroad, remains virtually deserted more than a month after its opening, due to the objections of the students to what they consider the monastic mode of life prevailing there.

By monastic life the students mean that drinking is frowned upon and the residents are strictly forbidden to entertain members of the opposite sex in their rooms. Furthermore, a young artist recently rented a studio, only to find that he was not permitted to have a model, so he left the next day. The word spread like wildfire around Montparnasse, and the home is boycotted by the artists.

Artists Boycott Home.

Although every week a new boatload of students arrives, the home stays empty, and scores of artists, who were on the point of flocking there, settled back in the drab, but "broad-minded" French hotels.

The situation is distressing to the Carnegie Foundation and other charities which sponsored the home's erection in order to provide American students with clean, cheap lodging with all American comforts—and also to steer them away from the city's pitfalls. The students' home is a five story brick and stone building, facing the greenery of Parc Montsouris and flanked by student homes of other nations, which compose the Cite Universitaire. It is decorated within in tasteful modern style, has luxurious lounging rooms and spacious halls.

No Parties Allowed.

Despite all these attractions a visit to the home today disclosed the spacious hallways empty, the corridors as silent as a tomb, and the row of superb studios vacant. The boys and girls are segregated in different wings of the building and the students resent this. They would rather stay in the dingy garrets, where they can throw a little party now and then and invite their girl friends up to polish off a bottle of brandy, which they cannot afford to drink at the bars.

So were the feelings of the students summed up by a little group of owlish looking, spectacled youths, who were sitting mournfully in the main parlor reading text books of philosophy.

"We do not mind it ourselves because we can study, but we understand how the others feel," one said. "This is a gorgeous place, but it is too much like the Y. M. C. A. back home. What's the use of a nice room if you can't throw a party?"

James Newell of Philadelphia, the lone artist who occupied the top floor for 24 hours, today gave an account of the affair.

Janitor Spies Model.

Newell, a fresco artist, had a model come to his room to pose for a cartoon of a large mural which he was painting. He was getting his brushes and easel and the girl was disrobing on the balcony when there was a knock on the door and the janitor entered.

"Have you a girl in your room?" he demanded.

Then he glanced up on the balcony and caught a gleam of white flesh and the flash of pink lingerie and ran out. The director was summoned, who refused to listen to Newell's indignant remonstrance, so the artist packed up and left.

"It is an outrage," he declared. "Americans have no right to try and impose American puritanism on Paris. It is a farce to have studios for artists and then not permit them to use models. Any one who wants to go wrong has got plenty of opportunities in this town without going to the trouble of hiring a model for the purpose. Besides, just try to get fresh with the average model and see what happens."

Intellectual circles of Montparnasse are very indignant, and a number of leading artists are planning to make a public protest

WILLIAMSON COUNTY BOASTS 37 VETERANS WHO FOUGHT IN 1861

Marion, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—Williamson county, Ill., believes that it has the largest number of civil war veterans of any southern Illinois county. A checkup after Memorial day revealed thirty-eight, but one died last week, reducing the number to thirty-seven.

MURDER TRIAL OF U. S. DRY AGENT TO OPEN TODAY

Second to Face Jury for Double Killing.

Shawnee, Okla., June 15.—[Special.]—The trial of W. W. "Snake" Thomason starts in the federal court at Guthrie tomorrow.

Thomason is charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of James C. Harris and Oscar Lowery, tenant farmers of Pottawatomie county last July 4 during a dry raid on their farm in which no liquor was found. Charges were first filed against Thomason in the state court, but the federal court immediately assumed jurisdiction, on the grounds that all federal officers have the privilege of a federal court trial.

Roy St. Lewis, federal district attorney, will defend Thomason. Jeff D. Harris, cousin of Thomason, was tried in the state court and sentenced to fifty years in prison for his part in the shooting.

Thomason, with three posse men, stopped at the Lowery farm. Jeff Harris shot Lowery at the house. James Harris ran to a ravine followed by Thomason and Jeff Harris. The shooting occurred at the bottom of the ravine, after the farmer had learned the men were officers and turned back to surrender. He said in a dying statement that he had his hands above his head when he met the two men and was begging them not to shoot when the shot was fired. He did not know the officers, and failed to identify the one who did the actual shooting before he died.

Soon after the shooting indictments were returned against 102 residents of Pottawatomie county, charging conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law. More than half the persons indicted were never arrested, thirty pleaded guilty, and eight, including Frank Fox, former sheriff, were convicted.

Randall Pitman, county attorney, who will be in charge of the prosecution of Thomason, was indicted, but was acquitted. Pitman has charged federal officials with indicting him in an effort to force him to relent in his prosecution of Thomason.

Jeff Harris has been called as a witness for the state. He had worked with Thomason for many years in Oklahoma, but did not carry a commission from the federal government. He became bitter when the federal judge refused him trial in the federal court, and split with Thomason. At the trial of Harris, Thomason refused to testify for his former posse man.

35 IOWANS ACCUSED OF CATTLE SWINDLE WILL BE ARRAIGNED

Fairfield, Ia., June 15.—(AP)—County officials today made final preparations for the arraignment tomorrow of 35 men indicted Friday on charges in connection with cattle sales.

Half of the group presented themselves to Sheriff Lane Stansberry yesterday but were released on their promise to appear tomorrow. The rest, prevented from reaching here by heavy rains, were permitted to postpone their appearance until Monday.

The men, nearly all cattle salesmen, are accused of having carried on extensive swindling operations through the sale of cattle culled from the southwest ranges and the Kansas City stockyards and which they represented to purchasers as good grade feeding stock.

40 FLEE RUSSIA; DRIFT 8 DAYS AT SEA IN OPEN BOAT

SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 15.—(AP)—Terribly exhausted after drifting eight days on the Black sea, 40 refugees from Russia have arrived at the Bulgarian port of Varna, said a dispatch received here today.

The party, which included 15 women and 4 children, said they had left Cherson, Russia, in a sailing boat. They lost their bearings during the voyage, which is between 300 and 400 miles. They refused to say why they had fled from Russia.

THE PLAIN FACTS OF DISFRANCHISEMENT.

While the Illinois legislature has been in a recess of the special session the United States census has furnished it with some pertinent figures. Before the legislature took its recess the figures could be pretty well guessed at but they might not have had the impressiveness which they now have. They are as follows:

Population of Illinois	7,640,000
Population of Cook county	3,989,069
Population outside Cook county	3,650,931

One Cook county district is not complete and the counties of Kane, Henry and Fulton are missing, but otherwise the figures represent the final tabulation. These facts have just become available for the consideration of the legislature and the people of Cook county. To them are directly related some well known figures:

Number of Illinois senatorial districts	51
Number of Cook county districts	19
Number of districts outside Cook county	32
Number of Cook county legislators	76
Number of legislators outside Cook county	128

The state constitution requires the redistricting of the state after every federal census upon the basis of population shown by it. After the 1910 and 1920 censuses this was not done. The constitution was nullified. If its command were now obeyed Cook county would have twenty-seven districts and 108 legislators; the rest of Illinois would have twenty-four districts and 96 legislators. Unless the constitution is obeyed Cook county will be deprived of eight districts. It will be deprived unlawfully of eight senators and twenty-four members of the house of representatives. These eight seats in the senate and twenty-four in the house will be unlawfully filled by downstate voters. They will have no authority or sanction of law. Every roll call will be a fraud and cheat. The votes are stolen.

Continued nullification of the constitution is an unlawful revision of the American system of representative government. It is an overthrow of the republican form and there is no use blinking at it or trying to explain it. What is created is a rural autocracy without consent of law. It is the substitution of a scheme of franchise restriction for the full franchise rights granted by the constitution in the system of representative government.

It is the operation of a doctrine that citizens shall be classified according to place of residence, occupation and method of life. Rural inhabitants shall be granted more than their franchise rights, the metropolitan population less. The dwindling communities where activity and enterprise are less shall have control of legislation. The metropolitan area shall be subjected to it. The city which attracts the greatest numbers of the most alert people because of its advantages shall be deprived of its right in law making.

There isn't any arguable question about it. It is an overthrow of government as violent as if the squirearchy had been able to do it by force of arms. It is the suppression of the Whig by the Tory and lacks nothing in effect because there is no monarchy supporting it and profiting from it.

The Cook county protest is as old as the history of English constitutional liberty and as the traditions of representative government. The abuse cannot continue. Cook county cannot accept new forms of taxation until it is given back its rights. In the end if driven to extreme measures it will use its votes to seize and keep the administrative government. It will send a proconsul to Springfield with the veto of harmful legislation passed by an unlawful assembly.

WASHINGTON'S CLASSIC FORMULA.

A large number of new, clean buildings are announced for Washington, D. C., and Pennsylvania avenue will sacrifice some of its grocery stores, Chinese laundries and hot dog stands in favor of a Supreme court building and other serene piles in the Washington manner. They will be neat and thrifty looking, done in Cass Gilbert's best imitation of the marble classics, and the avenue will be considerably cleaned up, which is something, but the buildings otherwise will probably produce no thrills or stimulation.

Architecturally there is little hope for Washington, and none otherwise. Though the city as a whole with its decent greenery, its gracious avenues, its clean, white marbles, has a repose that no other modern city of America finds, it can repeat in detail only the old formula of Parthenon on Parthenon, dreamed of in stucco at Chicago in 1893, and built more solidly in Washington through many official years. They are nice Parthenons but they are transplanted beauties, and the strong life of America and its originality is not, and perhaps cannot be, in them.

Washington must be dull architecturally no doubt, though the city as a whole is beautiful. For creative work in building the world must turn first to Chicago, than to New York, then to a few other centers here and abroad. Nowhere perhaps is work of such distinction, power and beauty being done.

THE NEW TARIFF BILL.

The tariff bill has passed the senate and the house. In one respect the passage of the bill is a cause for rejoicing: one important element contributing to the present business depression is removed. Importers and manufacturers know now where they stand and can lay their plans and make their commitments accordingly. Only a vast indifference in congress and especially the senate to the economic welfare of the nation could have permitted the tariff debate to drag on as it did, over sixteen months, during much of which the country has been in a state of industrial depression.

The bill differs from its predecessors in a number of particulars but most notably in its increase in the duties on agricultural products. The effect of these higher rates in increasing the purchasing power of the farmer will be watched closely. If they serve their purpose, a direct and easily applied method of farm relief is at hand to be employed as needed.

Except for the agricultural duties, the enactment of which might have been postponed, there was no particular reason, either in politics or economics, for enacting a tariff bill. Mr. Hoover inherited a Republican tariff from his predecessors and the country was not demanding a change. The President yielded, unwisely, to Mr. Borah's insistence on behalf of the radicals that he call a special session and was rewarded for his pains with a troublesome congress, an added economic disturbance, and finally with the adverse votes of Mr. Borah and his radical colleagues. The very meager accomplishment in the bill has been more than canceled by the political and economic price paid for its enactment.

NATIONAL FORESTS IN ILLINOIS.

For lumber close to the market, for recreation of a great and congested population, for withdrawal of marginal and submarginal farm lands from competition in an oversupplied agricultural market and for many other reasons having to do with drainage, floods, the water table, soil erosion and the preservation of wild life, Illinois should be reforested. From four to six million acres of land in Illinois are practicably adapted to forest growth.

Cook county has led the way with a fine system of county forests which already have more than paid their cost in health, beauty and recreation. The state of Illinois with hesitation has followed, and several small state forests may be found growing on Illinois soil. These state parks and forests should be increased in number and extent. A third and more hopeful way to Illinois' reforestation lies in the establishment of national forests. If investigation shows that Illinois has areas of land suitable to the establishment of one or more units of national forest, steps should be taken towards their creation.

The United States forest service is friendly and efficient. Its habit is to make a study of the state forest resources with a view to the establishment of national forests within our boundaries.

THE PEST OF BILLBOARDS.

Billboards are ruining the American countryside, and the Outdoor Advertising Association of America, worried somewhat at protests, assures the public of its willingness to coöperate in bringing beauty back to the natural scene. In former years this amiable intention has been shown and always will be shown, no doubt, when public irritation at the defacement of a lovely land gets dangerous. A twenty minute drive from almost any town, however, will show that nothing much is done. The old howlers are still there. The hillsides and the meadows are plastered thickly over with signs and bills as usual.

From these virtuous assurances nothing much will ever come. For a tip, averaging $25 each, 400,000 land owners have let their roadside lands to signs, and the billboard pests, at present almost beyond control, will flourish unabated. The $10,000,000 paid for billboard leases brings a damage to the countryside, to the communities and towns, to America as a whole, of many hundred millions. They cheapen and disgrace the towns where they are clustered.

Some day America may be more conscious of the damage. When that day comes the billboards will be gone.

The Other Side

THE JINGO CHORUS.

[New York World.]

One might say of the jingoes in all countries what Mr. Dooley once said of two presidential candidates: That they are as far apart as the two poles and as much alike. The big-navy interests of the whole world do not like the treaty because they do not like any treaty of limitation. It is the principle of limitation, not the terms of the treaty, which they object to. The American dissenters have been able to drum up two objections: The first, that three cruisers which may be built about five years hence must mount 6 inch and not 8 inch guns; the second, that Japan, which now has a ratio of 83.3 per cent in big cruisers and 86.6 per cent in small cruisers, has agreed to build no more big cruisers until her ratio of built and building is reduced to 60 per cent and to slow down in small cruisers until her ratio is reduced to about 70 per cent.

It is impossible to believe that men who pick such reasons to object are really objecting for those reasons. The truth is that they do not dare to avow their real reason for objecting, which is that they do not wish to be bound by treaty. They see, and they see truly, that the treaty established a principle which is far more significant than its concrete application in the next five years. They see that at the next conference, which will be in 1935, the three naval powers will almost certainly begin to do to the auxiliary fleets what they have now done, after eight years of the Washington treaty, to capital ships: They will slow up replacement and thus start the reduction of armaments. They see that if the principle of limitation becomes firmly established the propaganda for armaments will be strictly confined to the purely domestic question of how fast to build the legally authorized fleet. The treaty, and not the sky, will be the limit of armament.

DRIVE THEM TO IT.

"Do you hear much of it on the road?"

"FULL OF ELECTRICITY."

MANY people think they are "full of electricity" and some of them brag about it. Possibly some think they are in danger of burning or blowing up. All of them think themselves different from the general run of folks.

Maybe they are "full of electricity." Nobody knows. Maybe the vital process is electrical. Nobody knows. Maybe the heart makes electricity as it beats, or the lungs make it as they draw in and blow out air. Maybe every nerve impulse is electrical and, possibly, every reaction of every cell is comparable with the action of an electric battery. There is considerable basis for all those theories and speculations. But if everybody is that way it follows that no individual has any corner on the electricity. There is no reason either for bragging or for being afraid.

Getting down to cases. At least so far as my evidence goes, the man who thinks himself peculiar has noticed that he "sparks" when he touches something. Most of those who write me say they notice this especially in winter. They say it happens indoors. They "spark" more than other people. Nothing has happened, but is anything likely to do so? Does it mean that they are different from other people? That they are more magnetic, have more vigor, or are superior in any way? Here is all there is to it: They are just like other folks. The difference is in the environment. The air is drier, or warmer and drier, where they are than it is around the other fellow. The ventilation is poorer. There is less fresh air. It is worse in winter because at that season indoor air is dry and hot. It is more noted among people who work and live indoors because of the quality of indoor air.

It is worse on dry days, and not much in evidence on rainy and foggy days. And that is about the whole story. The peculiarity is not in the man; it is in his environment. If he drags his feet on the carpet, or has some other slouchy habit, he may "crackle" a little more than the other fellow, but beyond that individuality does not go. Then the tendency to "spark" or "crackle" means nothing more than that the ventilation is poor, especially that the air is too dry. In certain industries they know this, and for the benefit of the industry they moisten the air and thus prevent "sparking."

"SYMPTOMS" OF CANCER.

S. M. G. writes:

1. What are the symptoms of cancer?
2. Does it start with a sore tongue?

REPLY.

1. There are no symptoms of cancer, as such. At least not at the start. The symptoms result from the location.
2. Cancer of the tongue may cause pain, soreness and ulceration. Cancer elsewhere would not.

NERVOUSNESS THE CAUSE.

M. C. writes: I have a daughter who twitches her right eye. It makes me very nervous to see her. What can I do for this?

REPLY.

She inherits nervousness from you. Punishment cures some of these cases. Rest cures others. Some call for psychotherapy; some for surgery.

LIVING WITHOUT SLEEP.

M. J. S. writes: How long can one live without sleep?

REPLY.

About 100 hours.

MOST OF THEM CANNOT.

M. R. writes: Can a person with diabetes eat rye, whole wheat, and graham bread?

REPLY.

CURE OF BOW LEGS.

Mrs. M. H. writes:

1. How can bow legs be cured in a person 24 years old?
2. I am 24, 5 feet 4 inches tall, and weigh 96 pounds. How much should I weigh?

REPLY.

1. By operation.
2. About 128 pounds. A bowlegged woman should weigh a little more than that. Height is not measured around the curves.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

NO MORE SMOKE.

Chicago, June 6.—[Friend of the People.]—I live on West Oak street and the people next door have a chimney on their house that discharges its smoke right outside my bedroom window. Is this permitted in Chicago? If not, may we have some relief? C. W.

Your smoke complaint with reference to nuisance on West Oak street has been investigated and this department issued an order to the owner of the building to "abate nuisance of smoke, soot and noxious gases to residents of immediate vicinity, forthwith." This department will follow up this complaint until the nuisance is entirely abated. FRANK A. CHAMBERS,
Deputy Smoke Inspector.

PIGEON POTPIE.

Chicago, June 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can anything be done about our neighbor's pigeons? I am trying to raise a few vegetables and flowers, but the pigeons pick them as fast as they come up. Mrs. P. B.

We know of no satisfactory legal remedy. We hear that some persons pursue with apparent satisfaction, under such provocation, the nonlegal remedy of quietly catching and eating enough of the marauding fowls to balance their damage.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

YES, YES.

Chicago, June 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a divorce be secured, if suing on charges of desertion, if the other party cannot be located and handed the summons?

2. When a young man has a stepfather and is known by his stepfather's name, in marrying would it be legal to be married by that name?

For instance, if the man's name by his real father was Roy Smith, but he is known as Roy Brown [Brown being his stepfather's name], would it be legal to marry under the name of Roy Smith Brown—as he wishes to retain his stepfather's name? A. B.

Yes, to both questions.

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. R. L. L.

A NEW SHIRT FOR GENTS—

There's a new shirt style out for men. Usually the gals start all the innovations in dress, but this time the boys are doing it. Yes, and we've got one of 'em, too, but we haven't had the nerve to wear it. We know a dozen more who fell for the new style, and some of them are wearing it, but even on the hottest days they keep their coats tightly buttoned so that nobody can see what they've gone and done. The new style is a shirt made to be worn all on the outside, nothing tucked in. The tailor says they'll be lots cooler and more comfortable than the old style.

Well, maybe; but if all the men in the U. S. A. adopt the idea, will it do any good? Look at the Russians. Long ago philosophers said if they'd only tuck their shirts inside their pants they might get somewhere in the world. They insisted on letting their shirts flutter in the breeze, and red revolution started all over the place. Look at the Chinese. They wouldn't tuck their shirts in, either, and there's nothing but war and trouble out there. But maybe it's a changing world. Certainly, we can't say that conditions are perfectly joyous and happy in the United States right now, and those who have shirts are wearing 'em not only tucked in but held down with both belts and galluses.

Whether wearing the shirt with its tails fluttering in the breeze is going to do any good or not is a question. It may have no effect on the prohibition question, farm relief, the tariff, or the London peace treaty. But at least it's worth trying—or is it? We think maybe we shall wear our shirt down the Boul Mich Wednesday afternoon, parade forming at the corner of State and Goethe streets at two o'clock in the afternoon. And maybe we won't.

EVE IN EXILE.

Eve in exile from her garden,
Weary with an endless pain,
Took her burden to the birch trees
Drooping in endless rain;
Found the velvet of the birch tree
Soothing to her tired cheek,
Told her heartbreak to the birch tree
Leaning near a drowsy creek.

Eve in exile, when the moonglow
Came to drive away the mist,
Smiled to find her heart less laden,
Smiled as one by dryad kissed;
Tall beside the quiet water,
Soft-reflected in the stream,
Eve, in exile grown resplendent,
Whitely leans to trace a dream!

This to seekers in the wildwood:
Softly walk where birch trees grow!
Leaning birches now are symbols—
Eve in exile wished it so.

COLORADO PETE.

IT'S ANNOUNCED that beginning Sept. 1 an air line company will take anybody from Chicago to Newark, N. J., in 6½ hours. But great jumping catamounts, who in heck wants to go to Newark, N. J.?

WHEREVER, speaking of New Jersey, where the sacred eighteenth is on trial for its life, we shall all watch proceedings there tomorrow with very great interest. If Col. Lindbergh's father-in-law should be nominated—well, well, stranger things have happened, my dear; yes, indeed!

LADIES may cry "peace, peace!" but there is no peace! Alice Longworth wouldn't go to the Brazilian ambassador's dinner Saturday night in Washington because it was reported that the President would take Dolly Gann down to the banquet table. Which was what happened. Now the war is on again and Washington society must choose one side or the other. Under which flag, Bezonian, the Alice Blue or the Gann Green?

IT'S MERELY A SUGGESTION, OF COURSE—

"We women," said Mrs. Sippel, reelected president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, "are constantly shaping industrial and commercial policies. A great statesman sitting near me at a dinner in Washington asked if I realized that the present depression in the textile industry would be relieved by the addition of two inches on the length of women's gowns." Well, Mrs. Sippel, do you know what we would have said to that great statesman at the dinner party in Washington if he had made that remark to us? We would have said very quaintly but very firmly, "Horsefeathers, old top, horsefeathers!" Certainly, Mrs. Sippel, you have our permission to use this reply if you meet that bird at another dinner party.

WAIL.

The things I had were fairly sad,
But what I have is worse.
Dabbling in love, they say, is bad;
To concentrate's a curse!

SHEILA STUART.

LAGNIAPPE.

AND FRANK J. LOESCH, the w. k. attorney, says for everybody to boycott the gangsters. Frank, we hereby resolve to do just that. And in the future if one of those gangsters steps out of a dark alley on a lonesome street at midnight and sticks a gat into our midriff, we shall say to him, "Fellow, we refuse to have any trade or traffic with such as you. Avaunt!" Yes, we will, lykell, lykell, lykell!

YES, INDEED, we should have a last line today to cheer the customers. True, but a last line would use up white paper and black ink. Granted, however, a last line to the column is always customary and follows a long precedent which should not be broken. Admitted, but what is said in the last line might as well be said in a first line. Ah, but, on the other hand, many people turn eagerly to the last line and will be grievously disappointed at not finding it. Even so, but the first shall be last and the last shall be first! Doggone! We've got to quit reading what's being printed about the proposed traction settlement; we're getting that way, too. R. H. L.

PROHIBITION

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 16, 1865.

THE NEWS.—Our Cairo dispatches bring us interesting news from Texas. Brownsville has been occupied by the Union forces under Gen. Brown without resistance, the rebels led by Gen. Slaughter retreating, leaving behind them a large quantity of stores and selling their small arms and batteries to the Mexicans. The rebel force was completely demoralized and about the time of leaving had their commanding general under arrest and kept him there until he paid them, and then retreated, contrary to his orders.

WASHINGTON.—It is reported by passengers arriving in the steamer from Fairfax Court House that the monuments recently erected in Bull Run battlefield and dedicated on June 11 have been destroyed by rebels. Gen. Gamble's men, who built the monuments, swear that if the reports are true they will destroy every trace of civilization within 20 miles of the battlefield.

WASHINGTON.—President Johnson's daughter, Mrs. Patterson, is expected to arrive here next week to take charge of the executive mansion.

WASHINGTON.—About one-third of Hancock's corps have deserted. Most of the men enlisted received bounties ranging from $800 to $2,300.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Grant and staff have returned to Washington from their western tour. Gen. Grant will remain here until he completes his report.

CHICAGO.—Miss Mary C. Browning and E. P. Griswold of Chicago were married on June 13 at the residence of the bride's father, Thomas Browning, M. D., in Kalamazoo, Mich., by the Rev. Mr. Hemenway.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 16, 1900.

PHILADELPHIA.—Dolliver's boom for the nomination for Vice President at the Republican national convention, as the running mate of President McKinley, has actually developed here under the care of Congressman Grosvenor, Controller Charles G. Dawes, and Mint Director Roberts, all trusted officials of the administration. "Tim" Woodruff's boom is here in charge of himself. He is not considered seriously. Fairbanks is mentioned, but doesn't want it. Senator Platt and Gov. Roosevelt of New York are due to arrive tomorrow.

LONDON.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express says: "The foreign ministers are virtually prisoners in Peking and their position, should the Chinese troops attack the legations in force, would be hopeless. One hundred thousand Chinese soldiers are massed outside of Peking, prepared to resist to the last the advance of the foreign relief column." From Tientsin comes a report that the mixed forces may seize the Taku forts at once. Yokohama reports that the murder of the Japanese chancellor of legation at Pekin by the Boxers has aroused keen feeling in Japan. The press urges the government to exact reparation. The British government is considering whether a substantial force should not be sent to China from South Africa.

JUNE 16, 1920.

DULUTH, Minn.—A mob of 5,000 persons stormed police headquarters, took possession of six Negroes held in connection with an attack on a white girl and lynched three of them. The other three were "acquitted" at a "trial" held by the mob leaders in the police station. Further trouble was not anticipated, although National Guard troops have been ordered here from Fort Snelling.

NEW YORK.—Declaring the murder of Joseph B. Elwell the "most mysterious in a generation," District Attorney Edward Swann took personal charge of the investigation of the killing. Police said there is not a clew, but pointed out that Elwell was a notorious philanderer; that his conquests in the smart social set in which he moved were many, and that when away from "good society," he was not averse to plumbing the pleasure possibilities of the demimonde. But to the "cherchez la femme" of the police Elwell's intimates ask: "Which one?"

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full name and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FOR THE ORDINANCE.

Chicago, June 11.—As one of the army of wage earners whose income for the support of their families depends upon normal conditions in industry, it is difficult for me to understand why any one should be opposed to the new traction ordinance.

With 75,000 building trades workers in Chicago out of employment, surely everybody must realize the seriousness of the local situation. Approval of the traction ordinance offers one ray of hope that better times may be ahead. Surely the expenditure of $65,000,000 in construction of extensions and equipment during the next three years would be a boon to Chicago workers, as well as all fines of industry and commerce.

All of us know that Chicago is badly in need of better local transportation. The present ordinance may not be perfect. But it does offer a constructive program which only awaits the approval of the voters to be launched. Those who stand in the way of this program, it seems to me, are no less than obstructionists betraying the best interests of Chicago for their own selfish ends.

Chicago has forged ahead in the past, despite the forces of obstruction and delay. It will continue to grow and develop. But it is high time that the voters plainly indicated that they want no more of such tactics. Approval of the traction ordinance on July 1 by a large majority will serve that purpose.

CITIZEN.

WHERE WERE THE POLICE?

Chicago, June 13.—Last night, June 12, about 8 o'clock I noticed smoke coming from a building on Wabash avenue near Congress street. I drove to Congress, to State, to Van Buren, to Wells, to Monroe, and to the fire department on Franklin near Randolph. In that distance neither my wife nor myself could find one policeman. I reported the circumstance to the fire department and they immediately took care of it, as I have since proved. Please, where were the policemen? W. S. GERTS.

INTERESTING LETTERS.

Chicago, June 12.—I did not find one of the Interesting Letters in THE TRIBUNE today. I am lamenting the possibility they may have finished. To those of us who love people, travel, history and geography, they have been a feature to applaud heartily.

I, myself, rather regretted that certain delightful places that I have visited haven't been heard from. I have in mind Clovelly, Bibury, the Lizard, Trois Islet, Nevis, Oporto, the Casentino, Andermatt, Como, Nurileya, Miajima, Nikko, Taormina, Ithaca and others. [As the spelling is from memory, I am willing to be forgiven if at fault.]

I am wondering if later on we could have as a feature letters from the most beautiful places in the world—by consensus of opinion. If this sounds good to you, I could get letters by writing to my fellow members of the International Legion, which, as you know, is a correspondence club. I should enjoy doing my part of it.

From the outside I say TRIBUNE readers would appreciate our efforts. I read not count the number of times I have heard well traveled Chicagoans speak in the highest praise of Interesting Letters. JOHN RUST.

THE GALAPAGOS ISLANDS

Chicago, June 10.—Just a few words in regard to your editorial, "How to Buy the Galapagos" printed in the last Sunday edition.

Those islands are a natural Eden for the most varied living species of animals on the planet. Though of little importance at present; they will become valuable as a commercial focus or as a coaling station, since the group lies almost in the path of vessels from the Panama canal to Australia.

The group consists of sixteen islands and a number of rock islets. The climate is tropical, but modified somewhat by the cool waters of the Humboldt current, which sweeps throughout the group. Much land is enclosed for agricultural use. On Chatam [one of the group] is a sugar plantation with a factory for refining sugar and distilling alcohol. Three million pounds of sugar are produced and if there were a market this quantity could be greatly increased. Henequen plants are set out to furnish material for the needed bags and twine. Herds of cattle run at will and fishing is of importance.

All these facts are perfectly known by the republic of Ecuador as well as that the neighborhood of those islands to the Canal Zone and its location on the line of the earth will always attract the attention not only of scientists but likewise of more than one of the powerful nations who have before now approached my government with the purpose of acquiring those islands for a good naval station. A proposition to lease the islands to the United States government in 1911 was rejected by Ecuador, so that this will give you an exact idea how my country cares for those islands and that we Ecuadoreans do not think that through a "low price and easy treaty" can be resigned our rights to Galapagos islands. A. CAMPANA,
Vice Consul of Ecuador.

CHICAGO'S FUTURE.

Chicago, June 12.—With political corruption and racketeering wiped out by concerted newspaper enterprise; with our transportation problem settled July 1, and the finest metropolitan system in the world under way; with the benefits soon to be had for domestic customers and industrial users by the introduction of natural gas here; and with a World's Fair in 1933—all added to the fact that Chicago's population is already growing faster numerically than any other city in the world—Chicago soon will be, more obviously than ever, the greatest city on earth. FELIX B. STRETCKMANN.

DEAD IN TEXAS STORM, FLOODS; RANCHES RUINED

Many Are Forced to Flee Their Homes.

Dallas, Tex., June 15.—(AP)—Nine persons were dead tonight and another, an aged grandmother, was missing as a result of storms and sudden floods in west Texas during the last three days.

The bodies of Oscar Tidwell, his wife and their two children, Oscar, Jr., 8, and Edna Bell, 17, were recovered Saturday from the waters of Salt creek, in Knox county, after a sudden freshet caused by a heavy rain washed away their home near Benjamin. The body of Mrs. W. M. Gilliland, 80, Mrs. Tidwell's mother, was recovered from Lake creek.

Mrs. Morris Durham and Mrs. Cora Whitaker were killed when struck by a bolt of lightning during a severe storm at Lamesa last night. Five others in the home of Mrs. Durham were injured.

Lindsey Phillips, 15, Kirven, was drowned Saturday when his automobile ran off the road into a creek. J. C. Lee of Luling was drowned Friday night when his automobile was swept from a creek crossing near San Angelo.

Flood waters of Threadgill creek wrecked the historic old Langes mill in the Doss community.

BRITISH RUSHES NAVY TO KEEP ORDER IN MALTA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 15.—That the situation in Malta is more serious than first believed is indicated by a statement issued tonight announcing that the third destroyer flotilla, comprising Great Britain's latest destroyers, has left Gibraltar for Malta.

Lord Strickland, prime minister of Malta, who recently narrowly escaped assassination, is at present en route to London in a destroyer to confer with the colonial office, to which it is understood he will give details of the incidents leading up to the quarrel between his government and the Catholic prelates of the island.

A dispatch from Malta says a drastic police order has been issued prohibiting all demonstrations and gatherings of three or more persons in any public place.

SPORTSMEN FLAY FINLAND DRY LAW AS ATHLETIC RUIN

Fear Effects of Prohibition on Olympic Standing.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 15.—Finnish sportsmen are solidly against prohibition, although the majority of them are teetotalers. Members of all branches of sport say that the prohibition law is undermining the health of the country and harming sport. Unless it is either modified or repealed they predict that instead of being the runner-up to the United States Finland will make a much poorer showing at the next Olympic games.

In proportion to the population Finland has more sportsmen than America. With a rocky seacoast and thousands of lakes sailing and swimming have always been popular.

Play Strange Baseball.

Football (soccer) is played everywhere, and a Finn named Pikkala returned from America a few years ago and succeeded in introducing a perverted type of baseball in which the pitcher and catcher have been abolished: a man standing next to the batter tossing the ball in the air for him to hit. Pikkala excuses his changes in the game by explaining that he was aiming to develop sprinting through making the base running more complicated and having longer runs.

With practically every branch of sport well represented the two most popular sports are field athletics in summer and skiing in the winter. During the short summer which begins in June and ends around the middle of August every village holds its track meets where the inhabitants of all ages compete. There are more than a dozen stadiums around Helsingfors, and every evening during the summer they are crowded with boys and men, and often girls who are training for meets or just practicing for fun.

Dry Runner Opposes Law.

Hanens Kolehmainen, who visited America in 1912 after winning the marathon at the Antwerp Olympic games, is the dean of Finnish runners. He was the first to earn the title "Flying Finn." Though he is now 46 years old, he still partakes in track meets all over the country.

Mr. Kolehmainen is a teetotaler and has never tasted liquor, but he strongly objects to the prohibition law. He says he does not know of a single good feature of the law and reports that the law completely changed the attitude of the people towards alcohol.

Traveling around the country all summer attending track meets, he says he has seen much drinking going on, especially after the sporting events are finished. Sportsmen, he says, formerly regarded drinking with disgust. Today sport events are often followed by drinking bouts which sometimes end with knife fights and the death of one or two youths.

Omain Rolhia, the president of the largest athletic organization in Finland, the Helsingin Kisa Veikot, is another teetotaler who would like to see the law repealed. He says that if a vote were taken among sportsmen that more than 95 per cent would vote for abolishing prohibition.

Onni Pellinen, 31 years old, a wrestler who has held the European championship for several years and who won third prize for Finland in both the Paris Olympic games of 1924 and the Amsterdam games of 1928, is not a teetotaler and is against the law. Mr. Pellinen says he has a wide acquaintance among wrestlers and he only knows of one who is a teetotaler and even he is against the law on principle.

Jag Costs Only 4 Cents.

"I was a boy when the law went into effect and so I know little of pre-prohibition conditions in Finland," said Mr. Pellinen. "Today a person can get drunk in Finland cheaper than any other country I have been in in Europe. For four American cents you can get enough alcohol from a bootlegger to make you tipsy and if you drink ten cents' worth you will wake up to find yourself in a police station.

"My friends and I often take our girls to the tea rooms in Helsingfors and in all of them you can order 'strong tea' and get a glass filled with equal portions of tea and alcohol. This drink costs 20 cents and for us it is expensive so we generally bring our alcohol with us and order plain tea. Yes, the majority of the girls whom I know drink. You seldom find one who does not. Many only drink wine, but they are all nice girls."

Alcohol Very Cheap.

Many wealthy business men assist their wives to manufacture various kinds of drinks at home. One told me he had recently purchased a ten liter cannister of alcohol about 2.6 gallons, from a smuggler for 100 Finnish marks ($2.50). He said this cheap price indicated how plentiful was the supply. The highest price he has ever paid for the same amount was 180 marks ($4.50) and he generally could have it delivered direct to his summer home for 150 marks ($3.75).

Mr. Arno Hohenthal, the largest manufacturer of sporting goods in Finland and whose ski factory turns out 65,000 pairs yearly, is an acknowledged authority on sport in Finland. He also declares that prohibition is harming both sport and his country and he favors repeal.

ODDIE DEFENDS NAVY OFFICERS WHO ASSAIL PACT SIGNED IN LONDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Senator Tasker L. Oddie [Rep., Nev.], a member of the senate naval affairs committee, today came to the defense of the high commanding officers of the navy who testified at committee hearings that the proposed London naval treaty would weaken this country's national defense. Attacks upon them for their statements are unjust," Senator Oddie declared.

"The physical, mental and moral standards of the officers of our army and navy are of the highest. Their lives are at the service of our country at all times and they of all men are most anxious for the establishment of conditions for the preservation of honorable permanent peace.

"They know that the surest way to preserve peace is by maintaining an adequate national defense and they are the most competent authorities in the world on that subject. Support for the treaty should not be sought by attempts to belittle and break the spirit and morale of these splendid men."

Senator Oddie's statement was issued on the eve of tomorrow's meeting of the senate foreign relations committee, which will report the treaty favorably some time during the week.

ROB REALTY MAN IN HOME.

REPORT SCHOOLS READY TO LEASE LAND TO AIRPORT

Proposal Will Be Sent to City Council.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

After two years of negotiation the board of education is expected today to place final sanction on a lease to the city of its property at Clearing in order to make possible the improvement and expansion of the Municipal airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue.

That the board has finally agreed on the terms of a lease was indicated last week when the matter came from the buildings and grounds committee and was sent to the board with unanimous recommendation that it be approved.

Doubt Council Approval.

Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe said yesterday that the lease would be placed before the city council for immediate consideration. But it seemed doubtful yesterday that the council would approve the terms of the lease in its present form, although no wide difference between the city and the schools was apparent.

The proposed lease is for a period of 50 years although one clause provides for a cancellation by either party at the close of the first 20 years after which a higher rental is to be fixed. The schools are to share with the city in the profits of the field and the city is to pay all special assessments.

If the city council reaches an agreement with the school board, approximately 600 acres of land will be released for airport purposes. The additional acreage will treble the present landing area and relieve the congestion of air traffic at the field.

Has Segregation Plan.

Walter W. Wright, city director of aviation, parks and playgrounds, said yesterday that a plan is under way to segregate various flying activities at the city field if the additional acreage is turned over to the airport.

A separate field will be set aside for pleasure craft so that these planes will not interfere with the commercial activities of the passenger and mail planes, Wright said.

Extension of the leases now held by the operators who use the city field will make possible the building of larger hangars and other ground facilities to accommodate the increase in air traffic, according to Winsor Williams, manager of the American Air Transport association, who is among the group of Chicago aviation leaders who urge approval of the airport lease.

Berlin Fascists Obey Edict; March with Nude Torsos

BERLIN, June 15.—(AP)—A number of German Fascists solved the cool clothing problem in the midst of a heat wave today. After being ordered by police to remove their uniform brown shirts, following a governmental edict, the Fascists walked the streets shirtless—in other words, nude from the waist up. They were not molested.

Sturdy bodies are a feature of the Ford Truck

WITH their ample loading-space and carefully planned dimensions, the new Ford truck bodies meet a wide range of haulage requirements. The platform body illustrated is the foundation-unit for several types which are designed for many industrial, commercial and agricultural purposes. Among them is the standard stake body with stakes 26 inches high.

The platform body may be used with either the open or enclosed cab. It is built of heavy, seasoned hardwood, enclosed in a pressed-steel frame.

In common with all Ford bodies, the platform type gains in appearance through the improvements recently made in the front of the truck. Radiator and hood are higher and narrower. Front fenders meet the running-boards in a more sweeping line. Cabs have been redesigned for better appearance and afford the driver full comfort.

A number of new and important features have been incorporated in the Ford truck chassis. Among them are a spiral bevel-gear rear axle, a four-speed transmission, a heavier front axle and spring, larger brakes and a power take-off opening. Dual rear wheels are optional at small additional cost. You have a choice of two gear ratios.

In addition to the important new mechanical features of the chassis, these strong, good-looking and serviceable bodies increase the value of the Ford truck and broaden its range of usefulness.

MANCHURIA WAR LORD DEMANDS CIVIL WAR STOP

Threatens to Send Army Against Northern Rebels

BULLETIN.

CANTON, June 15.—(AP)—Liu Huan Yen, governing Kwangsi province, which adjoins Kwangtung on the west, was assassinated today by a bodyguard as he was dining in a hotel. He was shot in the back.

Lieu's assassin fled into the street and was there captured by police. He said that the commander of the Kwangsi rebel group had offered him $10,000 and the rank of colonel in the rebel army if he would kill Lieu, who was here on a visit.

SHANGHAI, June 15.—(AP)—Chinese dispatches from Mukden received here today quoted Chang Hsueh Liang, military governor of Manchuria, as threatening to hurl Manchurian forces into the civil war against the northern alliance rebels unless rebel leaders accepted Chang's offer of mediation.

Chang, son of the late Manchurian war lord, Chang Tso Lin, already has begun mobilization preparatory to setting his troops in action, dispatches said.

Calls Civil War "Disgrace."

The militarist in his new rôle of peacemaker, allegedly branded the present civil war as a "disgrace to national prestige and a hindrance to the progress of the Chinese people."

His offer with its accompanying threat was said to have been contained in telegrams sent to northern rebel leaders, Feng Yu Hsiang and Yen Hsi Shan.

Nationalist armies defending the tricities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang from the assaults of rebel troops, reorganized tonight for a counter offensive after having suffered severe losses before a drive of Kwangsi troops.

Province in State of Anarchy.

The exact state of hostilities was unknown because of the strict military censorship. Advices from southeast Hupeh province stated communist troops had evacuated Tayeh and Hwangshihkang after looting the cities and conditions there were said to be quiet. About 1,000 refugees fled to Hankow.

While Nationalist troops were striving to stem the advance of rebel armies on widely separated fronts, other reports indicated that the coastal province of Fukien was in a state of anarchy. Dispatches from Amoy said widespread disorders were steadily increasing as bandits and communists roved uncurbed through the countryside, harassing the population.

Ravages of pirates on coastal and trans-oceanic shipping plying along the Chinese coast resulted today in announcement of the organization of a squadron of especialy trained anti-pirate guards. The guards number 200. They will assume their duties July 1. They will be known as the "Hong Kong Anti-Pirate Guards."

FARM BOARD'S FIRST YEAR SATISFACTORY, ITS MEMBERS DECIDE

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Federal farm board officials, reviewing the board's first year, which ended today, expressed satisfaction with their progress despite the bombardment of criticism which it has undergone and some disturbing aspects in the present farm situation.

President Hoover signed the farm relief act, creating the farm board, on June 15, 1929. Chairman Alexander Legge, after reviewing the year's work, said he was convinced the board is going in the right direction.

"It is too early to make any prediction on whether the position of agriculture will be permanently bettered," Mr. Legge stated. "Experience of the past months, however, confirms us in the belief that the approach we are making to a solution of the problem is the right one.

"We feel that fairly satisfactory progress has been made in the short time the board has been at work. A much larger percentage of farm products will be marketed cooperatively this year as a result of assistance given in strengthening existing cooperatives and the organization of new ones."

Sensible Way to Lose Fat

Start taking Kruschen Salts—that's the common-sense way to reduce—but don't take them with the idea that they possess reducing qualities in themselves.

This is what they do—they clean out the impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working shape and fill you with a vigor and tireless energy you'd most forgotten had existed—you get the needful exercise.

As a result instead of planting yourself in an easy chair every free moment and letting flabby fat accumulate you feel an urge for activity that keeps you moving around doing the things you've always wanted to do and needed to do to keep you in good condition.

Be careful of the foods you eat—then watch the pounds slide off!

Kruschen Salts are the up-to-date Fountain of Youth. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot or cold water tomorrow morning and every morning—they're tasteless that way, and if they don't change your whole idea about reducing, go back and get the small price you paid for them. Get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts—lasts 4 weeks—at any progressive druggist anywhere in the world.

171 IN U. S. OPEN GOLF TRIALS AT BRIERGATE TODAY

CHICAGO HAS LARGEST ENTRY IN 20 DISTRICTS

17 Medal Scorers Will Reach Final.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

One hundred and seventy-one amateurs and professionals of the Chicago district will play today at the Briergate Golf club in 36 holes of qualifying competition for the national open tournament. The seventeen who have the lowest medal scores will win the right to represent this section in the 72 hole championship play at the Interlachen Country club, Minneapolis, July 10, 11, and 12.

Simultaneously in 20 districts from coast to coast, qualifying rounds will be played to reduce an entry list of 1,149 to 112. These together with 38 who are exempt from preliminaries will bring the championship field to 150.

Chicago Entry Leads.

Chicago's entry list is by far the largest, New York being second with 148. The only Chicagoan who is exempt from the qualifying rounds is Al Espinosa, who passes automatically into the select 150 by virtue of his showing in last year's tournament at Winged Foot when he finished in a tie with Bobby Jones, only to be beaten in the play off.

There are numerous guesses as to what score will qualify, but the consensus is that a pair of 77s will do the trick. The course at Briergate is in excellent condition and hard enough to insure a good roll.

Chicago's field is made up of 37 amateurs and 139 professionals, but only about forty of these are generally conceded a chance. However, golf is a game in which dark horses make their appearances at the most unexpected times, so naming the player who will top the field calls for even more assurance than picking a Derby winner. An unknown coal miner, who didn't even have a golf suit, came dangerously near eliminating Bobby Jones from the British amateur, so only the most self confident presume to make forecasts of today's event.

To Play in Trios.

The contestants will be sent out three at a time. The first group will begin play at 7 o'clock and the others will follow at five minute intervals until 11:40. Then the big parade will start again for the afternoon round.

Among the leading amateurs who will compete are George Dawson, Billy Sixty, Jack Westland, Gus Novotny, Keefe Carter, Chick Evans Jr., Rudy Knepper, and Gus Fetz.

The professionals who are expected to qualify include Bob MacDonald, Frank Walsh, Willie Hunter, Jock Hutchison, Abe Espinosa, Harry Cooper, and Laurie Ayton.

HITCHCOCK AND WHITNEY HURT IN POLO MATCH

Sands Point, L. I., June 15.—[Special.]—John Hay Whitney was painfully injured this afternoon when struck over the right eye by a ball in the fifth period of the Westbury Challenge cup polo match between the Greentree Four and the Meadowbrook Freebooters which the Greentrees won after a thrilling and hard fought game by a score of 11 to 10.

A crowd of 5,000 witnessed the accident to young Whitney and also saw Tommy Hitchcock, captain of the United States cup defense four, hurt when struck by a mallet in the sixth chukker.

The accident to Whitney occurred half way through the fifth period. He was playing at back on the Greentrees and was riding off a Freebooter near the latter's goal when the ball was driven sharply by a player riding up from behind. The blow was a glancing one, but a deep gash resulted from the breaking of the player's glasses which he wears while playing polo.

1929 JUVENILE CHAMP IS VICTOR IN FRENCH DERBY

CHANTILLY, France, June 15.—(AP)—Count Derivaud's Chateau Bouscaut, juvenile champion in 1929, won the French Derby today by three lengths from an even dozen rivals.

The son of Kircobbin out of Ramondie revelled in the soft going and won going away at the finish line. His victory enriched Count Derivaud by 320,000. Lovelace was second and Robert McCreery's Fixypop third. The winner paid 8 to 1 in the betting.

SAME OLD STORY IN BRITISH OPEN: JONES VS. FIELD

Start Qualifying Round at Hoylake Today.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HOYLAKE, England, June 15.—Led by Bobby Jones, nearly 300 golfers will start play here tomorrow for the British open golf championship which Walter Hagen has thrown undefended into the midst of the pack.

Having won the British amateur title at St. Andrews two weeks ago, Bobby Jones stands the favorite to win this cup and return to the United States with everything valuable in the way of British golf. The odds against any one coming through against the field should be 10 to 1, but 2 to 1 is the best obtainable against the Georgian.

Has Won Title Twice.

He already has taken the title twice, in 1926 and 1927. Holding both the British amateur and American open cups now, he is such a strong favorite that there is no talk of anything but Jones on the eve of the qualifying rounds tomorrow and Tuesday.

Hagen was unable to return this year, but his failure to defend the trophy which he, too, has won twice is causing little worry among those who would like to see the cup returned to the United States for the tenth time since the war. The British have won it only once during that time, in 1923.

Jones has his shooting irons aimed at the achievement of holding both British titles in the same year, and with ideal weather promised for the week and Jones playing medal golf, to which he is partial, the Atlantan is the one man against whom all the entrants will be playing on the way to Friday's final.

A field of 296 was entered but scratches will reduce the number teeing off in the 36 holes of qualifying rounds, which will be divided between Hoylake and Wallasey. Each entrant will play a round on both courses on alternate days. The first 100, and those tying for 100th place will go on with the competition proper Wednesday. The championship rounds will be played at Hoylake.

14 Americans Entered.

Fourteen Americans are entered, eight of them amateurs, led by Jones and George Von Elm. The latter has just returned from winning the French amateur championship. Don Moe, Western amateur champion, will compete also.

Among the pros are Horton Smith, who brought Hagen's cup back to England; MacDonald Smith, Tommy Armour, and Jim Barnes, both former United States title holders; Leo Diegel, present open champion, and Gene Sarazen, who has been trying unsuccessfully to win this title for years.

Among the British opposing them are a number of Ryder cup players as well as British champions, past and present. A. G. Haver, the only Briton to win the open since 1920, Aubrey Boomer, Henry Cotton, Abe Mitchell, Archie Compston, C. A. Whitcombe, the Irish open champion, Duncan McCulloch, the Scottish open champion, in addition to a troop of amateurs led by Cyril Tolley, are entered.

Body of Segrave Mechanic Recovered After Two Days

WINDERMERE, England, June 15.—(AP)—While a hearse was slowly traveling to London with the body of Sir Henry O. Segrave, who lost his life Friday trying to break the speed record in his speed boat, Miss England II., the body of his mechanic, Victor Halliwell, was recovered from Lake Windermere today.

It has been estimated that the boat recorded a speed of 113.8 miles an hour at the time of the accident. A. V. Peck, rear commodore of the Windermere Boating club, explained today that he calculated the speed with a stopwatch from a launch at the starting line.

'K. O. Only' Sign Posted for Stribling-Von Porat Fight

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Young Stribling, who meets Otto Von Porat Wednesday night in a ten round bout at the Stadium, never has been knocked out. Von Porat's record is almost perfect. Martin Burke, his first opponent in this country, stopped him in the eighth round, but no other fighter has been able to label the Norwegian either with a technical knockout or one of the regular variety.

OTTO VON PORAT.

Each, of course, is proud of his record, but with the prospect of a title fight with the new world's champion, Max Schmeling, each sees the knockout punch as opportunity to establish himself as an outstanding challenger at the other's expense.

The Georgian, long rated one of the better American heavyweights, has fought nearly 300 times since his schoolboy days. While Von Porat doesn't have the lengthy summary of conquests in the records, he has been up near the top on three occasions.

Punch Takes Otto Up.

Von Porat's terrific right hand punch is responsible for his three opportunities to reach the top rank. More than a year ago the Norwegian secured a match with Johnny Risko on the strength of his showing against Tom Heeney. Von Porat lost that fight, and he was relegated to the second squad.

Again he established himself by a series of knockout victories. In December of last year he was matched with Phil Scott in New York. But Otto neglected to use his long range weapons that night. A bit flustered, he hit Phil low in round two and was ruled out.

Now for the third time Otto has his chance. This opportunity was created by his spectacular knockout of Jack Gagnon after Tuffy Griffith, his Chicago rival, had been able to take down only a ten round decision.

Stribling, crafty veteran, either will be the means of Von Porat's becoming a legitimate challenger for the title, or else he will send Von Porat to the "bushes," probably for all time. There are many who predict a victory for Stribling, so many, in fact, that the southerner has been made the betting favorite.

In reaching this conclusion the experts discount Von Porat's superior punching power when matched against such a boxer as Stribling. They point to the wrestling match between Stribling and Sharkey in Miami, not because Sharkey won that ten rounder on points, but because the Lithuanian failed to do any considerable damage. Stribling stayed in close and avoided Sharkey's long range attack.

There is no reason to believe Stribling will stand off and box with Von Porat. Undoubtedly, there'll be plenty of holding and clinching. However, if Ed Stevenson gets his wish for a referee who'll pull them apart, Von Porat will have the chance he asks.

Both Are Confident.

Both Stribling and Von Porat declare they can defeat the new champion. Stribling attended the championship fight in New York, and what he saw there is the basis for his opinion.

The Stadium maintains the $5.99 top price for Wednesday's bout.

"We have offered other fights for this, which didn't rate as highly in our estimation," Sidney Strotz, president of the Stadium corporation, said the other day. "And while Stribling and Von Porat should be worth more, perhaps, it will even up a bit for other fights which haven't been as satisfactory as this promises to be."

"Von Porat's manager wanted the prices raised over those for the fight with Gagnon but we couldn't see it. If the house is sold out the fight will gross $94,000."

Armando DeCarlos, who makes his American debut in the semi-windup bout of ten rounds against Hein Mueller, arrived yesterday. He will work out today at the Arcade. Mueller has been busy since his return two weeks ago from a visit to Germany.

Glasgow Rangers, Scotch Champs, Beat Sparta, 4-1

Playing through a steady downpour of rain the Glasgow Rangers, soccer champions of Scotland, defeated the Sparta Soccer club, Chicago champions, 4 goals to 1, at Soldiers' field yesterday. Six thousand fans braved the storm to see their favorites go down in defeat.

The Rangers opened the scoring in the first half when they were awarded a penalty after one of Sparta's defense accidentally handled the ball. Alan Morton took the free kick and scored with a fast, low shot. Play continued fast in spite of the soggy field, and Kratochvil of Sparta in the next few minutes tied the score.

The Rangers showed to advantage in the second half. Their attack was brilliant, and although Sparta's defense was strong, especially with Gardiner at back, the visitors scored three goals through McPhail, Fleming and Marshall. "Wee Willie" McLean was the outstanding player for the Chicago team. He continually kept the visitors' defense going at top speed to protect their goal.

GERMAN-AMERICANS WIN.

HALLE, Germany, June 15.—(AP)—The touring German-American soccer football team defeated the "Verein Fuer Ballspiele Halle 96," today, three goals to one. The score at half time was 2 to 1 for the invaders. Koerner scored two goals and Lotz one.

Garden Head to Confer Here on Title Bout

William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden corporation, will confer with the members of the Illinois athletic commission in the near future concerning a return bout between Champion Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey at Soldiers' field.

"Mr. Carey asked the members of the Illinois commission, when we were in New York at the title fight, if we would sanction a return bout," Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman, said yesterday.

"We told him if he complied with our rules, we would grant a license.

"I understand Madison Square Garden has retained its charter in Illinois which was granted at the time of the Dempsey-Tunney fight. This entitles the corporation to the privileges of our law. Schmeling is under contract to defend his title under the promotion of the Garden. I don't know whether Sharkey has signed a contract.

"Mr. Carey did not make a definite appointment for his visit to Chicago, but he intimated he would make an early trip."

Rotary Golf Cup Arrives for International Tourney

The Rotary golf trophy for which 62 countries will compete during the tenth annual convention of the Rotary international at the Country Side Golf club June 24, arrived in Chicago yesterday. The trophy carries the name of the city and country which has won it each year since 1916. It will remain with the winning city for a year.

MULDOON SADLY LOOKS OVER HIS TEN YEARS' WORK

Might Have Devoted Time to Better Pursuit.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 15.—If old Mr. Muldoon, the prize fight commissioner, had exerted himself in some other field of human effort, he might now, in his years of decline, have some progress to report. Mr. Muldoon is a patrolman at heart and I do not pretend to be unhappy over the botch that he has made of his decade on the New York prize fight commission.

He thinks prize fighting, somehow, some day, can be made to serve the ends of fine citizenship by inculcatry, and honor in the young, and he has been fumbling with the sow's ear for ten years. Now examining his work after the Sharkey-Schmeling prize fight, he discovers that it is a sow's ear and he is disappointed and annoyed.

The idea that prize fighting could be made to serve the ends mentioned originated as a political argument. The prize fight promoters used it just after the war on the members of the various state legislatures and on politicians not insensible to the persuasive force of a case of Canadian Scotch, to convince them of a fine distinction between the prize fighting trade and the pocket picking trade. These were held to be all one under the law up to that time.

Merely a Political Argument.

Mr. Muldoon should have realized that this was only a political argument and no more seriously meant nor taken than the argument that prohibition would empty jails. But his whole life had been committed to the glorification of the male bicep, and boxing, theoretically, was a sublime expression of the thing he held most high.

So he holds to his opinion of prize fighting, or professional boxing as Gene Tunney so nicely called it, although in his ten years on the New York prize fighting commission he has seen dive-keepers, gunmen and common, petty conspirators climb the steps to the ring a hundred times with his license in their pants pockets to attend various prize fighters in the work of inculcating fine ideals in the young.

Only the other evening, after Jack Sharkey had fouled Max Schmeling, a second entered the ring to handle a fighter in the deferred semi-final bout, carrying a license from the commission, who had been one of Arnold Rothstein's two fixers in the frameup of the world series of 1919. I do not think the prize fight racket should be scolded for the sort of people who have always been most active in the business. That would be like scolding a goat for his smell. The goat can't help it and he smells most briskly just after he has been washed by the cleansing rain of heaven.

Fight Racket Can't Help It.

The prize fight racket cannot help being crooked because that is the nature of the profession, and, similarly, it is never more crooked than when the very best people are lending their distinguished patronage and contributing huge purses.

Old Mr. Muldoon is an impressive figure with a chin as firm and square as the cornerstone of a county jail and an eye that glares at the world, seeming to say, "Tell me some wrong, some dirty or cowardly trick I ever did in my nigh-onto-ninety years." Because his is by nature a patrolman, accustomed to ordering people about, people never oppose him any more. All his life he has been twirling an imaginary nightstick and when any one disputes him on any matter, he shines up his badge.

But Mr. James Farley, his associate

HARTNETT HITS 2 SINGLES, DOUBLE AND HOME RUN

Hogan Also Clouts for Circuit.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 15.—A powerful, spectacular display of hitting on the part of Gabby Hartnett availed the Cubs nothing today. The big catcher put together a string of four hits, ranging from singles to a homer, but the effort failed to overcome bad pitching by his own crowd, so the Giants won the second of the series by 7 to 4 before 40,000.

One reason Hartnett's brilliant exhibition was made null and void was Sheriff Blake. The one time star speed baller has enjoyed only one spasmodic success of late, but McCarthy started him today on a hunch. The hunch failed to work out. Just before six innings were completed Blake was sent away. A two run rally had taken a Cub lead and put the Giants ahead, 4 to 3. Whatever chance might have remained for the Chicagoans went glimmering in the seventh, when Truck Hogan hit a homer off Bud Teachout with two on base.

Gabby Starts Early.

Hartnett's big day on attack, giving him a perfect average, started in the second inning. He hit a single and drove in a run against Pete Donohue, the ex-Red who handled all of McGraw's pitching. Gabby was back in the fourth with a doublewhich assisted in scoring two more runs. This also put the Cubs ahead. In the sixth Gabby came through with a single that proved of no value. In the ninth, in his fourth time at bat he mashied his homer against the roof of the stand in right field.

Root will tackle the Giants tomorrow. Hubbell is McGraw's likely choice.

The Cubs got after Donohue with such gusto in the second that it looked as if he would have to wig wag for help. Stephenson led off with a single to left. Grimm did the same. Hartnett pounded a single to center and Stevie scored. That was the extent of the rally, however. Beck shoved the two other runners along with a sacrifice, but Grimm was out at the plate on Blake's roller to Terry and Blair popped to Jackson.

Giants Score Two.

The frisking of two runs from Blake in the Giants' half of the second began with Ott tripling to center. Hogan hit sharply to short and the ball caromed off Beck's bare hand into left field for a double, Ott scoring. After Jackson had been set down Hartnett committed a passed ball, on which Hogan moved to third. Allen then walked, and Donohue's short fly fell behind first base for a single, Hogan running home.

Donohue tempted the Cubs by giving a pass in the fourth, and they dis-

Rain Washes Out Sox Game; Lyons May Pitch Today

The seventh place White Sox did not play the eighth place Red Sox yesterday, rain being the reason for the postponement of this important event.

The two clubs will seek to continue this afternoon and Manager Donie Bush has two pitchers from whom to select his starting workman. One of these is Dutch Henry, who was to have pitched yesterday, and Ted Lyons, the lone Chicago thrower who has been able to defeat the cellar champs this season.

After the game tomorrow the Sox will journey to Washington, where on Thursday they will launch their second eastern invasion of the year.

While the eastern trip may not lift the Sox appreciably, it is pointed out they will have a chance for a lot of fun if they can knock off some of the fellows now engaged in the best race the American league has had in years. The only team of the four contenders they will not meet is Cleveland. A Sox victory against Philadelphia, Washington or New York will count as a victory for the Indians under the present state of affairs.

Gehrig, Ruth Knock Indians from First Place.

Cleveland, O., June 15.—(AP)—Cleveland lost its American league lead to Philadelphia today by dropping a second straight slugfest to the New York Yankees, 17 to 10.

The largest crowd ever to attend a ball game here, 33,828, looked on as Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth, and their mates leveled a 17 hit barrage at three Indian pitchers. Gehrig's 16th and 17th home runs of the season, plus a single, accounted for seven runs, while Ruth sent in one run ahead as he made his 21st circuit clout. Averill added a home run for the Indians.

Overflow crowds were lined all about the outfield, making ground rules necessary and contributing to the nine doubles hit during the game. Score:

Fair Treatment by Golfers Is Inspiration to Caddy

This is the second of a series of articles on what makes a good caddy. The first article, last week, told what a golfer expects of a caddy.

It is customary to expect certain definite qualities in a caddy and too often golfers forget that the caddy has a right to certain considerations in return. Bob Gardner, former national amateur champion, outlined caddies' rights as follows:

"The caddy expects to have the reasonable, not the impossible, asked of him. If the player, with a good idea of where a lost ball may be, cannot locate it, he should not blame the caddy for not spotting it at once."

The boys who carry the clubs have very definite ideas of what they expect. Tommy Jackson has been working at Calumet four years, and he sums up his demands in this fashion:

"I expect the player I'm caddying for to be a good sport. He may not be a champion or even a good player, but as long as he's a real sportsman, I'm for him."

Along a similar line runs the statement of Bill Polk who caddies at Olympia Fields.

"It isn't the tip that makes a pleasant round for the caddy," says Bill. "It's having your member take an interest in you, giving you a pat on the back if you deserve it; correcting you, if necesary, but in the same way he would his own son. That's what we boys want.'"

Helps Caddy Get Job.

These are the every day expectations of a caddy, but most golfers are willing to have even more asked of them. Ira Couch has a caddy named Harold Behrens. Last winter when Harold sought a job, he felt that he was entitled to talk it over with Ira, man to man. The result was a job for the boy, for this was another way the player could show his appreciation for good work on the links.

Louis A. Ferguson has watched golf in the Chicago district grow since the founding of the old Edgewater club at Devon avenue and Sheridan road where the one time fairway is now worth approximately $4,500 per front foot. He says: "A good caddy works as hard as a good player and is entitled to his reward. If you understand the workings of the boys' minds, you will see that money is the least of it. They are idolizers, and it is bad enough when their idols fall them in the scoring column, but it is much worse when they fail in sportsmanship.

This Caddy Cried.

"The best example of rewarding a caddy I know of happened at the end of the longest battle for the amateur championship ever played. Chick Evans came up to the 36th hole with a curling 15 footer to stay in the championship. His caddy stood to one side as Chick sighted the putt. Tears were rolling down the boy's face and you could see his shoulders shaken by sobs. The putt went down and five holes later the boy had his reward when the champion put his arm across his shoulder and said: 'We had a tough battle, didn't we?'"

LITTLE STORIES OF FAST SUCCESSES

ELINOR SMITH

Eighteen years old . . . and she's risen higher than any other woman in all world history. "Born with wings," say hard-boiled pilots. "The kid's a 'natural' when you put her in a plane."

But there's another young ace with that same story.

OLD GOLD hopped off just four years ago. In less than three months it zoomed into favor. In one short year it had climbed to the ceiling. Today, it holds the coast-to-coast record . . . as America's fastest growing cigarette.

For, OLD GOLD, too, is a natural flyer. Made of better tobaccos. Endowed by nature with a new taste-thrill. Free from irritants. More smoke pleasure. Greater throat-ease.

OLD GOLD, too, was "born with wings."

"PLEASE MISTER, C'N I FLY IT?" AT THE CRACK OF DAWN, WHILE HER FAMILY SLEPT, THIS 15 YEAR OLD KID TOOK FORBIDDEN FLYING LESSONS. THREE YEARS LATER SHE BROKE THE WORLD'S ALTITUDE RECORD FOR WOMEN.

ON MAY 15, 1927, OLD GOLD FIRST LANDED AT MITCHELL FIELD. IN JUST SEVEN WEEKS IT HAD ZOOMED TO THE TOP — ONE OF THE FASTEST SELLING CIGARETTES AT THE AIRPORT.

EASTERN HORSES UNLOAD TODAY AT ARLINGTON PARK

Other Large Shipments Due Later in Week.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The big movement of eastern thoroughbred horses which are coming from New York to take part in the Arlington Park Jockey club's meeting in July will get under way this week.

The horses belonging to Herbert Bayard Swope will be unloaded this morning, coming in a shipment of three cars which also will bring the horses of John Hertz from Belmont Park. Later in the week will come the main divisions of Willis Sharpe Kilmer's string, most of the flat racers and steeplechasers in the Joseph E. Widener band, a big shipment of Harry Payne Whitney horses, the main division flat racers and steeplechasers owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, and the steeplechasers which race in the silks of Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark.

Others to Come Later.

These will be followed toward the end of the month by Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable, William R. Coe's campaigners, the horses owned by Gifford A. Cochran, George D. Widener, Rigan McKinney, Albert and Pete Bostwick, Walter J. Salmon and other prominent turfmen from along the Atlantic seaboard.

While preparations were being made at Arlington to receive the easterners yesterday several hundred persons visited the track and were taken on an inspection trip over the new steeplechase course.

This course, built under the supervision of H. I. Pels, track superintendent at Belmont Park, is nearing completion. Every jump will be in place by tomorrow and horses may begin using the course later in the week.

Eastern, Southern Visitors.

The general plan of the old Belmont Terminal course of the United Hunts has been followed in its construction rather than the plan of the Belmont Park and Saratoga Springs courses. The jumps are of regulation height and stiffness. The 30 acres of soil necessary to build the course is the finest in America, Mr. Pels said.

With the American Derby, which provided one of the great turf upsets of the year in the victory of Reveille Boy, now a matter of history, there are only two stake events left on Washington Park's program. They are the Illinois Oaks, to be run next Saturday, and the Francis S. Peabody Memorial, worth $10,000, to be decided on June 28, the closing day.

It is expected that Snowflake and Alcibiades will have it out again in the Oaks.

The Illinois Athletic club purse worth $1,400 is today's Washington Park feature. It is a dash at six furlongs, and among the overnight eligibles are Crofton, Wisdom, Morsel, Double Heart, Flat Iron, Justinian, Long Run, and Play Ball.

Justinian, a son of Ordinance, owned by the Greentree stable, will be making his first start here since arriving from New York last week.

Here's How to Abate Camp Fly Nuisance

BY BOB BECKER.

Early campers invariably find plenty of insects to annoy them. This is true not only in Chicagoland but farther north. Later, no-see-umms, mosquitoes and other insects subside but they still are numerous enough if living in a forested section.

There are three ways to abate the insect nuisance when you are in camp. First, choose the right kind of a place to camp. Secondly, carry nets to sleep under and a tarp and netting for a "dining" room. And third, include in your outfit both a spray gun and a can of dope that kills insects as well as a small bottle of heavier liquid to rub on your hands and face.

On scores of trips into the woods, ranging from Alaska on the north to Brazil in the south, we have found choice of a camp site an important factor in combating insect pests. If the outdoorsman will choose an open, level stretch of ground exposed to the prevailing winds he will have comparatively few mosquitoes and other insects around.

Exposure is important. Mosquitoes do not like wind because it's hard for them to navigate in a good breeze. Pitch your tent where you get sunshine and breeze, and you are going to eliminate 80 per cent of the mosquito nuisance. On the other hand try camping in a sheltered, heavily timbered, breezeless spot and the insect nuisance is with you night and day.

If you can carry all the duffel you want, the tent fly rigged with netting is a handy trick to fool the insects and make the eating of a meal always enjoyable. One can stand a lot of biting mosquitoes or flies during the day if he can escape them at meal time and when it is time to sleep. Both the tent fly with netting and the net to drape over your sleeping quarters are important on a trip.

Jess Petty Released to Newark by Pittsburgh

Philadelphia, June 15.—(AP)—Outright release of Jess Petty, veteran left hander of the Pittsburgh Pirates to the Newark International league club was announced tonight by Manager Jewel Ens of the Pirates. Petty will report to Newark tomorrow. Dropping of Petty will leave the Pirates with only two left handers, Larry French and Percy Jones.

Petty was obtained in December, 1928, from Brooklyn along with Infielder Harry Riconda in exchange for Glenn Wright. He won 11 games and lost 10 last season, but this year has recorded only one victory against six losses.

Chicago's First Playground Head to Retire Today

George Sonnenleiter Sr., first playground director in Chicago, will retire today after active service with the park district since 1896. Mr. Sonnenleiter, a native of Chicago, was 70 years of age on Jan. 30.

GEORGE SONNENLEITER.

In 1896 the west park board appointed Mr. Sonnenleiter playground director of Douglas park. In 1901 he became director at Webster playground [now Beutner] by appointment of the special park commission. He made director of municipal playgrounds and later was succeeded by T. A. Gross, but continued as Gross' assistant for many years.

Mr. Sonnenleiter is a veteran member of THE TRIBUNE Athletic association and has officiated at all of the annual Silver Skates derbies. For 60 years he has competed or officiated in gymnastic events. He first entered gymnastic competition as a juvenile in 1870 with the Turnverein Vorwaerts. Since then he has participated in ten national and international North American Gymnastic union tournaments.

Among the many honors Mr. Sonnenleiter won was first prize in the senior class in the Illinois Gymnastic union at Freeport in 1892. In 1895 he again won the meet at Elgin.

IT DO WINS BEST HACK EVENT AT HINSDALE SHOW

In the outstanding morning events, Lavargos Harris, Charles Rogers up, won the childrens pony class, and R. W. McIlvain on Reigh Mac was first in the polo pony class. Mary Bell Llewellyn won the ladies' horsemanship event. Orphan Boy, ridden by W. P. Saunders, took the five gaited exhibition.

played their appreciation by promptly scoring a pair, to give them a 3 to 2 lead. Grimm drew free transportation with one out. Hartnett bounced a double through short, Grimm stopping at third. A two bagger to the center field fence rattled off Beck's bat to send Grimm and Gabby home.

Blake's collapse in the sixth began with Ott singling to center. Wilson booted the ball to give the runner an extra base. Hogan flied to left and Ott, taking advantage of Stephenson's weak throwing arm, raced to third after the catch. Jackson lined to Beck. Allen then shot a single into center, Ott scoring, Donohue also singled.

When Critz hit safely, sending Allen home, McCarthy decided it was time to act. He withdrew Blake and summoned Teachout.

Teachout got a bad break to start the seventh, in which the Giants wrapped up the decision with their three run rally. Terry led off with a grounder to Blair and the ball took a bad hop, giving the runner a hit. Lindstrom fanned, but Ott walked. Then Hogan hit the homer that drove his two mates across.

Robins Discover Defensive Punch in Retaining Lead

New York, June 15.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Robins, heretofore considered only as a powerful offensive team, gave the baseball gossipers something else to talk about last week, when they compiled a record of four victories and one defeat with 22 runs to keep their place at the top of the National league standings.

With their pitchers holding the opposition to 16 runs—the lowest in either of the major leagues—the Robins made every one of their 46 hits count to top the senior circuit in games won and lost during the week ending Saturday.

In accord with their climb to the honor position in the American league, the Cleveland Indians piled up the best record for the week in the junior circuit with five victories and one defeat.

on the prize fight commission, learned how to move Mr. Muldoon around. Mr. Farley is a politician and soon after he entered the boxing board he perceived that Mr. Muldoon was not to be budged by force. So he used flattery. Mr. Farley deferred to Mr. Muldoon's judgment and boundless wisdom. He made speeches, referring to him as the grand old man.

Wastes Force on Racket.

James J. Johnston, Mr. Farley's favorite prize fight manager, had his difficulties with Mr. Muldoon before Farley was appointed to the commission, but he took a political lesson from Mr. Farley. Nowadays he can have just about anything he wants from Mr. Muldoon.

The old man has wasted a tremendous force of purpose and principle on a racket too low for shame. No man ever has challenged his honesty nor his sincerity, but the world might have been somewhat richer for his life if his intelligence had been of a kind to deal in government or industry or science. Even Burbank would have made a flop of his life if he had spent all his time trying to teach the stinkweed to give attar of roses.

GRIGSBY QUITS ASSOCIATION OF RADIO MAKERS

Raps Influence of R. C. A. Group.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Charging that Radio Corporation of America and certain associated companies are preventing the Radio Manufacturers' association from taking an active stand on issues of vital importance to the radio industry, B. J. Grigsby, chairman of the board of the Grigsby-Grunow company, last night announced that his firm has resigned as a member of the group. The association has a membership of 250 of the leading makers of radio sets and parts.

Radio corporation and its associates, which are members of the association, are engaged in establishing a monopoly in every phase of radio art, Mr. Grigsby charged, through its influence the stand of the association on questions of interest to members of the industry is being weakened, he asserted.

Seeks Dissolution.

The withdrawal of the Grigsby-Grunow company is the result of the association's attitude on the suit of the federal government against Radio corporation. The government in its suit is asking the dissolution of the combine formed several months ago of Radio corporation, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing companies and General Electric company.

"The attorney general of the United States has filed a petition asking the dissolution of the radio trust," Mr. Grigsby said. "In his petition he recites it as the most far reaching conspiracy in restraint of trade that has ever been described in such pleadings in the history of the United States. The congress of the United States is seriously occupying itself with the consideration of this great problem.

"The Radio Manufacturers' association in this public crisis takes the position that it cannot do anything which would interfere with those members. It cannot do anything to prevent a monopoly which would destroy or seriously cripple all of its members except Radio Corporation of America and its associates, even though they are engaged in a criminal conspiracy to monopolize the radio industry.

Willing to Coöperate.

"The radio industry, as organized in the Radio Manufacturers' association, cannot and does not express its own sentiments, nor stand as an industry for the things in which it believes. We believe the ineptitude on the part of the industry in this crisis is a public catastrophe. We are confident that a large number of the members of the association take the same position as we do."

Mr. Grigsby stated that when the rights of the independent manufacturer have been established his company will be willing to coöperate with trade association activity with other members of the industry.

The Grigsby-Grunow company is the largest of the independent radio companies and the largest makers of complete radio sets in the country.

Big Issue of Union Gulf Is Being Offered

Plans for financing the big pipe line and refinery expansion program of the Gulf Oil corporation of Pennsylvania were announced last night. The laying of a pipe line from Oklahoma to Pittsburgh and erection of refineries at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Toledo will be conducted by the Union Gulf corporation, a subsidiary.

An issue of $60,000,000 Union Gulf collateral trust sinking fund 5 per cent bonds will be offered today by the Union Trust company and the Mellon National bank, Pittsburgh; Guaranty Trust company, Bankers company and National City company, New York; and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Chicago. The offering price will be 99 and interest, to yield 5.08 per cent. The bonds are dated July 1, 1930, and mature July 1, 1950.

Security for Issue.

The bonds will be secured by the pledge of stocks of several big industrial corporations having a total market value exceeding $80,000,000 and the corporation will maintain securities in trust to a market value of at least 130 per cent of the bonds outstanding.

Several other sizable offerings also will be made today. Among them Lee, Higginson & Co., Bank of Montreal and Harris Trust and Savings bank are offering $7,500,000 Bell Telephone Company of Canada first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, series C, at 101½ and accrued interest, to yield over 4.90 per cent.

An additional issue of $1,000,000 first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds of Arizona Edison company is offered by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc. and Coffin & Burr, Inc., priced at 94 and accrued interest to yield over 5.50 per cent. The bonds are dated January 1, 1928 and mature 1948.

Issues of $2,000,000 five per cent and $1,980,000 four per cent bonds of the city of Milwaukee are offered by Stranahan, Harris & Otis and M. M. Freeman & Co. The bonds are issued for sewer and park purposes.

New bond offerings this week also will include City of Seattle, Wash., $831,000 4½ per cent water revenue bonds, Town of Kearny, N. J., $1,986,000 4½ per cent water bonds; and City of Great Falls, Mont., $500,000 4½ per cent water and sewer bonds.

Plan $4,000,000 Loan.

A. G. Becker & Co. is heading a international syndicate which expects to offer within a day or two a $4,000,000 loan of the Central German Power company of Magdeburg, Germany. The loan matures June 1, 1934. It is expected that the offering will be made at a price to yield around 6½ per cent.

Directors of the Colorado & Southern railway have recommended a mortgage bond issue to total about $20,000,000 to reimburse the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad.

GOTHAM RUMOR SAYS BIG BANKS MAY BE MERGED

Report Morgan Buying National City Bank.

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—A trinity of rumors has been exciting Wall street for several days, but thus far confirmation has been lacking. Nevertheless, the rumors persist, and they are here put down for what they may be worth.

1. S. Parker Gilbert is ending his work as the German reparations commissioner and will return to New York to step into Charles E. Mitchell's job as president of the National City bank, one of the two largest financial institutions in the world.

2. J. P. Morgan is buying huge blocks of stock in the National City bank and may be in position to supplant Mitchell and put Gilbert in control.

Talk World's Largest Bank.

3. The National City bank and the Guaranty Trust company will soon merge, thereby restoring to the National City its title as the world's largest bank, which it enjoyed until recently topped by the Chase-Equitable merger.

Rumors affecting Mr. Mitchell have been current ever since the stock market debacle of last fall. At that time he was a prominent figure in banker pools which shot stop-gaps into the crashing market and—again if rumor be believed—was himself caught in the tide. It was expected that the statement for the last quarter of 1929 of the National City's earnings would reflect a serious drop in earnings, but the statement when it came forth showed in fact an increase for the period—and Mr. Mitchell's place as president appeared safe.

New Rumors Crop Up.

The new rumors concerning Mr. Mitchell have cropped up with the approaching return to this country of Mr. Gilbert. It had been understood that the Morgan bank would make a place for him, but within the last few days Wall street has heard that this place will not be in the Morgan bank but as head of the National City.

Some strength is given to this angle of the rumor by the further rumor that the Morgan bank has been quietly buying up National City stock, and that a merger with the Guaranty Trust Co. is in the making.

Gilbert May Be President.

If all of these changes come true, S. Parker Gilbert will find himself president of a merged institution far outstripping any other financial concern in the world.

The most recent bank statements give the Chase-Equitable resources of $2,551,435,063. The National City is rated at $1,995,838,614, while the Guaranty has $1,749,321,065. If merged, these two banks would have the stupendous resources of $3,745,159,679.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 15.—A syndicate composed of Speyer & Co., the National City company and J. & W. Seligman & Co. has purchased an issue of $7,500,000 5½ per cent secured treasury notes, due May 5, 1931, from the Greek government. According to a formal statement issued by the bankers, the notes will be placed privately and no public offering is contemplated.

The notes are secured by the pledge of about $2,680,000 bonds of the Greek government 5 per cent loan of 1914, the value of which is equivalent to about $10,172,000. A total of £1,500,000 Greek government treasury bills of the same maturity and similarly secured has been placed in the London market.

It is understood that these loans will tide the Greek government over until a larger long-time loan can be placed jointly in New York and in the principal financial centers of the bonds deposited as security.

Family Living Cost of Ford Worker Is Surveyed

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 15.—A survey showing for the first time how a $7 a day Ford worker and his family live in Detroit on the minimum wage now being paid in the Ford plants has just been completed by the United States bureau of labor statistics in Washington and forwarded to the international labor office in Geneva.

Upon this basic survey comparative statistics will be assembled by the international office in 17 European cities, the primary purpose of which will be to supply the Ford company with data upon which it may base wages paid and to be paid abroad equal in purchasing power to those paid in Detroit.

The Detroit survey, in which six experts of the department of labor have been engaged for five months, was conducted under the supervision of J. C. Bowen, chief statistician of the bureau of labor statistics.

The investigation to be made abroad by the international labor office will be directed by its chief statistician, and financed by the twentieth century fund.

Basis for Study.

The value and significance of the Detroit survey in itself and also a basis for the comparative studies of living conditions abroad, was emphasized today by Etyelbert Stewart, U. S. commissioner of labor statistics, who in his report says, in part:

"In May, 1929, the international labor office received from the Ford Motor company a request which involved a problem of extraordinary interest to labor and industry in both the United States and Europe. The request was for information as to what minimum wage rates it would be necessary for the Ford Motor company to pay in each of several European cities in order to permit of a standard of living equivalent to that enjoyed by the Detroit employes who received the minimum of $7 per day.

Covers 100 Families.

"The Detroit study has now been completed and will be published in the next issue of the Monthly Labor Review. The study covered 100 families, each consisting of a husband, wife, and two or three children. The husbands were all employed by the Ford Motor company, each receiving approximately $7 per day during 1929, working an average of 250 days during the year, and having total annual expenditures averaging $1,719.

"For each of these 100 families a schedule was obtained showing expenditure for every item purchased during the year and, as far as possible, the physical quantity of each item purchased. The schedule was detailed, containing no less than 480 items, varying in economic importance from rent and coal to canned milk and matches.

"The averages for the 100 schedules are a picture of the standard of living of these families. As regards money costs, it was found that the average total expenditure of $1,719 was divided as follows:

"Food, $551.12 (32.3 per cent); clothing, $210.67 (12.2 per cent); housing, $388.81 (22.6 per cent); fuel and light, $103.20 (6 per cent); furniture and furnishings, $88.55 (5.2 per cent), and minor and miscellaneous items, $372.48 (21.7 per cent)."

LATE TREND OF STOCKS IS APT TO BEFOG TRADE

Summer May Not Be Time to Clear Up.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 15.—A good deal that is written about the financial situation, now as on other occasions, seems to begin with the assumption, possibly unconscious, that the really important consideration is the action of the stock market.

Rise or fall in stock exchange prices is apt to be discussed as if the paramount matter of interest to the whole financial scheme was whether "the bulls" or the "the bears" were getting the better in their perennial conflict. At a not at all distant period we have seen the vicissitudes of trade, the changes in money rates and in the general credit position, even the variation of staple prices, treated as something relatively negligible, so long as

The Company owns and operates the principal telephone system in the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario, serving a territory of 833,000 square miles with 6,000,000 population, including Montreal and Toronto, the largest cities in Canada.

These Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a First Mortgage on all real estate, buildings and telephone plant, now owned or hereafter acquired by the Company. Further Bonds may be issued but only under the conservative restrictions of the mortgage. The authorized issue is limited so that the amount of the First Mortgage Bonds outstanding shall never exceed twice the amount of paid-up capital stock.

Book cost of real estate, buildings and telephone plant, December 31, 1929, was approximately $163,082,000, or over 2.4 times the $67,500,000 First Mortgage Bonds. Present actual value greatly exceeds the book cost.

Net earnings during the last five years have averaged 3.42 times bond interest charges.

BREAK OF CANADA DROUGHT SHOCKS BULLS ON WHEAT

Tariff Tends to Increase Bearish Sentiment.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A breaking of the drought in the Canadian northwest has removed the last prop under the wheat market, as the trade sees it. The liquidation which developed in futures during the last week, with the July selling down to 99c, the lowest of the season, and other futures reaching new ground, was a reflection of the much needed moisture.

Whether the rains were sufficiently heavy to carry the crop for any length of time cannot be determined at the present time, but bullish confidence has been given a severe shock, and a majority of the wheat trade lean strongly toward the belief that rallies will be hard to maintain unless there is a radical change in the situation.

As the trade sees it, world's economic conditions are not to the fore at the moment for a sustained advance in prices, and the passage of the new tariff bill by congress tended to increase bearish sentiment, many operators expressing the belief that it would be followed by further advances in foreign import duties on American agricultural products as a retaliatory measure.

It is figured that the United States has around 275,000,000 bu of old and new wheat for export during the 1930-'31 season, based on the crop outlook at the moment, and the disposal of such a quantity of grain is a problem in itself. Aside from a major crop scare in the spring wheat territory, or heavy buying of futures by the stabilization corporation, the trade can see nothing in the situation to warrant the permanent maintainance of the July delivery at $1 per bu, although as the result of a five day straight break the technical situation has undoubtedly been improved.

Must Absorb Hedging Sales.

The market has still to face the heavy hedging pressure which is anticipated when the harvesting of the new wheat crop in the southwest gets under way, and there is also heavy liquidation to be absorbed due to liquidation by longs in the July. The open interest in the nearby month is well above 50,000,000 bu, having been reduced around 10,000,000 bu in the last thirty days.

July wheat closed Saturday at 99¼ @99½c. September was $1.01⅜@1.01⅝ and December $1.06¼@1.06⅝, showing net losses of 6⅜@7½c as compared with the previous week. Prices follow:

Corn Prices Decline.

Closing of spreads between corn and rye, and short covering gave the former grain a showing of strength early, but liquidation finally spread from wheat and all deliveries dropped to a new low for the season, showing net losses of 4¼@5c for the week. The break was not surprising, as the trade sees it, owing to the pronounced weakness in other feedstuffs and grains and there has been a rather marked curtailment in the Canadian demand, especially in the eastern provinces due to severe competition with Argentina.

Outlook for the new crop at the present time is regarded as very favorable, and an increased movement is expected later in the season.

LIQUIDATION IN OATS

Liquidation was fairly heavy in oats with all futures selling at a new low for the season and the July to the lowest figure during the month of June since 1922. Trade in the aggregate was light, and crop reports generally favorable, the recent rains materially improving the outlook. July closed at 36⅝@36½c on Saturday with September, 37@37¼c, and December, 40⅛@40⅜c, showing losses of 2⅝@3⅝c for the week.

Rye prices at the present time are the lowest in 30 years. Not since November, 1900, has the market declined to the figures prevailing at the present time, with a drop of around 55c from the best figure of the season. There appeared to be no bottom to the market during the last week, with shorts about the only buyers, and spreaders who bought rye and sold corn some time ago were taking their losses. July rye is only about half the price of wheat, an abnormal spread. Net losses for the week were 9⅝@10¼c, with July closing at 50½c on Saturday; September, 55½c, and December, 61⅝c.

LIQUIDATION IN LARD

Liquidation was on in lard during the week and, while there was fair buying at times, the close was heavy, with net losses of 50@57½c as compared with the previous week. Bellies were dull and closed 5@30c lower. Economic conditions in Europe have curtailed the demand for American hog products, and specialists look for further liquidation.

Ford Motor of Canada.

Could you send me the following information: Par value of Ford Company of Canada? Have they ever paid a stock dividend? All general information you may send will be appreciated.—H. A.

Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., at the close of 1929 had outstanding 1,588,956 shares of class A stock and 70,000 shares of class B. Both are of no par value.

No stock dividends have been reported on the new class A and B shares which were created March 26, 1929, although stock dividends were paid several times on the old stock prior to 1917. Initial cash dividends of $1.20 each on both the class A and class B shares have been declared payable June 23, 1930, to stock of record June 2, 1930. In addition, extra 30 cent dividends are payable on both classes at the same time. Directors have signified their intention to place the stock on a regular $1.20 annual basis, payable semi-annually, June and December. The first regular semi-annual dividend distribution is to be made in December, 1930, with the payment of 60 cents per share.

Ford Motor Company of Canada last year apparently regained its stride after the interruption due to the change of models two years ago. Net profit was $5,232,819, equal to $3.15 per share on the combined A and B shares. In 1928 there was a loss of $3,400,651, in 1927 a profit of $171,222, and in 1926 a profit of $5,341,177.

The recent reductions by the company in the selling price of its products were said by the management to have been made possible by a large volume of business in the first five months of 1930.

Indicated margin of profit per unit manufactured in 1929 averaged $58, compared with an average net loss of $44 a unit in 1928 and an average unit income of $50 in 1926, the last year of large volume production of the Model T.

The stock deserves a fairly good rating.

Southern New England Telephone.

Will you please give me a report on Southern New England Telephone company 5 per cent debentures? Are they a sound investment?—P. R. R.

The $10,000,000 debenture 5s, due June 1, 1970, recently issued by Southern New England Telephone company, are a direct obligation of the company but are not secured by mortgages. They are protected, however, by a provision which stipulates in case the company shall mortgage any of its property in the future it shall secure these debentures ratably with any other indebtedness secured thereby. The company further agrees that as long as these debentures are outstanding its funded debt shall not exceed 50 per cent of the actual cost of its then existing property unless such excess amount is subordinated to this issue.

GASOLINE ALLEY—AVERY'S NIGHT

MY GOOD FRIENDS, WE GATHER HERE TO GIVE GODSPEED TO ONE OF OUR NUMBER WHO HAS BUILT HIMSELF A HOUSE ON FOUR WHEELS AND A SPARE TIRE AND TOMORROW FARES FORTH ON THE OPEN ROAD. WITH THE SPIRIT OF ADVENTURE COURSING THROUGH HIS VEINS HE LEAVES DULL CARE BEHIND—AT LEAST THAT'S HIS PLAN.
THAT'S ME. NONE OF THE REST OF YOU BIRDS HAVE ADVENTUROUS SPIRITS.
AND NOW I KNOW WHY AVERY BUILT A SHACK AROUND THE OLD BUS. HE WAS ASHAMED TO DRIVE IT ANYWHERE UNLESS IT WAS IN DISGUISE.
WHO'S HE CASTING ASPERSIONS ON, AVERY?
THAT'S RIGHT, AVERY. THE MAN IN THE COVERED WAGON HAD NOTHING ON YOU.
ALL RIGHT, AVERY NOW YOU TELL 'EM.
WELL FELLAS, I DON'T CLAIM TO BE ANY SPEECH MAKER, AS THE FELLA SAYS, BUT I DO THANK YOU FOR THE KIND WORDS AND FREE FEED. AND SOME NIGHT OFF IN THE MOUNTAINS OR IN THE PINE FORESTS WHEN I SMOKE THIS CIGAR I'LL THINK OF EVERY LAST ONE OF YOU.
YES, OR YOU MIGHT BURN A HOLE IN YOUR POCKET.
BE SURE TO POUR WATER ON IT EVERY NIGHT, AVERY, SO AS NOT TO START A FOREST FIRE.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre Paris train. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Jane Bender. She is apprehensive about the coming visit, because she had received, before sailing, a letter from Hermione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is dying. Macadam is a lawyer, and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is received coldly by the servants. Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had tried to poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him, and she tells him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment, she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in, only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying and knows she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence over Mme. Bender.

Geoffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He already put an investigator on the case. He asks her to marry him, but she wants to be sure of her feelings. Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister at Fontainebleau. Geoffrey discovers Blom, the mysterious person seen around the Bender apartment, is being a possible heir to the Bender fortune. Shortly after this discovery Blom's engagement to Mme. Baron Miss Cushing's milliner, a widow, whose maiden name is the family name of Mme. Bender, is announced.

A fire breaks out in Mme. Bender's apartment early in the morning and she is burned to death. Most of the building is saved. Catherine had returned suddenly to Paris the night before. The servants deny to Geoffrey that she came to the apartment. Geoffrey sees Eduardo, the butler, to Blom's office. He sends for his investigator to watch the place. He then calls his father and together they call on the commissarial de police, who sends Inspector Bazin to hear their case. Geoffrey returns to see if the servants have anything to withdraw heard from Catherine.

Catherine did go to Mme. Bender's apartment on her return from Fontainebleau. It was after midnight, and, entering the side door, she reached her room without encountering the servants.

INSTALLMENT LXVII.

PRETENDED STUPIDITY.

Catherine meant to go straight to bed, but now there was nothing to prevent her, she pottered about at leisure, as women delight in doing, wasting time, her mind running over the events of the week. Half an hour slipped by, and she had not even finished unpacking.

Presently she opened the cupboard and put her hat into the oval hat box on the shelf. Then her eye fell upon the new hat which Honorine had made for her several weeks ago. Only once had she taken it out of the bag in which it had been sent home, for she considered it a failure, one of those experiments in economy which end in sheer waste. She got it down and looked it over. What was wrong with the thing? It was almost an exact copy of the one she had just been wearing—pale green felt and the same shape—for the old hat, though shabby, was becoming and she had wanted another to take its place. Only somehow this attempt hadn't come off.

She tried it on before the mirror, pulling it into place with a touch of adjustment and studying it critically from every angle. To her surprise it didn't seem so hopeless now. Anyhow, the color suited her. Geoffrey always said of her in this particular shade of almond green. Lately he had overcome a little diffidence about paying compliments and had said a number of things which showed he was not blind to her appearance. She was glad of that. It would be exasperating if one's husband never noticed one's clothes.

As this thought rose unbidden to her mind her cheeks flushed red, and lo!

Get up, Jeanne! Don't you hear me? Madame's room is in flames and the door is locked! Quick—where is the key?"

Under the influence of the sudden transformation the hat assumed a still more elegant aspect. Why, it was distinctly possible. She took her lipstick from her bag and tried the effect of it.

She moved back a step and in doing so her sleeve knocked the bag off the dressing table, scattering its contents wide over the floor. She stooped to retrieve the various articles—latch key, powder puff, diary, pencil, all save the lipstick, which had rolled far away and was hidden from sight. After a brief search she gave it up.

As she straightened up and started to remove the hat, she stopped with her arms raised and sniffed the air inquiringly. Some queer odor had crept into the room. What was it? It could not come from outside, for the window was tightly closed. She sniffed again with growing intentness. Smoke . . . something was burning. But where? Not, surely, in the apartment.

She opened the door and peered into the passage. Here the smell was distinctly noticeable, acrid, insistent. Something was afire. She went along swiftly in towards the back of the apartment, came to the kitchen door and looked in. No, there was nothing wrong in this quarter. Yet the odor increased, carrying with it a pungent suggestion as of burning varnish. There was even, she now saw, a faint streaked haze in the air, hovering in her direction from the other passage which led to the rooms on the court side. At the same moment her ear detected the ominous crackle of flames not far away.

Good heavens, the place was on fire! She could not be mistaken.

Something must be done quickly. She must rouse Jeanne, give the alarm. She quickened her pace towards the dressing room, then as she reached it drew up abruptly, her heart in her mouth. There, just in front of her, she beheld the source of the conflagration. Smoke, thick, dark gray, poured in ribbons from beneath her cousin's door, streamed through the keyhole and round the cracks at the side.

"O, my God!"

She choked suddenly as the fumes mounted in her nostrils.

Germaine's room was on fire. Did the poor creature know? She took steps to make her sleep, but even so. . . . The crackling grew, small popping explosions came from the other side of the door. She seized the knob and turned it, only to meet with an unexpected resistance. She pushed with all her strength, beat upon the panels, then gave up. A cold sweat broke out all over her. God in heaven, the door was locked!

Like lightning, without time to wonder at this appalling circumstance, she darted into the adjoining room, straight to the couch in the corner, where the tempered gloom she was just able to make out the dark mass of Jeanne's recumbent body, covered to the ears with a thick eiderdown. A heavy, stertorous snore greeted her. She grasped the sunken shoulders and shook them lustily, shouting:

"Jeanne, wake up! Madame's room is on fire. She will be killed!"

Then she dashed to the inner door, tried it, pushed with might and main. To her horror this, too, was securely fastened; nor was there any sign of a key. What could it mean?

Catherine made a dive for the light, switched it on. The glare shone on the fussy room, revealing the pile of neat garments lying across a chair, the disorder of bedclothes on the floor, the stripped couch with its supine occupant.

"Get up, Jeanne! Don't you hear me? Madame's room is in flames and the door is locked! Quick—where is the key?"

"Flames? Impossible! What is all this fuss about?"

Hysterical with despair, Catherine gazed at her helplessly. The situation was like some fantastic dream. Had the keen witted Jeanne taken leave of her senses? Then all at once she caught a watchful gleam in the brown eyes, and in a flash of comprehension saw through the whole ruse. This stupidity was assumed—the woman was pretending!

Suddenly she spied, a little distance apart, two keys lying where the maid had swept them from the bedside table. She swooped upon them, caught one up, even as a hand from the bed shot downward like a bird of prey, striking her own in its descent.

No time to think. She was at the door now, fitting first one key, then the other into the lock. The next instant there was a cataclysmic movement behind her; her arms were grasped and she felt herself powerfully dragged back.

Jeanne, transformed into a fury, every vestige of shamming gone, clutched her with a grip of steel. The girl fought like a tigress, her brain distraught to seize the significance of what was happening. All she knew was that close at hand the helpless invalid was trapped in a furnace, and this insensate creature was trying to prevent her going to the rescue. Love lent her superhuman energy. She wrenched herself free, turned the key and threw open the door. A column of smoke burst through the gap, and even as she recoiled from the suffocating fumes her staring eyes beheld the room in a nightmare—a picture she was never to forget.

In the room beyond, lit by a red glare, she saw the bed wreathed in pennons of fire, galloping, racing to the ceiling. The carpet, scorched to a crisp, spouted with jets of orange, while through the blackened draperies that hung upon the wall the silver crucifix, the candles beneath it melted to form streaming streams of wax. On the floor between the bed and the chair, outstretched and motionless, lay Mme. Bender, her night dress just beginning to be touched. One glance at the still face revealed to Catherine the awful truth. Germaine was already dead.

She screamed and took a step forward.

"King of Jazz" Is Riot of Music with Whiteman

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

"The King of Jazz" is a riot of beautiful color, music, staging, effects, and—yes—men! Handsome is a word one would rather apply to members of the so-called stronger sex, but lighting and hues conspire to make it an inadequate description of the males who perform in this picture. John Boles in the "Monterey" number is—BEAUTIFUL. And there are others.

Pictorially, "The King of Jazz" is bewitching, and its music has a beat and lure that sway the senses. The film falls down on its comedy. There's hardly a laugh in the carload. And "The Rhapsody in Blue" would have been far more effective played "straight" by Mr. Whiteman and his band, as they and they alone can play it, than all mixed up as it is with John Murray Anderson's stage manipulations—which are interesting, but out of place in this particular number.

Mr. Whiteman and his boys are much and delightfully on the job throughout the production. Jeanette Loff sings and performs in a manner that, combined with her good looks, should win her much consideration from Universal. The Russell Market dancers entertain expertly. The "Monterey" episode, featuring John Boles and Miss Loff—lovely! "Bench" and "Bridal Veil" numbers are stunning. "Monterey" and "Dawn" are the most humble songs sung.

"The King of Jazz" is an entrancing eyeful. You can believe that.

Behold John Barrymore on display in a sort of Dickens' atmosphere of London fog and the middle classes, being, possibly, very funny, only I didn't think so.

As one stewed Lord Strathpepper, he crashes into the wrong dinner party. Mistaken as a paid "guest" from an institution known as Blankley's, which furnishes needy hostesses with what they have to have, he flounders about, renewing an interrupted romance with Miss Seaton, governess, who is impecunious but of aristocratic birth, finds himself at the mercy of the establishment's enfant terrible and has one embarrassing moment after another—without being in the least embarrassed, so far as you can see.

The expressions on the face of Emily Fitzroy impressed me most of anything in this piece which I found exceedingly tiresome, being, probably incapable of appreciating subtleties it must have had. John Barrymore starring in it and everything.

See you tomorrow.

Food Jamboree at Pier Opens; Women Learn Cooking Art

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

The Navy pier will be a center of attraction for housewives this week. There Mrs. Anna J. Peterson, culinary expert, will expound ways and means of preparing meals without heat during the hot weather, how to make American cooking taste foreign and vice versa, and how the early American dishes were prepared.

Mrs. Peterson's cooking lectures and demonstrations comprise the main feature of the food jamboree which opened yesterday in the balcony of the south wing of the pier, under the auspices of the Cook County Retail Grocers and Butchers' association. More than 500 feet of booths are occupied by the exhibits, in which each product is to be demonstrated for the benefit of women.

On Friday of this week a competitive "kitchen fashion show" will be staged, with any housewife who wishes to enter displaying her own idea of the most chic and efficient kitchen garb. It may be pajamas, overalls, an old fashioned apron or a new fashioned smock. The winner will be awarded a merchandise certificate.

There will also be prizes of a week's groceries delivered to the customer who has traded for the longest consecutive time with any one grocer, and there will be a loving cup awarded to the oldest grocer, in point of years, to be located in Cook county.

Father's Day Receives Little Public Notice Here

Being the third Sunday in June, yesterday was Father's day. Public recognition, through the radio, the pulpit, and the press was stated to be but a fraction of that accorded Mother's day. The Rev. J. John, pastor of the Chatham Union church, 8112 Cottage Grove avenue, was one of the few pastors who took "Father's Day" as the subject of his sermon, according to the list of church programs printed in yesterday's TRIBUNE.

The Question.

The Answers.

Charles Banks, 2553 Winnemac avenue, newspaper man. —I thoroughly enjoy being in formal attire. There is something about it that quite takes one out of the realm of the humdrum and the tussle of everyday affairs.

Mrs. E. E. Waller, Boonville, Mo., commerce teacher.—Formal attire is so bright, attractive and appealing. The more we indulge in these formal occasions the better it is for us.

A. C. Tisdelle Jr., 29 South La Salle street, financier. — I should say so. It is very amusing thus outfitted to ritz the proletariat on the boulevard. But, on the other hand, on occasion it is more conspicuous and therefore more difficult for one to elude the sheriff.

Miss Ethel Terrill, Mount Vernon, Ky., high school teacher.—I enjoy wearing it. Receptions, parties, dances—all affairs women make a fuss over. We like to dress up. The compliments we receive are inspiring. And I assure you we like to see the men dressed up.

James Timsley, 443 North Dearborn street, garage owner. —The formal dress is the slickest thing as to man's attire that ever entered a limousine door. The women have nothing on the men when it comes to that. But I have so much better use for other clothes that men wear.

Rev. Charles Fani Marks Silver Jubilee as Priest

The Rev. Charles Fani, 15 years pastor of Our Lady of Pompeii Catholic church, 1224 Macalister place, celebrated his silver jubilee as a priest at special services yesterday morning. The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Shiel, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, and notable members of the Italian community were present.

Ohio Bishop Will Preach at Stewart Consecration Rites

The Rev. Dr. George Craig Stewart, bishop coadjutor elect of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, has announced that the Rt. Rev. Warren L. Rogers, bishop coadjutor of Ohio, will be the preacher at the service Wednesday at St. Luke's church, Evanston, when Dr. Stewart is made a prelate. The Most Rev. James D. Perry, presiding bishop of the church, will be the consecrator.

As the ancient rites of the church require at least three prelates to consecrate a bishop, the primate, Bishop Perry, will be assisted by Bishop Charles E. Woodcock of Kentucky and Bishop Sheldon M. Griswold, Chicago, as co-consecrators. Bishop William T. Manning of New York and Bishop Harry Tunis Moore of Dallas, Tex., will present Dr. Stewart. Attending presbyters will be the Rev. Dr. William Francis Taylor, rector of St. Peters church, Ripon, Wis., and the Rev. Dr. E. Reginald Williams, rector of St. Mark's church, Milwaukee.

The registrar of the consecration will be the Rev. Dr. Edwin J. Randall, executive secretary of the diocese of Chicago, and the Rev. Alfred Newberry, rector of the Church of the Atonement, will be master of ceremonies. Credentials of Dr. Stewart's election will be read by Bishop Thomas Casady of Oklahoma, the Very Rev. Dr. John H. Edwards, Highland Park, the Rev. G. G. Moore, Chicago, and Henry E. Mason, a layman of Highland Park. The sacred ministers of the Eucharist will be the Rev. John B. Hubbard and the Rev. Gardner McWhorter, assistants at St. Luke's church, Evanston.

Ben Lyons and His Bride on Honeymoon; Where? It's Secret

Los Angeles, Cal., June 15.—(AP)—The screen world's latest newlyweds, Ben Lyons and Bebe Daniels, whose marriage at the Beverly-Wilshire hotel last night was the screen colony's social event of the season, were honeymooning today somewhere in northern California. The wedding ceremony was performed before approximately 1,000 guests. After the ceremoney, attended by filmdom's great and near great, the pair slipped away—where, even their best friends won't tell.

Lyons, juvenile screen lover, is a licensed pilot and owns a plane, but whether the two took off for an aerial honeymoon is a matter of conjecture in Hollywood. Some reports said they motored toward Carmel-by-the-Sea, south of San Francisco.

The marriage culminated a year's romance, though the two have known each other since childhood. It is the first marriage of either.

Tentative plans of the newlyweds include a honeymoon trip to Europe later in the summer.

THE STAGE

EDGAR WALLACE'S melodrama of Chicago's gangsters, "On the Spot," which is a success in London, has been secured for American production next season by the Shuberts. This play was the fruit of the English author's visit to Chicago and conferences with our police officials last winter. He went back home, dramatized a few pages from the history of bootlegger crimes, and achieved the greatest success of his active career as a playwright. Pictures of scenes from "On the Spot" as acted in London, showing the gangsters in braided coats and black and white sports shoes, were printed in the rotogravure section of THE TRIBUNE recently.

Lee Shubert anounced his intention to stage "On the Spot" last Saturday on his return from Europe. He also stated that the New York run will take place in a theater to be named the Edgar Wallace, and to be devoted, temporarily at least, exclusively to plays by the prolific Englishman.

Mr. Shubert had other interesting and perhaps more important things to say. For example: He declared that his firm will double its output of plays next season. He seemed to feel that the panic in the legitimate theater over the menace of the talkies had ended, and that the outlook for the stage next season was extremely bright.

"I am prepared to wager," he said, "that the renaissance of the theater is at hand. In Europe I found that the theater is experiencing an astonishing rebirth. For some years European producers have been in a state of stagnation, but that is all gone now. I have never seen so many fine plays or such enthusiastic audiences as during this spring trip to Europe. For a while, over there, they were afraid of the talking pictures, but now they look upon them as a help to the legitimate theater, and I am convinced that they are right."

Mr. Shubert expressed pride over the success of the subscription seasons of drama given under the auspices of his firm last season in Chicago [the Dramatic League] and in Philadelphia [the Professional Players]. He announced that the subscription plan of organizing the audience for drama would be extended next season to Boston, Detroit, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, and possibly Kansas City.

Contracts for the American rights to a number of European plays were in the theatrical magnate's trunk. Among the titles which he named were "From Nine to Six," by Aimee and Philip Stuart; "The Man in Possession," by Capt. H. M. Harwood; "Almost A Honeymoon," by Walter Ellis; "The Insult," by Harold Terry and Harry Tighe; "The Last Enemy," by Frank Harvey; "Dr. Harmer's Holiday," by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, and, of course, Edgar Wallace's "On the Spot."

These he culled in England. In Germany he acquired "Napoleon Intervenes," by Walter Hasencliver, and in France he collected "My Sister and Me," by Verneuil and Benatsky.

The New York Theater league, an organization of managers recently formed to cope with the ticket speculators, is making rapid progress. Its constitution was ratified a few days ago and will soon be submitted to the ticket brokers for their indorsements. Its rules provide that brokers shall not charge more than a 75 cent premium and that managers shall not sell tickets en bloc to brokers. The league is seeking to terminate all "buys" [purchase by brokers of all desirable seats for an extended length of time] on July 19. C. C.

N. U. Graduates Challenged to Widen Religion

Dr. F. C. Grant Delivers Baccalaureate Sermon.

A challenge for youth to devise new forms and expression of religious life was thrown at Northwestern graduates by the baccalaureate preacher, the Very Rev. Frederick C. Grant, president and dean of the Western Theological seminary, yesterday afternoon. Willingness to follow where faith leads, President Grant declared, is the most important.

The Episcopal seminary leader pointed to enriched experience as a goal of education and stated that vast human experience lies behind the creeds, hymns and dogmas of the past which are being criticized and condemned in some quarters by intellectuals of the present day. Dean Grant suggested that one may glean much value from the concentrated human experience the older forms represent, and that "one would do well to try to understand them before he discards them altogether."

"Yet this does not dispense us from the duty and necessity of finding our own way, and creating or recreating proper expression for our own religious life," said Dean Grant. "If the Hebrew psalms do not express your religious thought, do not hesitate to learn what you can from them gather what nuggets of gold they lay before you. If St. Augustine's confessions offer no key to the meanins of your religious experience, learn what you can from them and pass on. Write your own hymns and pray your own prayers, if necessary, in order that you find yourself in God's world."

Dean Grant prophesied a new social order that will grow out of the present restless search for truth. He declared that the coming order will surpass any other yet known.

"The coming order will possess standards as foundations that will remain for 1,000 years," he said. "Differing from the past, the new world order which we are helping to make calls for the best contributions we can give."

Society Gets Adjusted for Summer Calm

BY THALIA ——.

The social scheme is readjusting itself to the leisurely and informal effect it assumes for the hot weather months. Departures for summer holidays are numerous, and the stay-at-homes are settling down to a golf playing, garden partying life.

Mrs. Charles B. Pikes of Lake Forest will give on Wednesday for their annual return at Bar Harbor, and Mrs. Walter Borden leaves the end of the week for France, where she is to be joined by friends for some traveling on the continent. The T. Albert Potters of Lake Forest left last week to motor to Jamestown, R. I., where they have been going for many years, and the Lloyd Bucks have taken their house there, as they did last year.

Mrs. Cyrus Edson Manierre has betaken herself and her children to Onteora Mountain for a summer vacation, now that school's out, and the Harding Colemans were to leave yesterday for Nantucket. Mrs. Clair E. Wheeler leaves today with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Caldwell for New York City and will sail on Wednesday for a trip abroad. During her travels, she may visit Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick at Cannes.

Mrs. Chauncey Blair's departure from Chicago, which she is to effect in the near future, is to be a permanent move for her and her son, Chauncey Blair, Jr. She is renting her apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive, and plans to live in New York City hereafter.

The Chicagoans listed in the villa and cottage directory of the Berkshire hills just compiled and published by Mary S. Hayward of Pittsfield, include Mrs. Warren M. Sallsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Sallsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. West, Mrs. Frederick S. Coolidge, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sprague Coolidge, all of whom live in the Pittsfield colony; Mr. and Mrs. George Higginson, Miss Kate Buckingham and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lee at Lenox; Mr. and Mrs. James Bloomfield Walker at Stockbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss L. Coonley, Mr. and Mrs. Delano de Windt, at Great Barrington; Mr. and Mrs. E. Parmalee Prentice, Mr. and Mrs. William Warren Tracy at Williamstown, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Rockwood Gibbs at Richmond. Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw of 1550 Lake View avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Watson of Manitka sojourned recently in Pittsfield.

Mrs. Edy D. Kochns of Lake Forest has been in New York City for several days and go to Princeton today; Edy Kochns Jr. is to receive his diploma. He is a member of the Black Horse troop that will act as escort to Gov. Emmerson on an honorary day to be held at the Arlington Park race track.

Mrs. John W. O'Leary's of 1500 Lake Shore drive are to spend the summer at their place at Burlington, Wis. They left Chicago Saturday evening, taking the lake steamer for a brief tour of the summer resorts at the north end of the lake before going to Burlington.

Miss Marion Montgomery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Montgomery of Hubbard Woods, is to be married to David Hudson Corkran Jr. on Tuesday, June 24. The ceremony is to take place at 5 p. m. at the Montgomery residence with the groom's father, the Rev. David H. Corkran of Niagara Falls, N. Y., officiating. The bride's attendants will be her sister, Miss. John Chappell Crawley of New York, as matron of honor; Miss Phyllis Bartlett, also of New York, as maid of honor, and Mrs. John R. Montgomery Jr., Miss Betty and Miss Barbara Harrison of Lincoln, Neb., and Miss Betty Rogers of Allandale, Fla., as bridesmaids. Adelaide Crawley is to be the flower girl. Coley Banks Taylor of New York City will be best man, and John R. Montgomery Jr., John C. Crawley, William E. Fowle, Robert H. Harrison, and W. Everett Pinnell are to usher. After a month's wedding trip motoring through New England Mr. and Mrs. Corkran are to live in Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shepard Reed are at New Haven attending the Yale commencement exercises. Their son, Charles S. Reed Jr., is in the graduating class and is to sail on June 19 for a motor trip in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Reed are to be at their summer place at Ottawa, Ill.

Miss Ann London, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman London, 3232 West Thomas street, was married last night to Sol Levitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Levitt, 871 North Sacramento avenue, in Bethel Center temple, 3228 Palmer street.

Appetite Is Often Unreliable Guide, Says Antoinette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

We women ought to begin now to familiarize ourselves better with food and its effect on beauty. I don't mean in relation to the silhouette, as every woman has a fair smattering of information about what to eat and what not to eat to excess for a trim and snappy figure. Of course, a more thorough understanding of food values could be used in this connection, too. Then there would be no need for the trying reducing periods that crop up in an ill regulated lifetime.

But I'm thinking chiefly today of the kind of food that is going to do something finer to the hair and the complexion. Let's lend as receptive an ear to food sermons as we do to talks on rouge and eye shadow. Anyway, half as receptive an ear! On second thought I guess it is just too much to expect our sex to tune in on a food talk if there's a makeup speech in the air.

But the thing is that now you are familiar with the external features of hair and complexion care. You know that dry skin needs oil and the oily shouldn't have more oil, and we presume you are smart enough to give the complexion its daily devotion. The truth is that the internal beautifying measures should, by right, have been absorbed before the external. But if the cart has gone before the horse, it's not too late to turn it 'round where it belongs.

What is asked of you now is to look at your appetite critically. Find out how reliable a guide it is. If you're double-chinned, disproportionately waist lined or your silhouette gives no hint of where waistline ends and hips begin, if you have oily, dry, or leathery skin and poor quality and texture of hair—your appetite may be a good guide for some other fellow but not for you.

There's something wrong with it if you have a chronic tired feeling, if you are nervous, irritable, cross, run-down. If you are constipated you can be pretty sure your appetite is misleading you. We have the authority of two great food specialists, Dr. E. V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins university and Dr. Nina Simmonds, that "nervousness and irritability are many times the first noticeable symptoms of faulty diet and following these the poor condition of the skin and hair attract attention.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Mrs. Summers, wife of Representative W. Summers, of Washington started yesterday for Evanston, Ill., to spend several days with their daughters, Miss Hope Summers and Miss Jean Summers, en route to her home in Walla Walla. Mrs. Summers will attend commencement at Northwestern university, her own alma mater, where Miss Hope Summers will give the school of speech alumnae reading.

The Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Padilla entertained at dinner tonight for the British Ambassador and Lady Lindsay. Their guests included Speaker and Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. John W. Garrett, wife of the United States ambassador to Italy.

Representative and Mrs. Fred A. Britten have given up their annual trip abroad and will spend a portion of next month at Montauk Point, L. I., where Secretary and Mrs. Davis had a cottage last year.

Survage and Pruna Exhibit Shows Art in Many Moods

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Chester Johnson gallery in the Fine Arts building is continuing for another week or ten days a charming exhibit of paintings and water colors by Leopold Survage and Pedro Pruna. Survage is shown in various guises. We find him pleasantly definite in a series of delicate water color landscapes and fascinatingly indefinite in a group of puzzling arrangements of the school which nothing but the word "cut-out" fits adequately.

Survage has a passion for childish mysteries. The very juvenile nature of the riddles makes them the more delightful. Soberly in the catalog one is given the title "Fish and Bird;" to heighten its effectiveness the title is in French. Then you look at the picture. There is no bird; there is no fish. Yet, wait. Here, a silver snout of a dogged submarine—is it? Can it be? It is! The fish without a doubt. The bird is more difficult of defining. At last a shadow of a rounded, childish wing, full bodied as the dove on a valentine, dawns upon you as being incredibly the bird. And it is the bird.

The "Le Jardinier" carries the riddle into more philosophic countries. We are faced with two huge brown hands, the hands of toil, one of them holding a leaf. Beside these vast hands there is a profile consisting chiefly of a wise and penetrating eye. Nature, nature's caretaker, the gardener, a life of honest toil, etc., etc., a hundred homilies run like homing pigeons to the symbolic fantasy.

Egypt on the dead run is the striking note in two clever and amusing canvases, "Paysage avec porteuse" and "Paysage avec Feuille." Evidently Survage cares not if the landscape be with porter or leaf just so speed and the Egyptians have their best foot forward. Yet these are decorative and delightful pictures. "Au Interior" possesses clear and brilliant color. The "Port Vendres" is soothingly, refreshingly low-keyed; the "Old Village" is charming.

The Pruna water colors and oils are fewer in number and are hung in the outer hall. The pastel, "Fleurs," is a bewitching panel of exquisite and delicate color. The rapid drawing of "Argentina," the Spanish dancer, is sure, confident and superbly left unfinished. The large canvas of "Caroline," shows a woman in gray-white with bared shoulders and a kerchief tied about her head. She seems to be waiting and bracing herself for some anticipated bad news.

The gallery will be closed for the summer when the exhibit ends. Mr. Johnson is sailing the last of June for Europe. The gallery will re-open about the middle of September.

Doris Tells Wife to Discard the Word "Sacrifice"

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"In this month of June I will be married exactly one year. In August it will be exactly a year since my husband and I separated. Since then we have seen each other occasionally. My husband wants me to try it again. He wants to make up and forget the past. I am willing to do so, but in talking things over he insists that if we live together I am not supposed to go out unless he is with me.

"He works nights and has the day free to do as he pleases. I work during the day, so if I do not go out with the others, I am out of luck. Do you think that it is fair, after I sacrifice myself to help him, to have no chance for my own amusement? The trouble is that I love him and he does me.

"ENID."

First, that reference to "sacrifice" irritates. And whether you know it or not, it acts as an irritant to yourself. So, get out of your system the idea that your life is one great sacrifice for the man. It is not. You married him because you cared more for him than you did for any other man. Obviously, you still care. You married him because you thought life would be more pleasant with him than without.

Perhaps you even married him because it looked as if you'd get somewhere in life and he'd be helpful to your ambitions. Maybe it was a home in the back of your mind; children, the security of marriage. Anyway, you didn't marry him in a spirit of sacrifice. Women aren't dragged into marriage, forced into it, nor hornswoggled into it. They go into it of their own free will, which eliminates all this silly sacrifice talk.

The fact that you, Enid, did not remain in it for more than two months proves pretty conclusively that the spirit of sacrifice was largely missing. So shoo all the silly sacrifice talk out for keeps. Then go ahead and make a few. It's the way to make marriage work, as those tending their jobs happily could inform you, if they would. Only they're hardly aware of the word sacrifice, so they wouldn't be communicative on the subject.

Never mind whether it is right or fair for the man to ask your strict loyalty to him. Use your free hour energy in thinking up ways and means of interesting your husband in a daytime job, when your present problem of amusement hour filling can be solved easily and agreeably.

Food Talk.

On first thought the stringing of beans seems such a simple and unimportant task that it is foolish to even mention the subject. But isn't any job worth talking about if it is done inefficiently?

There are many people who string beans for years and yet never do it correctly with all their practice. I was one of those people. Only three years ago I learned how. There is an old saying in which we all believe, "Anything that is worth doing is worth doing well." So why not apply this truth to stringing beans as well as to making coffee or baking biscuit? Fresh, tender string beans that are nicely prepared and well cooked are delicious. Then why not remove the strings so that the consumer can enjoy them to the fullest extent?

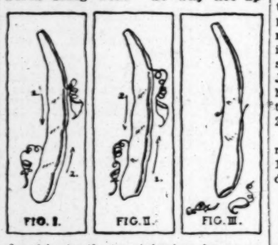

FIG. I. FIG. II. FIG. III.

Most of us have been shown how to string beans. Some, however, do it just the way they happened to start doing it. The tendency is to take hold of the end of the bean opposite the stem end and pull the string downward on the inner concave side, as is shown in the first illustration. When the stem end is reached a short end is snapped off and the attached string is pulled upward along the outer convex side.

This method usually removes a thin string extending the whole length of the bean. When we start at the stem end of the bean, as illustrated in the figure II., we snap off the end and pull the string upward along the outer convex side—the same direction as in the first method—until we reach the blossom end, then reverse the bean and pull the string down on the inner concave side. In this way we remove a much heavier string than we did with the first method.

Those who have not learned to string beans in any particular way often start at the blossom end and pull the string along the convex side first. Usually the string removed does not extend any farther than halfway the length of the bean. See figure III. The stem end is next broken or cut off and the string on the inner concave side is pulled toward the blossom end. By this method the least string is removed.

Recently I strung several quarts of beans to find the most efficient way. The second method which is here discussed and illustrated produced the largest quantity of strings, the first method the next largest quantity, and the third method the smallest quantity. Those beans with the greatest quantity of string removed were the most tender when cooked.

Green beans, like all other green vegetables, need to be cooked in an open kettle in just enough boiling salted water to cover. Cooking should not continue after the bean is tender. About 30 minutes of cooking is sufficient. If the beans are carefully watched, the cooking water may be evaporated without scorching the product. In this way all of the delicious flavor is retained.

Only melted butter is necessary as an accompaniment for a most pleasing plain vegetable. Green beans are delicious in salads, soups, or served with white or cheese sauce.

BREAKFAST STEW.

1 cup finely chopped chicken or other roasted meat.
2 tablespoons butter.
3 tablespoons flour.
2 cups hot water, soup stock or milk.
Dash pepper.

Use meat from the preceding dinner. Melt butter, add flour, stirring until well blended and slightly browned. Then add the liquid gradually, stirring continuously to keep smooth. Add meat and seasonings and continue cooking until meat is heated through.

RASPBERRY MUFFINS.

1 cup red or black raspberries.
2 cups bread flour or
2½ cups pastry flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 egg.
1 cup milk.
2 tablespoons melted butter.

Add sugar to berries. Sift flour, then measure. Resift with baking powder and salt. Beat egg and add milk and butter. Stir liquid into dry ingredients and mix as quickly as possible. Add berries with last few stirs. Just as soon as every trace of flour has disappeared pour into oiled muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

Yield: 12 medium sized muffins. One muffin: Total—121 calories; protein, 12 calories; fat, 28 calories; carbohydrates, 81 calories.

CHEESE SOUFFLE.

3 tablespoons butter.
4 tablespoons flour.
½ teaspoon salt.
¾ cup grated cheese.
Yolks 3 eggs.
Whites 3 eggs.
¼ teaspoonful baking powder.

Make a thick white sauce of butter, flour, milk and salt, cooking for 5 minutes. Add cheese; let it just melt so that it may be evenly blended with the white sauce. Cool and add Worcestershire sauce, well beaten egg yolks and, lastly, the stiffly beaten egg whites and baking powder. Pour into a well oiled baking dish, bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Serve immediately.

BUTTER ROLLS.

1 teaspoon salt.
2 cakes compressed yeast.
1 tablespoon sugar.
3 eggs, well beaten.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1 cup English walnuts, chopped.
½ cup granulated sugar.

Sift flour, then measure. To 1½ cups of flour add salt and shortening, combining as for pie crust. Add yeast and sugar to warm milk, blend well, then stir into first mixture. Cover and let stand 20 minutes, then add eggs, vanilla and remaining 1½ cups of flour. Stir well. The dough will be stiff, but slightly sticky. Tie dough loosely into a piece of cheese cloth and drop into a pail of just cool water (70-80 degrees F.).

In about one hour the dough will rise to the top of the water. Remove from pail, turn on a plate, cut off pieces the size of a small egg and roll each in a mixture of chopped nuts and sugar. Place rolls on a greased baking sheet, let stand 5 minutes, then bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes.

BAKED RICE.

¼ cup sugar.
½ teaspoon salt.
⅛ teaspoon salt.
⅛ teaspoon grated lemon rind.
3 cups milk.

Wash rice thoroughly and add all other ingredients. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 3 hours. Stir rice several times to prevent settling.

Black Taffeta Ruffles Finish Suede Gloves

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Paris kittens have found their mittens and they wear them to add the final touch of chic to their afternoon and evening frocks this summer. Mitts to match dresses or mitt sleeves play a prominent rôle in the formal mode. They are logical and practical accessories to the new short sleeved and sleeveless dresses, and smart women in Paris have been quick to grasp at this pretty solution of the bare arm problem.

Lace mitts or chiffon mitts are made with elastic round the top to hold them up. They may easily be slipped off and rolled into a ball, if you desire to change the aspect of your ensemble. The newest ones are guiltless of elastic, seeming to hold up by faith alone; in reality, they are so cleverly fitted to the upper arm that they stay in place unaided.

Some couturiers prefer long gloves to match costumes, rather than the slightly more unconventional mitts. Perrin's cannot fill their orders for long suede gloves specially dyed in the colors of evening fabrics. Alexandrine designs gloves specially to accompany the couturier's creations, trimmed with horsehair lace godets, incrustations of real lace or shirred godets of flowered chiffon.

The long gloves are the cutest thing about this cute evening frock from Martial et Armand. They are of black suede, fully twenty buttons long, and Mme. Vallet has trimmed them with little saw-tooth standing ruffles of black taffeta to match the taffeta frock which is "pinked"—as we used to call it—into saw-tooth at all its edges. Its tunic overskirt is mounted in a point on the bodice in front and is draped down toward the natural waistline in back, where a triple bustle ends the slit décolleté.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Delicate scents exuding from flower gardens may irritate some persons afflicted with hay fever, but to many gardeners the height of success is attained when they are able to fill their yards with fragrant odors from their flowers.

Flowers vary greatly in the amount of potency in fragrance. Some of the varieties most prized because of their scented blossoms do not have as colorful a display as other plants. The shrubs most prized for their fragrance include flowering cherries, French hybrid lilacs, common type syringa vulgaris of white and purple flowers, mock orange, sweet pepper bush, strawberry shrub, butterfly bush, vanhoutten spirea and the many kinds of roses.

For variety in scents, flower experts refer to the roses, honeysuckle, mignonette, carnation, petunia, apple blossom and violet; the pungent and woodslike odor of ferns; the faintly resinous odor of boxwood; the aromatic foliage of spirea, bergamot, santolina, lavender, blue spirea and lemon scented thyme; and the wholesome fragrance of new mown hay, clover or a meadow filled with daisies and buttercups.

White flowers in general seem to be the most sweet scented. This group includes nicotiana or tobacco plant, moonflower vine, petunia, tuberose and plantain lily. Evening primrose and four o'clocks which run on standard time also are good examples. Vines which add to a fragrant garden include the wistaria, the climbing roses, the jasmine and the clematis.

Play Is Necessary in the Development of a Normal Child

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A "Play Booklet" by Mrs. Bevans for mothers of pre-school children will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Do you think of play as a mere pastime for the children, as something that keeps them amused—an occupation or "busy work" to pass the time with until they are old enough for work—for school work, home work, productive hand work, or the actual earning of money?

If you have always thought of children's play as trivial, worthy of little thought and certainly not of study don't make that mistake any longer. Play is the lifework of children. And work is not a misused word here either.

Haven't you ever watched a child grunt and groan and put his soul and body into pulling a wagon and turning a corner without tipping it over? Haven't you ever seen two boys dig a hole in a back yard for hours at a time, working like any day laborers?

Haven't you ever seen a small boy or girl who has just learned to handle blocks put them laboriously in and out of a box a dozen or twenty times? All this is work.

So don't dismiss play as of no importance. It is a child's very life.

If you think at all about it, you know children actually need play. And if you think more deeply on the subject you can see some of the vital things it does for them as growing human beings. For instance, no child can play with toys, dolls, sand, slides, swings, tools, books, balls, blocks, without acquiring some of these important things: Industry, independence, control of his big muscles, deftness or skill [the use of his smaller muscles], growth of his imagination; sharpening of his sense of touch, hearing, sight, etc.]; ability to make, originate, create; and ability to get along with other children.

These are only some of the ways in which a child really grows—that is, develops—through play.

Play is not nonsense. Neither is it a waste of time. Providing for it is not waste of money—a belief that some people show by giving a child a whole new outfit of clothes for a birthday present because it's sensible—and omit the playthings.

Play is the necessary lifework of a child. Lack of it is the cause of much trouble with health and behavior.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

It was the first day of school, and the first grade teacher was having a little quiz in natural history to overcome the bashfulness of her pupils. After several questions about the various domestic animals, she said, "What is the skin of the cow used for?"

The answer, of course, was leather, but the pupils were dismayed at this question. Finally little Jimmy waved his hand and said, "I know, teacher! To hold the cow together!"
